Share-based compensation arrangements include stock options, restricted stock awards, performance-based awards, stock appreciation rights and employee stock purchase plans. Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 123R, Share-Based Payment (SFAS No. 123R) requires all share-based payments to employees to be valued using a fair value method on the date of grant and to be expensed based on that fair value over the applicable vesting period. The Company adopted SFAS No. 123R as of January 1, 2006. As of September 30, 2007, the Company had not issued any new options since SFAS No. 123R became effective.

The Company has stock option plans which have 476,086 shares of common stock reserved for grants to key employees and directors. Options to purchase 250,056 shares of common stock from these plans are outstanding at September 30, 2007. The common stock reserved for grants and common stock outstanding have been adjusted for the 5 for 4 stock split in the form of a dividend paid on October 1, 2007. The exercise price of each option equals the market price of the Company's common stock on the date of the grant, and an option's maximum term is ten years.

Table of Contents

Stock option plan activity for the nine months ended September 30, 2007 is summarized below:

		Weighted

Options exercisable, September 30	250,056	$ 18.43	3.90	$ 834,427

The aggregate intrinsic value of a stock option in the table above represents the total pre-tax intrinsic value (the amount by which the current market value of the underlying stock exceeds the exercise price of the option) that would have been received by the option holders had all option holders exercised their options on September 30, 2007. This amount changes based on changes in the market value of the Company's stock.

The total proceeds of options exercised during the nine months ended September 30, 2007 was $345 thousand. The intrinsic value for options exercised during the nine months ended September 30, 2007 was $327 thousand.

As of September 30, 2007, there was no unrecognized compensation expense because all outstanding options were vested.

SFAS No. 123R requires the benefits of tax deductions in excess of grant-date fair value to be reported as a financing cash flow. The Company had a $29 thousand tax benefit deduction from the exercise of stock options in the first nine months of 2007.

Note 6. Pension Plan

The Company provides pension benefits for eligible participants through a non-contributory defined benefits pension plan. The plan was frozen effective September 30, 2006; therefore no additional participants will be added to the plan. The components of net periodic pension cost are as follows:

Note 7. Earnings per Share

Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per share is computed using the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period, including the effect of dilutive potential common shares attributable to outstanding stock options.

Potential common shares outstanding attributable to stock options of 146 thousand were not included in the diluted earnings per share calculation because they were antidilutive. The number of shares has been adjusted for the 5 for 4 stock split in the form of a stock dividend paid October 1, 2007.

Note 8. Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In September 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued SFAS No. 157, Fair Value Measurements (SFAS No. 157). SFAS No. 157 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value in generally accepted accounting principles, and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. SFAS 157 does not require any new fair value measurements but may change current practice for some entities. This Statement is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007 and interim periods within those years. The Company does not expect the implementation of SFAS 157 to have a material impact on its consolidated financial statements.

In February 2007, the FASB issued SFAS No. 159, The Fair Value Option for Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities (SFAS 159). This Statement permits entities to choose to measure many financial instruments and certain other items at fair value. The objective of this Statement is to improve financial reporting by providing entities with the opportunity to mitigate volatility in reported earnings caused by measuring related assets and liabilities differently without having to apply complex hedge accounting provisions. The fair value option established by this Statement permits all entities to choose to measure eligible items at fair value at specified election dates. A business entity shall report unrealized gains and losses on items for which the fair value option has been elected in earnings at each subsequent reporting date. The fair value option may be applied instrument by instrument and is irrevocable. SFAS No. 159 is effective as of the beginning of an entity's first fiscal year that begins after November 15, 2007. The Company is in the process of evaluating the impact SFAS No. 159 may have on its consolidated financial statements.

Provision for Loan Losses

The provision for loan losses is a charge against earnings necessary to maintain the allowance for loan losses at a level consistent with management's evaluation of the portfolio.

The provision for loan losses was $700 thousand for the first nine months of 2007, and $900 thousand in the comparable period in 2006. Loans charged off (net of recoveries) in the first nine months of 2007 were $372 thousand lower than in the first nine months of 2006. On an annualized basis, net loan charge-offs were 0.06% of total loans for the first nine months of 2007 compared with 0.13% for the same period in 2006.

On September 30, 2007, nonperforming assets totaled $2.5 million compared with $1.4 million on September 30, 2006. The September 2007 total consisted of $1.3 million in restructured debt, $735 thousand in loans still accruing interest but past due 90 days or more, $282 thousand in nonaccrual loans, and $165 thousand in a former branch site listed for sale. The September 2006 total consisted of $1.1 million in loans still accruing interest but past due 90 days or more, $158 thousand in nonaccrual loans and $165 thousand in a former branch site listed for sale. Although nonperforming assets as of September 30, 2007 were approximately $1.1 million higher than the same period in 2006, $1.3 million of this amount is due to restructured debt, which is current and paying as agreed.

The allowance for loan losses on September 30, 2007 was $5.1 million, compared with $4.6 million on September 30, 2006. As of September 30, 2007 the allowance for loan losses represented a multiple of 2.04 times nonperforming assets and 2.18 times nonperforming loans. Nonperforming loans includes nonaccrual loans, loans still accruing interest but past due 90 days or more and restructured loans. The allowance for loan losses was 0.87% and 0.81% of total loans on September 30, 2007 and 2006, respectively.

Noninterest Income

For the third quarter of 2007, noninterest income increased $322 thousand, or 11.88%, over the same period in 2006. The majority of the increase in noninterest income is attributed to fiduciary income and other service charges, commissions and fees. $114 thousand of the growth in noninterest income is attributed to income from fiduciary activities as a result of a fee increase, growth in new business and market value growth. Income from other service charges, commissions and fees was $147 thousand higher in the third quarter 2007 than in the same period of 2006. The majority of the $147 thousand in growth in other service charges, commissions and fees is related to debit card income.

For the nine months ending September 30, 2007, noninterest income increased $722 thousand or 8.47% over the same period in 2006. The majority of the increase in income is from fiduciary activities, service charges on deposit accounts and other operating income. Fee increases and growth in new business have positively affected fiduciary income. $142 thousand of the increase in service charges on deposit accounts is related to lower charge offs of nonsufficient funds charges assessed on demand deposit accounts. Other operating income increased due to increases in mortgage brokerage income.

Noninterest Expenses

For the third quarter of 2007, noninterest expenses increased only $296 thousand, or 4.70%, over the third quarter of 2006. Salaries and employee benefits increased by $152 thousand, or 3.97%, as a result of normal yearly salary increases and an increase of 6 in full time equivalent positions.

Occupancy expenses increased only $67 thousand, or 7.76%. The Company has not opened any new facilities since February 2006 and has been able to control expenses in this area. The Company plans to open an additional branch in the Virginia Beach area in the fourth quarter of this year and expects occupancy costs to rise as a result.

For the nine months ending September 30, 2007, noninterest expense was $709 thousand or 3.78% higher than the same period in 2006.

Management is not aware of any market or institutional trends, events or uncertainties that are expected to have a material effect on the liquidity, capital resources or operations of the Company. Nor is management aware of any current recommendations by regulatory authorities that would have a material effect on liquidity, capital resources or operations. The Company's internal sources of such liquidity are deposits, loan and investment repayments and securities available for sale. The Company's primary external source of liquidity is advances from the FHLB.

As a result of the Company's management of liquid assets, availability of borrowed funds and the ability to generate liquidity through liability funding, management believes that the Company maintains overall liquidity sufficient to satisfy its depositors' requirements and to meet its customers' future borrowing needs.

Contractual Obligations

In the normal course of business there are various outstanding contractual obligations of the Company that will require future cash outflows. In addition, there are commitments and contingent liabilities, such as commitments to extend credit, which may or may not require cash outflows.

As of September 30, 2007, there have been no material changes outside the ordinary course of business in the Company's contractual obligations disclosed in the Company's annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006.

The Company intends to open one of these future branch sites by the end of 2007 and the other site by the end of 2008. Funds will be used to renovate or construct branches at these locations.

In August 2007, the Company purchased one of its leased branches in Hampton. The purchase price was $740 thousand, and the Company purchased the property with cash. The Company plans to renovate this branch in 2008.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk.

An important element of earnings performance and the maintenance of sufficient liquidity is proper management of the interest sensitivity gap and liquidity gap. The interest sensitivity gap is the difference between interest sensitive assets and interest sensitive liabilities in a specific time interval. This gap can be managed by repricing assets or liabilities, which are variable rate instruments, by replacing an asset or liability at maturity or by adjusting the interest rate during the life of the asset or liability. Matching the amounts of assets and liabilities maturing in the same time interval helps to hedge interest rate risk and to minimize the impact of rising or falling interest rates on net interest income.

The Company determines the overall magnitude of interest sensitivity risk and then formulates policies governing asset generating and pricing, funding sources and pricing, and off-balance sheet commitments. These decisions are based on management's expectations regarding future interest rate movements, the state of the national and regional economy, and other financial and business risk factors. The Company uses computer simulations to measure the effect of various interest rate scenarios on net interest income. This modeling reflects interest rate changes and the related impact on net interest income and net income over specified time horizons.

Based on scheduled maturities only, the Company was liability sensitive as of September 30, 2007. It should be noted, however, that non-maturing deposit liabilities totaling $190.0 million, which consist of interest checking, money market, and savings accounts, are less interest sensitive than other market driven deposits. In a rising rate environment, changes in these deposit rates have historically lagged behind the changes in earning asset rates, thus mitigating the impact from the liability sensitivity position. The asset/liability model allows the Company to reflect the fact that non-maturing deposits are less rate sensitive than other deposits by using a decay rate. The decay rate is a type of artificial maturity that simulates maturities for non-maturing deposits over the number of months that more closely reflects historic data. Using the decay rate, the model reveals that the Company is asset sensitive.

When the Company is asset sensitive, net interest income should improve if interest rates rise since assets will reprice faster than liabilities. Conversely, if interest rates fall, net interest income should decline, depending on the optionality (prepayment speeds) of the assets. When the Company is liability sensitive, net interest income should fall if rates rise and rise if rates fall.

The most likely scenario represents the rate environment as management forecasts it to occur. Management uses a static test to measure the effects of changes in interest rates on net interest income. This test assumes that management takes no steps to adjust the balance sheet to respond to the shock by repricing assets/liabilities, as discussed in the first paragraph of this section.

Under the rate environment forecasted by management, rate shocks in 100 basis point increments are applied to see the impact on the Company's earnings at September 30, 2007. The rate shock model reveals that a 100 basis point decrease in rates would cause an approximately 2.62% decrease in net income and a 200 basis point decrease in rates would cause an approximately 5.92% decrease in net income. The rate shock model reveals that a 100 basis point rise in rates would cause an approximately 2.88% increase in net income and that a 200 basis point rise in rates would cause an approximately 4.88% increase in net income.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures.

The Company maintains a system of disclosure controls and procedures that is designed to ensure that material information is accumulated and communicated to management, including the Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate to allow timely decisions to be made regarding required disclosure. As required, management, with the participation of the Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, evaluated the effectiveness of the design and operation of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures as of the end of the period covered by this report. Based on this evaluation, the Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer concluded that the Company's disclosure controls and procedures were operating effectively to ensure that information required to be disclosed by the Company in reports that it files or submits under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, is recorded, processed, summarized, and reported within the time periods specified in the rules and forms of the SEC.

The Company's management is also responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. No changes in the Company's internal control over financial reporting occurred during the fiscal quarter ended September 30, 2007 that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's internal control over financial reporting.

The Company's management, including the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, does not expect that the Company's disclosure controls and procedures or the Company's internal controls will prevent all error and fraud. A control system, no matter how well conceived and operated, provides reasonable, not absolute, assurance that the objectives of the control system are met. The design of a control system reflects resource constraints and the benefits of controls must be considered relative to their costs. Because there are inherent limitations in all control systems, no evaluation of controls can provide absolute assurance that all control issues and instances of fraud, if any, within the Company have been or will be detected. These inherent limitations include the realities that judgments in decision-making can be faulty and that breakdowns can occur because of simple error or mistake. Controls can be circumvented by the individual acts of some persons, by collusion of two or more people, or by management override of the control. The design of any system of controls is based in part upon certain assumptions about the likelihood of future events. There can be no assurance that any design will succeed in achieving its stated goals under all future conditions; over time, controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or deterioration in the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures. Because of the inherent limitations in a cost-effective control system, misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected.
