Aracruz, for the third straight year, chosen for Dow Jones Global Sustainability Index

(Barra do Riacho, September 10, 2007) - Aracruz Celulose (NYSE: ARA), for the third year in a row, has been included in the select rank of companies on the New York Stock Exchange's Dow Jones Sustainability Index (DJSI World) 2007/08 that highlights the best corporate sustainability practices in the world. Furthermore, Aracruz once again was the only forestry company selected out of 13 worldwide forestry companies considered this year. The index comprises 318 companies from 24 nations - seven Brazilian corporations are among them. The 2,500 main companies listed on the Dow Jones Index are considered for the DJSI, analyzed for their economic, environmental and social criteria.

To be once again the only forestry sector company on this list is a very important achievement for Aracruz, especially because the DJSI is one of the indexes of greatest credibility and one of the most complete in the world, said Aracruz's president and CEO, Carlos Aguiar.

Since it was created in 1999, the DJSI has become an important benchmark for foreign currency fund management companies. These institutions base their investment decisions on the DJSI performance criteria and offer diversified products to their customers, based on shares of companies that make up the DJSI, committed to social, environmental and cultural sustainability.

The Dow Jones Sustainability Index lists companies recognized for their corporate sustainability, which means they are capable of creating value for shareholders over the long-term. That is, the index takes into account not only their financial performances but also, and mainly, the quality of management, which must merge economic value with transparency, good corporate governance and social and environmental responsibility in order to achieve long-term sustainability.

Brazil has increased its participation in the global index, with the inclusion of one more institution, bringing the total to seven companies: Aracruz, Bradesco, Cemig, Itaú, Itaúsa, Petrobras and Usiminas
