Caution Concerning Forward Looking Statements:

This section contains important information about our forward-looking statements. Please also see our annual reports on Form 10-K and quarterly reports on Form 10-Q that we file with the SEC.

Caution Concerning Forward Looking Statements

Our public communications and SEC filings may contain "forward-looking statements" - that is, statements related to future, not past, events. In this context, forward-looking statements often address our expected future business and financial performance and financial condition, and often contain words such as "expect," "anticipate," "intend," "plan," "believe," "seek," "see," "will," and "would."

Forward-looking statements by their nature address matters that are, to different degrees, uncertainty and statements about potential business or asset dispositions. For us, particular uncertainties that could cause our actual results to be materially different than those expressed in our forward-looking statements.

FORWARD LOOKING STATEMENTS MADE IN GOOD FAITH

Mr. Jensen believes that the "Howey Test" is easily passed with Access-Power, Inc. The United States Supreme Court ruled a security defines:

"It is an investment of money
There is an expectation of profits from the investment
The investment of money is in a common enterprise
Any profit comes from the efforts of a promoter or third party"

A Worthless Security that a Market Maker is free to quote with an approved 211:

Access-Power, Inc. is very excited about the future.
