SELECTED NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
June 30, 2004

Note 1. Condensed Financial Statements:

The condensed balance sheet as of June 30, 2004, the statement of operations and cash flows for the periods ended June 30, 2004 and 2003 have been prepared by the Company, without audit. In the opinion of management, all adjustments (which include normal recurring adjustments and adjustments to revenues for compliance with the company's revenue recognition policy) necessary to present fairly the financial position, results of operations and changes in cash flows at June 30, 2004 and for all periods presented have been made.

Certain information and footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles have been condensed or omitted. It is suggested that these condensed financial statements be read in conjunction with the financial statements and notes thereto included in the Company's December 31, 2003 audited financial statements filed on form 10-KSB. The results of operations for the period ended June 30, 2004 are not necessarily indicative of the operating results for the full year.

Note 2. Revenue Recognition:

The Company derives revenues from the sale of systems, license and maintenance and services.

System sales: Revenue from systems that have been demonstrated to meet customer specifications during installation is recognized when the product has been installed, title and risk of loss have transferred to the customer and collection of the resulting receivable is probable.

System sales are accounted for as multiple-element arrangements. In transactions that include multiple products and/or services, the Company allocates the revenue to each element based on their relative fair value (or in the absence of fair value, the residual method) and recognizes the associated revenue when all revenue recognition criteria have been met for each element.

License and maintenance revenue: Software and maintenance revenue are recognized ratably over the contract period.

Service revenue: Service revenue is recognized after the services are performed and collection of the resulting receivable is probable.

Note 3. Customer Concentration: Seven customers comprised 95% of the Company's revenues for the six months ended June 30, 2004.

ITEM 2: MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Business Overview:

Table Trac, Inc.'s patented real-time management system product automates and monitors the operations of casino table games (blackjack, craps, etc.) The Table Trac(TM) system (patent number 5,957,776) is available for an installation and monthly license fee from the Company. The system is operating in 7 Midwest casinos. The Company's primary mission is to provide a high level of support for its customers systems in the field. Continued efforts to expand the Company's sales through marketing are ongoing. Development to expand the products offered, and expand the functionality of existing products have been ongoing. Management continues its belief that revenues from the development efforts on new product offerings will be realized before the end of 2004.

Results of Operations:

Revenues for the three months ended June 30 increased to $48,283 in 2004 from $37,771 in 2003. License and maintenance fees on the new systems installed in the first quarter accounted for the increase in revenues. Cost of sales for the three months ended June 30 increased in 2004 to $5,989 from $0 in 2003 as a result of increased software license costs to maintain existing systems in 2004. This cost to maintain existing systems is not a normal quarterly expense and should not be incurred again for several years. Operating expenses for the three months ended June 30 increased in 2004, to $109,891 from $43,484. The major changes were increased payroll, employee benefit and sales expenses in 2004 compared to 2003. Revenues for the six months ended June 30 increased to $322,540 in 2004 from $81,077 in 2003. Four system installations accounted for the majority of the increase along with increased license and maintenance fees. The most significant portion, $209,931 was from the addition of two new casino customers and systems sales with existing customers purchasing upgrades of Table Trac's latest product. Cost of sales for the six months ended June 30 increased in 2004 to $24,735 from $853 in 2003 as a result of systems sales and increased software license costs to maintain existing systems in 2004. Operating expenses in the six months ended June 30 increased in 2004, to $191,343 from $86,280. The major changes were increased payroll, employee benefit and sales expenses in 2004 compared to 2003. The net income per share was $0.028 for the first six months ended June 30, 2004, compared to a net loss per share of $0.0002 for the six months ended June 30, 2003.

Liquidity and Capital Resources:

There are no known trends, events or uncertainties that are likely to have a material impact on the short or long-term liquidity. The primary source of liquidity in both the short term and the long term will be sales. Management has been able to manage its expenses and cash flows for the swings in cash flows the Company has experienced so that monthly obligations are met by revenues from existing contracts. Management believes that the Company has adequate cash to meet its obligations and continue operations for both existing customer contracts and ongoing product development.
