Item 2.04 Triggering Events That Accelerate or Increase a Direct Financial Obligation or an Obligation under an Off-Balance Sheet Arrangement.

On May 1, 2012, we received a notice of default from a third party lender with respect to a Convertible Promissory Note, dated February 28, 2011, executed by the Company in favor of a third party lender. Pursuant to the notice of default, all amounts due under the Convertible Promissory Note were accelerated due to the Company’s failure to make required payments and the lender demanded full payment of the principal amount of $500,000 together with all accrued interest thereon. The notice states that if full payment is not made within five business days, the lender would proceed to enforce all of its rights and remedies under the Convertible Promissory Note.

On May 1, 2012, Spot Mobile Corp, our wholly-owned subsidiary (“SMC”) received a notice of default from a third party lender with respect to a Secured Promissory Note, dated September 16, 2011, executed by SMC in favor of the third party lender. The Secured Promissory Note evidences a revolving line of credit facility in the principal amount of up to $3,000,000 and is secured by a lien on all of the assets of SMC and a pledge of the capital stock of SMC. Pursuant to the notice of default, immediate payment of the outstanding principal amount of $1,345,000 together with all accrued interest thereon was demanded. The notice states that if full payment is not made immediately, the lender would proceed to enforce all of its rights and remedies under the Secured Promissory Note and related security documents.

On May 1, 2012, SMC received a notice of default from a third party with respect to an Assumption Agreement, dated October 29, 2010, pursuant to which SMC assumed indebtedness in the principal amount of $1,175,000 at an annual rate of interest of 10%. Such indebtedness is secured by a lien on all of the assets of SMC. Pursuant to the notice of default, immediate payment of the outstanding principal amount together with all accrued interest thereon was demanded. The notice states that if full payment is not made immediately, the creditor party would proceed to enforce all of its rights and remedies under the Assumption Agreement and related security documents.
