TECK COMINCO LIMITED RESPONDS TO INCO DIRECTORS CIRCULAR

Teck Cominco Offer the Only Compelling Choice for Inco Shareholders

Vancouver, B.C. Teck Cominco Limited responded today to the announcement by Inco Limited that Inco's Board of Directors has recommended to Inco shareholders that they not tender to Teck Cominco's takeover bid for Inco.

Over the past two weeks we have met with most of Inco's major shareholders to present our offer and have received enthusiastic support, said Don Lindsay, President and Chief Executive Officer, Teck Cominco. In addition to the cash they will receive, they are excited at the opportunity to participate in the new Teck Cominco.

Inco continues to trade with our premium reflected in its share price. When we announced our offer on May 8, 2006, it represented a premium of 27.8% and 20.1% to the 30-day volume weighted average price and closing price, respectively, of Inco's shares as at May 5, 2006, he added.

Despite continuing high commodity prices, shares of all base metal mining companies unaffected by takeover activity have declined quite significantly since our offer. In this environment, if Inco's share price had not been supported by our offer and it performed, for example, in line with the average of the three largest diversified mining companies, its share price would likely have declined by about 13% from its C$65.38 closing price on May 5.

We remain confident that our offer is a better deal for Inco shareholders than the proposed Inco/Falconbridge combination and is the only compelling choice to fully maximize shareholder value.

On May 8, 2006 Teck Cominco announced that it was making an offer to acquire all of the outstanding common shares of Inco on the basis of, at the election of each holder, Canadian C$78.50 in cash or 0.9776 of a Class B subordinate voting share of Teck Cominco and C$0.05 in cash for each common share of Inco subject, in each case, to pro ration. Teck Cominco's offer is conditional, among other things, on the support agreement between Inco and Falconbridge Limited dated October 10, 1005, as amended, having been lawfully terminated in accordance with its terms, and Inco's takeover bid for Falconbridge having been lawfully withdrawn or terminated without any shares of Falconbridge having been purchased pursuant to such takeover bid, in all cases without breach by Inco. Full particulars of the offer are set out in the offer and circular and related materials mailed to Inco shareholders in connection with the offer.

Highlights of Teck Cominco's offer include:

- Inco shareholders to receive C$78.50 per share in cash or shares based on the price of Teck Cominco Class B shares on May 5, 2006: C$28.00 in cash and 0.6293 of a Teck Cominco Class B share at full proportion;
- Offer represents a premium of 27.8% and 20.1% to the 30-day volume weighted average price and closing price, respectively, of Inco shares as at May 5, 2006;
- Transaction is expected to be accretive to Teck Cominco's earnings and cash flow per share;
- New Teck Cominco will be led by a well-respected, disciplined management team with an exemplary track record of creating and enhancing shareholder value;
- New Teck Cominco will have an extensive portfolio of long-life, low-cost assets, a well-sequenced growth profile and substantial capacity to fund growth internally.

Forward-Looking Statements

This press release contains certain forward-looking statements within the meaning of the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements can be identified by the use of words such as plans, expects or does not expect, is expected, budget, scheduled, estimates, forecasts, intends, anticipates or does not anticipate, or believes, or variation of such words and phrases or state that actions, events or results may, could, should, would, might or will be taken, occur or be achieved. Forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors which may cause the actual results, performance or achievements of Teck Cominco or Inco to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements include estimates, forecasts, and statements as to management's expectations concerning the company, including after its proposed acquisition of Inco, with respect to, among other things, the size and quality of the company's development projects, mineral reserves and mineral resources, future trends, plans, strategies, objectives and expectations, including with respect to future operations, products, services and projects for the company, the proposed integration of management of the company and Inco, progress in development of mineral properties, future production, capital and mine production costs, demand and market outlook for commodities, future commodity prices and treatment and refining charges, the application of the company's CESL technology in Inco's operations, timing for listing Teck Cominco's Class B subordinate voting shares on the NYSE, expected synergies and cost savings from the proposed acquisition of Inco, including the timing thereof, and the financial results, cash flows and operations of the company and Inco, including following the company's proposed acquisition of Inco. These forward-looking statements involve numerous assumptions, risks and uncertainties and actual results may vary materially.

These statements are based on a number of assumptions, including, among others, assumptions regarding general business and economic conditions, interest rates, the supply and demand for, deliveries of, and the level and volatility of prices of nickel, cobalt, platinum group metals, zinc, copper, coal and gold and other primary metals and minerals as well as oil, natural gas and petroleum products produced by Teck Cominco and Inco, the timing of the receipt of regulatory and governmental approvals for Teck Cominco's and Inco's development projects and other operations, the availability of financing for Teck Cominco's and Inco's development projects on reasonable terms, Teck Cominco's and Inco's respective costs of production and their respective production and productivity levels, as well as those of their competitors, power prices, market competition, the accuracy of Teck Cominco's and Inco's reserve estimates (including, with respect to size, grade and recoverability) and the geological, operational and price assumptions on which these are based, future commodity prices, production of commodities by the company, Inco and their respective competitors, the realization of synergies, transaction costs, and the future financial performance of the company and Inco. The foregoing list of assumptions is not exhaustive. Events or circumstances could cause actual results to differ materially.

Factors that may cause actual results to vary include, but are not limited to: the Teck Cominco Class B subordinate voting shares issued in connection with the proposed acquisition may have a market value lower than expected, the businesses of Teck Cominco and Inco may not be integrated successfully or such integration may be more difficult, time-consuming or costly than expected, the expected combination benefits and synergies and cost savings from the Teck Cominco/Inco transaction may not be fully realized or not realized within the expected time frame, the possible delay in the completion of the steps required to be taken for the eventual combination of the two companies, including the possibility that approvals or clearances required to be obtained from regulatory and other agencies and bodies will not be obtained in a timely manner, business and economic conditions in the principal markets for the companies' products, the supply, demand, and prices for metals to be produced, changes in commodity and power prices, changes in interest and currency exchange rates, inaccurate geological and metallurgical assumptions (including with respect to the size, grade and recoverability of mineral reserves and resources), unanticipated operational difficulties (including failure of plant, equipment or processes to operate in accordance with specifications or expectations, cost escalation, unavailability of materials and equipment, government action or delays in the receipt of government approvals, industrial disturbances or other job action, and unanticipated events related to health, safety and environmental matters), political risk, social unrest, changes in general economic conditions or conditions in the financial markets and other risk factors related to the mining and metals industry as detailed from time to time in Teck Cominco's and Inco's reports filed with the US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

Edgar Filing: INCO LTD - Form 425

Certain of these risks are described in more detail in the annual information form of the company and in its public filings with the SEC. The company does not assume the obligation to revise or update these forward-looking statements after the date of this document or to revise them to reflect the occurrence of future unanticipated events, except as may be required under applicable securities laws.
