Ken Donahue, Executive Vice President and Chief Administrative Officer, has advised the Company that he will retire effective April 30, 2017. He began his banking career in May 1970. His retirement was anticipated in the Company's five-year succession plan and his current duties will be assumed by other executive officers near his departure date. In planning for his retirement, the Company recently hired a Chief Risk Officer and Controller/CPA to ensure a smooth transition.

Mr. Donahue will provide services to the Company post-retirement, as needed, including assisting with new business opportunities, at the direction of the President and CEO, as a consultant.

Mr. Donahue has indicated his desire to sell some or all of his United Security Bancshares stock to help fund his retirement, indicating that those shares will most likely be purchased by insiders in private transactions.
