CSI SIGNS AGREEMENT WITH MICROSOFT

EASLEY, SC (MARKET WIRE) December 15, 2009 CSI Technology Outfitters (OTCBB: CSWI) (Computer Software Innovations, Inc.) announced today an agreement with Microsoft (NASDAQ: MSFT) to include Microsoft Live@edu education services as part of its CSI@K12 solution, which will deliver a groundbreaking, enterprise-class email and collaboration solution for K-12 educational institutions. CSI Technology Outfitters CEO, Nancy Hedrick, and Kirk Gregersen, Senior Director at Microsoft announced the agreement, outlining a shared vision of robust, and regulatory compliant, enterprise-class email and collaboration offering for teachers, administrators, students and parents throughout the United States.

Under the terms of the agreement, CSI will be delivering a next generation, instructional communications management solution that addresses the key needs and requirements of the K-12 market. This new solution is powered by the Live@edu Services and SharePoint Platform, which provide an enterprise-class engine for CSI@K12 and leverages CSI's deep experience and identity management products already available in the K-12 market. The CSI@K12 offering will be eligible for E-Rate reimbursement. The E-Rate program provides discounts to assist most schools and libraries in the United States (and U.S. territories) to obtain affordable telecommunications and Internet access.

Web based technologies are increasingly being used as a tool to enhance the education process. Teacher to student communication, group communication with and among students and parents, as well as delivering information in a broad-based, rapid fashion are all being enabled. This adoption of technology creates new and unique challenges for school systems, whose needs have evolved to be on par with other enterprise-customers for safe, secure, easily managed and regulatory-compliant environments. Limited school budgets and IT resources add to these challenges.

School districts today are working to deliver highly collaborative learning environments, said Hedrick. CSI@K12 will not only help enable those environments, but give the user community an infrastructure that is available when they need it, as they need it, provide the protections and security that learners require, and enable teachers, students, and parents to enhance the complete learning experience.

Microsoft Live@edu services provides schools a complete set of communication and collaboration services to connect students, educators and alumni while also giving our partners the ability to build custom solutions to meet the specific needs and requirements of schools, Gregersen added. The CSI@K12 solution is a prime example as it further extends the ability for schools to manage the learning experience securely and effectively.

This announcement builds on the existing work both CSI and Microsoft are doing by optimizing access to enterprise class e-mail and collaboration tools. In addition to the capabilities of email and collaboration tools such as personalized email, full featured calendar services, task and contact management, anywhere access via the worldwide web, 10GB Inbox, collaborative workspaces, and integration with Microsoft Office provided by Live@edu services, CSI@K12 adds a number of important features including:

Meeting all regulatory compliance for CIPA/COPPA/FERPA

Eligible for E-Rate reimbursement

Inbox archiving

Flesh tone filtering

Auditable end user training for safe adoption and use

Simplified control and management facilities that limit needs for IT expertise
