NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS - (UNAUDITED)

(dollars in thousands)

NOTE A - BASIS OF FINANCIAL STATEMENT PRESENTATION

The accompanying unaudited interim consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Cornerstone Bancorp, Inc., its subsidiary Cornerstone Bank (the "Bank"), and the Bank's subsidiary Cornerstone Business Credit, Inc. ("CBC"), collectively the "Company". The interim consolidated financial statements have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for interim financial statements and the instructions to Form 10-QSB, and, accordingly, do not include all of the information and footnotes required by generally accepted accounting principles for a complete set of financial statements. While management believes that the disclosures presented are adequate so as not to make the information misleading, it is suggested that these interim consolidated financial statements be read in conjunction with the annual consolidated financial statements and notes included in the Form 10-KSB for the year ended December 31, 2004. The interim results of operations for the period ended March 31, 2005 are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the year ending December 31, 2005 or for any other interim period.

In the opinion of management, the accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements reflect all adjustments, consisting only of normal recurring accruals, necessary to present fairly the financial position, results of operations, changes in stockholders' equity and cash flows at the dates and for the periods presented. In preparing the interim consolidated financial statements, management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities as of the date of the statement of condition and revenues and expenses for the period. Actual results could differ significantly from those estimates as a result of changing conditions and future events. An estimate that is particularly critical and susceptible to significant near-term change is the allowance for loan losses.

Prior period amounts are reclassified, whenever necessary, to conform to the current period presentation.

NOTE B - EARNINGS PER SHARE

Basic earnings per share ("EPS") excludes dilution and is computed by dividing income available to common stockholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. For this purpose, unvested shares of restricted stock are not considered to be outstanding. Diluted EPS is computed in a similar manner, except that the weighted average number of common shares is increased (using the treasury stock method) by additional common shares that would have been outstanding if all potentially dilutive securities (such as stock options and unvested restricted stock awards) were exercised or vested during the period. For the three-month periods ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, the number of shares for diluted EPS exceeded the number of shares for basic EPS due to the dilutive effect of outstanding stock options and unvested restricted stock. For purposes of computing basic and diluted EPS, net income applicable to common stock equaled net income for these periods.

Table of ContentsNOTE C STOCK-BASED COMPENSATION

The Company accounts for stock-based compensation in accordance with Accounting Principles Board (APB) Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, and related interpretations. Accordingly, compensation expense is not recognized for fixed stock options if the exercise price of the option equals the fair value of the underlying stock at the grant date. The fair value of restricted stock awards, measured at the grant date, is recognized as unearned compensation (a component of stockholders' equity) and amortized to compensation expense over the vesting period.

Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation, encourages the use of a fair-value-based method of accounting for employee stock compensation plans, but permits the continued use of the intrinsic-value-based method of accounting prescribed by APB Opinion No. 25. Under SFAS No. 123, the grant-date fair value of options is recognized as compensation expense over the vesting period (if any). The Company has elected to continue to apply APB Opinion No. 25 and disclose the pro forma information required by SFAS No. 123. Had stock-based compensation expense been recognized in accordance with SFAS No. 123, the Company's net income and earnings per common share would have been adjusted to the following pro forma amounts:

Table of Contents

NOTE D COMPREHENSIVE INCOME (LOSS)

Comprehensive income (loss) includes net income and any changes in stockholders' equity from non-owner sources that are not recognized in the income statement (such as changes in net unrealized gains and losses on securities available for sale). Other comprehensive income (loss) reported in the statements of stockholders' equity for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004 represents the change during those periods in the after-tax net unrealized gain (loss) on securities available for sale.

NOTE E STANDBY LETTERS OF CREDIT

The Company had outstanding letters of credit of $1,216 at both March 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004. Substantially all of the Company's outstanding standby letters of credit are performance standby letters of credit within the scope of FASB Interpretation No. 45, Guarantors' Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others (FIN 45). These are irrevocable undertakings by the Company, as guarantor, to make payments in the event a specified third party fails to perform under a non-financial contractual obligation. Most of the Company's performance standby letters of credit arise in connection with lending relationships and have terms of one year or less. The maximum potential future payments the Company could be required to make equals the contract amount of the standby letters of credit referred to above. FIN 45 also requires the recognition, at fair value, of a liability by a guarantor at the inception of certain guarantees issued or modified after December 31, 2004. The Company's recognized liability for performance standby letters of credit was insignificant at March 31, 2005.

NOTE F RECENT ACCOUNTING STANDARDS

The Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued a revision of SFAS No. 123, Share-Based Payment (SFAS 123R), in December 2004, which requires an entity to recognize the grant-date fair-value of stock options and other equity-based compensation issued to employees in the income statement. The SFAS 123R requires both public and non-public entities to disclose information needed about the nature of the share-based payment transactions and the effects of those transactions on the financial statements. The SFAS 123R generally requires that an entity account for those transactions using the fair-value based method and eliminates an entity's ability to account for share-based compensation using the intrinsic value method of accounting in APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, which was permitted under SFAS No. 123, as originally issued. The SFAS 123R is effective, for the Company, as of the beginning of the first interim or annual reporting period that begins after December 15, 2005. The Company has not applied SFAS No. 123 as of March 31, 2005.

In December 2003, the FASB issued Interpretation No. 46 (revised), Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities (FIN 46R), which addresses how a business enterprise should evaluate whether it has a controlling financial interest in an entity through means other than voting rights and, accordingly, should consolidate the variable interest entity (VIE). FIN 46R replaces FASB Interpretation No. 46 that was issued in January 2003. As a public company that is a small business issuer, as defined in applicable Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) regulations, the Company was required to apply FIN 46R to VIEs no later than the end of the first reporting period ending after December 15, 2004. For any VIEs that must be consolidated under FIN 46R that were created before January 1, 2004, the assets, liabilities and noncontrolling interest of the VIE initially would be measured at their carrying amounts, and any difference between the net amount added to the balance sheet and any previously recognized interest would be recorded as the cumulative effect of an accounting change. If determining the carrying amounts is not practicable, fair value at the date FIN 46R first applies may be used to measure the assets, liabilities and noncontrolling interest of the VIE. The Company currently holds no interests in VIEs and, accordingly, FIN 46R does not have a significant effect on its consolidated financial statements.

NOTE G SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

On April 12, 2005, Cornerstone Bancorp, Inc. entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger dated as of April 12, 2005 (the Merger Agreement) by and among CBI, New Alliance Bancshares, Inc. (NAL) and their wholly-owned subsidiaries, Cornerstone Bank and New Alliance Bank. Subject to the terms of the Merger Agreement, Cornerstone Bancorp, Inc., will merge with and into NAL (the Merger) and immediately thereafter, Cornerstone Bank will merge with and into New Alliance Bank.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

The statements contained in this report that are not historical are forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Examples of such forward-looking statements include, without limitation, statements regarding expectations for earnings, credit quality, and other financial and business matters. When used in this report, the words anticipate, plan, believe, estimate, expect and similar expressions as they relate to the Company or its management are intended to identify forward-looking statements. All forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ materially from those discussed in, or implied by, the forward-looking statements as a result of certain factors, including but not limited to, competitive pressures on loan and deposit product pricing; other actions of competitors; changes in economic conditions; technological changes; the extent and timing of actions of the Federal Reserve Board, including changes in monetary policies and interest rates; customer deposit disintermediation; changes in customers' acceptance of the Bank's products and services; and the extent and timing of legislative and regulatory actions and reforms.

The forward-looking statements contained in this report speak only as of the date on which such statements are made.

Table of ContentsFINANCIAL CONDITION*General

Total assets increased to $232,789 at March 31, 2005 from $211,802 at December 31, 2004, an increase of $20,987 (or 10%). The increase in assets primarily relates to an increase in total cash and cash equivalents as well as net loans. This was partially offset by a decrease in total securities. The increase in cash and cash equivalents of $17,623 was primarily attributable to an increase in deposits of $16,099 and borrowings of $5,000 from the Federal Home Loan Bank. This was partially offset by net loan originations of $5,754.

Loans

The loan portfolio (excluding loans held for sale) increased to $138,593 at March 31, 2005 from $132,833 at December 31, 2004, an increase of $5,760 (or 4%). The increase in total loans primarily resulted from an increase in construction loans as well as in non-residential, commercial and consumer and other loans. The increase was partially offset by a decrease in residential loans. The increase in construction loans primarily reflects new loan originations and customer advances and the increase in non-residential, commercial, and consumer and other loans were primarily due to the origination of new loans during the period ended March 31, 2005. The decrease in residential loans was primarily due to payoff activity exceeding new loan originations for the period ended March 31, 2005. Major classifications of loans at March 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004 were as follows:

			Dollar	Percent
	March 31, 2005	December 31, 2004	Change	Change
Loans secured by real estate:

Total loans, net	$ 136,354	$ 130,617	$ 5,737	4%

Small Business Administration (SBA) loans held for sale at March 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004 were $1,403 and $1,994, respectively.

Non-performing Loans and the Allowance for Loan Losses

Edgar Filing: CORNERSTONE BANCORP INC - Form 10QSB

It is the Bank's policy to manage its loan portfolio to facilitate early recognition of problem loans. The Bank commences internal collection efforts once a loan payment is more than 15 days past due. The Bank's data processing system generates delinquency reports on all of the Bank's loans weekly, and management reviews the loan portfolio to determine if past due loans should be placed on non-accrual status. Unless the customer is working with the Bank toward repayment, once a loan payment is 90 days past due, the Bank generally initiates appropriate collection or legal action.

Table of Contents

The following table summarizes, by type of loan, the recorded investment in non-performing loans at March 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004. Amounts are shown for (i) loans that were past due 90 days or more, segregated between those on non-accrual status and those that were still accruing interest, and (ii) loans that were current or past due less than 90 days for which interest payments were being applied to reduce principal balances.

Loan charge-offs	(31)	(5)
Recoveries		468
Balance at end of period	$ 2,239	$ 2,339

During the quarter ended March 31, 2004, the Bank recovered $690, of which $460 was a recovery of previously charged-off principal on loans to one borrower, and $216 was a recovery of interest that was subsequently applied to income. The ratios of the allowance for loan losses to total loans and to non-performing loans were 1.61% and 261% respectively, at March 31, 2005, compared to 1.66% and 242%, respectively, at December 31, 2004.

Securities

Total securities decreased to $48,553 at March 31, 2005 from $50,834 at December 31, 2004, a decrease of $2,281 (or 4%). The decrease in the securities portfolio was primarily due to maturities in the available for sale and held to maturity portfolios during the period ended March 31, 2005.

Deposits

Deposits are the primary source of funds for the Company. Deposits are obtained from individuals, partnerships, small and medium size businesses and professionals in the Company's market area. The Company does not accept brokered deposits.

The following table indicates the composition of deposits at the dates indicated.

			Dollar	Percent
	March 31, 2005	December 31, 2004	Change	Change
Demand (non-interest bearing)	$ 42,272	$ 42,225	$ 47	%

Total deposits	$ 193,226	$ 177,127	$ 16,099	9%

The increase in deposits was primarily related to the increase of approximately $11,384 (or 29%) in money market demand and NOW accounts and an increase of $9,022 (or 17%) in time deposits. This was partially offset by a decrease in regular, club and preferred rate savings of $4,354 (or 10%). The increase in NOW accounts was primarily attributable to the receipt of three wires on March 31, 2005 totaling $8,400. Substantially all of the funds received on March 31, 2005 were wired out on the following day. The remaining increase in money market demand and NOW accounts was related to activity for one customer's account. The decrease in regular, club and money market savings was due to a decline in customer balances. The increase in time deposits was primarily attributable to increases of $5,349 in 12-17 month certificates, $2,205 in 36-47 month time deposits, $1,811 in 18-23 month time deposits and $1,608 in 24-30 month time deposits. This was partially offset by decreases of $843 in 181-364 day time deposits, $598 in 91-180 day time deposits and $441 in 48-59 month time deposits. Certificates of deposit in denominations of $100 or more were $15,452 at March 31, 2005 as compared to $12,741 at December 31, 2004, an increase of $2,711 (or 21%).

Liquidity and Capital Resources

At March 31, 2005, total short-term investments, which are made up of federal funds sold and securities maturing or callable in one year or less, totaled $55,583. The primary liquidity of the Company is measured by the ratio of net cash, short-term investments and other liquidity sources to deposits and short-term liabilities. The primary liquidity ratio at March 31, 2005 was 27.70%, compared to 20.04% at December 31, 2004. The Bank also calculates a secondary liquidity ratio which contemplates loan sales and loan payoffs anticipated to occur within one year and the maturity of available and held to maturity securities beyond one year. The Bank's secondary liquidity ratio at March 31, 2005 was 39.99%, compared to 33.38% at December 31, 2004. The increase in primary and secondary liquidity ratios in 2005 is primarily related to the increase in cash and cash equivalents at March 31, 2005 as compared to December 31, 2004. The Company's internal guideline is to generally maintain a primary liquidity ratio of 10 to 15% and a secondary liquidity ratio of 20% or more, although a higher primary ratio may be maintained from time to time depending on cash flow patterns and loan demand.

Net cash provided by operating activities was $1,331 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 as compared to $266 used in operating activities for the three months ended March 31, 2004, primarily due to a decline in cash used for the origination of mortgage loans and SBA loans held-for-sale. This was partially offset by a decline in net income for the first three months of 2005 compared to the same period last year. Compared to the first three months of 2004, cash used in investing activities increased $6,666 primarily due to fewer purchases in the held-to-maturity investment portfolio in the first three months of 2005. The increase in net cash provided by financing activities of $29,135 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 primarily resulted from an increase in cash provided by customers' deposits and to a lesser extent, borrowings from the Federal Home Loan Bank of Boston. Cash and cash equivalents increased $17,623 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 compared to a decrease of $19,775 for the three months ended March 31, 2004.

At March 31, 2005, the Company had outstanding loan commitments under unused lines of credit of $20,387 and outstanding letters of credit of $1,216.

At March 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004, the Company's consolidated leverage capital ratio was 10.9% and 10.2%, respectively. At March 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004, the Company's consolidated Tier 1 risk-based capital ratio was 14% and 14.2%, respectively. The Company's consolidated total risk-based capital ratio at March 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004 was 15.3% and 15.5%, respectively. The Bank's regulatory capital ratios at these dates were substantially the same as the consolidated ratios, and the Bank was classified as a well-capitalized institution for regulatory purposes.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

General

The Company's results of operations depend primarily on its net interest income, which is the difference between the interest income on earning assets, such as loans and securities, and the interest expense paid on deposits and borrowings. Results of operations are also affected by non-interest income and expense, the provision for loan losses and income tax expense. Non-interest income includes banking service fees and charges, income on bank-owned life insurance, and gains and losses on sales of securities available for sale and loans held for sale. The Company's non-interest expense consists primarily of salaries and employee benefits, occupancy and equipment expenses, data processing expenses and professional fees. Results of operations are significantly affected by general economic and competitive conditions, particularly changes in market interest rates, government policies and actions of regulatory authorities.

Critical Accounting Policies

In the course of the Company's normal business activity, management must select and apply many accounting policies and methodologies that lead to the financial results presented in the consolidated financial statements of the Company. Some of these policies are more critical than others. Management considers the accounting policy relating to the allowance for loan losses to be a critical accounting policy because of the uncertainty and subjectivity inherent in estimating the levels of allowance needed to cover probable credit losses within the loan portfolio and the material effect that these estimates can have on the Company's results of operations. While management uses the best available information to determine the allowance for loan losses, future adjustments to the allowance may be necessary based on a variety of factors, including changes in economic and real estate market conditions, particularly in Southwestern Fairfield County, Connecticut.

All accounting policies are important and readers of this report should review these policies, as included in Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-KSB, to gain a greater understanding of how the Company's financial performance is reported.

Comparative Analysis of Operating Results for the Three Months Ended March 31, 2005 and March 31, 2004

Net Income. Net income was $372 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 compared to $1,055 for the three months ended March 31, 2004, a decrease of $683 (or 65%). Diluted earnings per common share were $0.28 and 0.82 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively, based on weighted average common shares of 1,309,533 and 1,281,380, respectively. The annualized return on average common stockholders' equity was 6.57% and 20.43% for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively. The annualized return on average assets was 0.71% for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 1.97% for the three months ended March 31, 2004.

Table of Contents

The lower net income for the three months ended March 31, 2005 was primarily due to a one-time recovery of $460 on a previously charged off loan during the three-month period ended March 31, 2004, as well as $495 in one time life insurance proceeds received during the three-month period ended March 31, 2004. This was partially offset by the increases in income from loans and investments.

Net Interest Income. Net interest income is the difference between the interest income the Company earns on its loans, securities and other earning assets, and the interest cost of deposits and other interest-bearing liabilities necessary to fund these earning assets. It is the primary component of the Company's earnings.

Net interest income was $2,420 for the three months ended March 31, 2005, an increase of $314 (or 15%) from the $2,106 reported for the three months ended March 31, 2004. The average yield on interest-earning assets increased 52 basis points for the quarter ended March 31, 2005 compared to March 31, 2004, while the average rate paid on interest-bearing liabilities decreased 7 basis points. The higher net interest income for the three months ended March 31, 2005 was primarily due to the growth in the loan portfolio. Total interest income increased as earning assets were shifted into higher yielding loans and investment securities and out of lower yielding federal funds during 2004. These changes resulted in a 62 basis point increase in the net interest margin to 4.88% for the quarter ended March 31, 2005 compared to 4.26% for the quarter ended March 31, 2004.

Interest Income. Average earning assets for the three months ended March 31, 2005 were $200,993 compared to $199,521 for the three months ended March 31, 2004, an increase of $1,472 (or 1%). Total interest income, which is a function of the volume of interest-earning assets and their related rates, was $3,017 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 compared to $2,753 for the three months ended March 31, 2004, representing an increase of $264 (or 10%).

Loans represent the largest component of interest-earning assets. Interest income on loans was $2,553 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 compared to $2,338 for the three months ended March 31, 2004, an increase of $215 (or 9%). Average loans outstanding in the three months ended March 31, 2005 were $137,425 compared to $124,660 during the three months ended March 31, 2004, an increase of $12,765 (or 10%). The average yield on loans declined 1 basis point to 7.53% at March 31, 2005 from 7.54% at March 31, 2004. During the quarter ended March 31, 2004, $216 in interest income on a previously charged off loan attributed to the higher than normal average yield on loans for the period.

Average investments in securities and federal funds sold were $63,568 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 compared to $74,861 for the three months ended March 31, 2004, a decrease of $11,293 (or 15%). Related income increased to $464 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 from $415 for the three months ended March 31, 2004, an increase of $49 (or 12%). Average investments in securities, not including federal funds sold, increased by $21,501 (or 65%) during the three months ended March 31, 2005. Average federal funds sold decreased by $32,794 (or 79%). The increase in the average volume of securities from year to year contributed to an increase in related income which was partially offset by a decline in the volume and income related to federal funds sold.

Table of Contents

Interest Expense. Interest expense was $597 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 compared to $647 for the three months ended March 31, 2004, a decrease of $50 (or 8%). Interest expense is a function of the volume of interest-bearing liabilities and their related rates. Average interest-bearing liabilities during the three months ended March 31, 2005 were $147,398 compared to $152,133 during the three months ended March 31, 2004, a decrease of $4,735 or (3%). The average rate paid on interest-bearing liabilities declined 7 basis points to 1.64% for the quarter ended March 31, 2005 compared to 1.71% for the quarter ended March 31, 2004.

Provision for Loan Losses. The periodic provision for loan losses represents the amount necessary to adjust the allowance for loan losses to management's estimate of probable credit losses inherent in the existing loan portfolio at the reporting date. Management's determination of the allowance for loan losses is based on the results of continuing reviews of individual loans and borrower relationships, particularly in the commercial and commercial real estate loan portfolios. A review of the quality of the loan portfolio is conducted internally by management on a quarterly basis, using a consistently-applied methodology, and the results are presented to the Board of Directors for approval. The evaluation covers individual borrowers whose aggregate loans are greater than $100, as well as all adversely-classified loans. Management also considers factors such as the borrower's financial condition, historical and expected ability to make loan payments and underlying collateral values. The determination of the allowance for loan losses also considers the level of past due loans, the Bank's historical loan loss experience, changes in loan portfolio mix, geographic and borrower concentrations and current economic conditions. The allowance for loan losses is also reduced by charge-offs and increased by recoveries. Management's evaluation of the allowance for loan losses indicated that the necessary provision for loan losses was $54 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and ($511) for the three months ended March 31, 2004. Approximately $460 in principal was recovered during the quarter ending March 31, 2004 on loans to one borrower which were charged-off in December 2000.

Non-interest Income. Non-interest income was $310 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 compared to $983 for the three months ended March 31, 2004, a decrease of $673 (or 68%). This decrease was primarily attributable to the net proceeds of $495 received by the Bank on a key man life insurance policy on the former Vice Chairman during the period ended March 31, 2004. The decline in non-interest income was also attributable to a decrease of $192 in the net gain on sale of loans and loan servicing for the three months ended March 31, 2005 due to the reduced activity in the quarter ended December 31, 2004 as compared to March 31, 2004 and to a lesser extent the origination and sale of mortgage loans.

Non-interest Expense. Total non-interest expense was $2,062 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and $2,165 for the three months ended March 31, 2004, a decrease of $103 (or 5%). The decrease in salaries and employee benefits primarily relates to an increase of $216 in benefit accruals for the period ending March 31, 2004 for the retirement and medical benefits of the former Vice Chairman who passed away on January 8, 2004.

Table of Contents

The following table summarizes the dollar amounts for each category of non-interest expense, and the dollar and percent changes:

Category	Three months Ended		Increase (Decrease)
	March 31,		2005 vs 2004

Total non-interest expense	$ 2,062	$ 2,165	$ (103)	(5)%

The following table summarizes dollar amounts for each category of non-interest expense as a percentage of total operating income (interest income plus non-interest income). Operating income decreased by $409 (or 11%) in the first quarter of 2005 compared to the same period in 2004.

Category	Three months Ended
	March 31,
	2005	2004
Salaries and employee benefits	35.98%	36.14%
Occupancy	6.07	5.07

Advertising and promotion	1.47	1.20
Other	7.48	6.42
Total non-interest expense	61.98%	57.95%

Income Taxes. The provision for income taxes decreased to $242 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 from $380 for the three months ended March 31, 2004, a decrease of $138 or (36%), primarily due to lower income before income tax expense.

Item 3. Controls and Procedures.

An evaluation of the effectiveness of the design and operation of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures as of March 31, 2005 was conducted under the supervision and with the participation of the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer. Based on this evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer have concluded that the Company's disclosure controls and procedures were adequate and designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed by the Company in this report is recorded, processed, summarized and reported in a timely manner, and that such information is accumulated and communicated to management, including the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.
