NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(UNAUDITED)

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Presentation of Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements - In the opinion of Praxair, Inc. (Praxair) management, the accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements include all adjustments necessary for a fair presentation of the results for the interim periods presented and such adjustments are of a normal recurring nature. The accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the notes to the consolidated financial statements of Praxair, Inc. and subsidiaries in Praxair's 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K. There have been no material changes to the company's significant accounting policies during 2010.

Accounting Standards Implemented in 2010

Disclosures about Fair Value Measurements - The standard added new requirements for disclosures about transfers into and out of Levels 1 and 2 and clarified existing fair value disclosures about the level of disaggregation and about inputs and valuation techniques used to measure fair value. The portion of this standard related to these items was effective for Praxair in 2010 and its adoption did not have a significant impact on the condensed consolidated financial statements. In addition, the standard added requirements for separate disclosures about the activity relating to Level 3 fair value measurements effective for Praxair on January 1, 2011. Praxair does not expect this requirement to have a significant impact on the condensed consolidated financial statements.

The following standards were effective for Praxair in 2010 and their adoption did not have a significant impact on the condensed consolidated financial statements. Refer to Note 1 to the consolidated financial statements of Praxair's 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K for a summary of these standards:

Accounting for Transfers of Financial Assets, and Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities.

Accounting Standards to Be Implemented

Disclosures about the Credit Quality of Financing Receivables and the Allowance for Credit Losses - This standard requires additional disclosures about financing receivables including rollforward schedules and other qualitative information. These disclosures will be required for Praxair beginning with the year-end 2010 financial statements. Praxair does not expect this requirement to have a significant impact on the condensed consolidated financial statements.

2. Venezuela Currency Devaluation and Other Charges

2010 First Quarter Venezuela Currency Devaluation

On January 8, 2010, Venezuela announced a devaluation of the Venezuelan bolivar and created a two tier exchange rate system. Under the new system, a 2.60 exchange rate between the bolivar and the U.S. dollar (which implies 17.3% devaluation) will apply for essential goods while an exchange rate of 4.3 (implying 50% devaluation) will apply for all remaining sectors, including Praxair's operations. In the first quarter 2010, Praxair recorded a $27 million charge ($26 million after-tax or $ 0.08 per diluted share) due primarily to the remeasurement of the local Venezuelan balance sheet to reflect the new official 4.3 exchange rate. The company does not expect the impact of the devaluation on future results of operations to be significant.

2008 Cost Reduction Program

Edgar Filing: PRAXAIR INC - Form 10-Q

In the fourth quarter 2008, Praxair recorded charges relating to severance and other exit costs associated with a global cost reduction program which was initiated in response to the global economic downturn (see Note 2 to the consolidated financial statements of Praxair's 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K). The program required cash payments of $3 million and $28 million in the six months ended June 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively. At June 30, 2010, remaining cash payments are not significant.

(c) At December 31, 2009, $500 million of floating rate notes due 2010 have been classified as long-term because of the company's intent to refinance this debt on long-term basis and the availability of such financing under the terms of existing agreements.

(d) On January 14, 2010, Praxair issued $500 million of 2.125% notes due 2013. The proceeds were used to repay long-term debt, to fund share repurchases under the share repurchase program and for general corporate purposes.

Table of Contents5. Financial Instruments

In its normal operations, Praxair is exposed to market risks relating to fluctuations in interest rates, foreign currency exchange rates, energy costs and to a lesser extent precious metal prices. The objective of financial risk management at Praxair is to minimize the negative impact of such fluctuations on the company's earnings and cash flows. To manage these risks, among other strategies, Praxair routinely enters into various derivative financial instruments (derivatives) including interest-rate swap and treasury rate lock agreements, currency-swap agreements, forward contracts, currency options, and commodity-swap agreements. These instruments are not entered into for trading purposes and Praxair only uses commonly traded and non-leveraged instruments.

There are two types of derivatives that the company enters into: (i) those relating to fair-value exposures, and (ii) those relating to cash-flow exposures. Fair-value exposures relate to recognized assets or liabilities, and firm commitments; while cash-flow exposures relate to the variability of future cash flows associated with recognized assets or liabilities, or forecasted transactions.

When a derivative is executed and hedge accounting is appropriate, it is designated as either a fair-value hedge or a cash-flow hedge. Currently, Praxair designates all interest-rate, treasury rate lock and commodity-swap agreements as hedges for accounting purposes; however, currency contracts are generally not designated as hedges for accounting purposes unless they are related to forecasted transactions. Whether designated as hedges for accounting purposes or not, all derivatives are linked to an appropriate underlying exposure. On an ongoing basis, the company assesses the hedge effectiveness of all derivatives designated as hedges for accounting purposes to determine if they continue to be highly effective in offsetting changes in fair values or cash flows of the underlying hedged items. If it is determined that the hedge is not highly effective, then hedge accounting will be discontinued prospectively.

Counterparties to Praxair's derivatives are major banking institutions with credit ratings of investment grade or better and no collateral is required, and there are no significant risk concentrations. Management believes the risk of incurring losses on derivative contracts related to credit risk is remote and any losses would be immaterial.

The following table is a summary of the notional amount and fair value of derivatives outstanding at June 30, 2010 and December 31, 2009 for consolidated subsidiaries:

Table of Contents

Currency Contracts

Balance Sheet Items

Foreign currency contracts related to balance sheet items consist of forward contracts entered into to manage the exposure to fluctuations in foreign-currency exchange rates on recorded balance sheet assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than the functional currency of the related operating unit. The fair value adjustments on these contracts are largely offset by the fair value adjustments recorded on the hedged assets and liabilities.

Anticipated Net Income

The anticipated net income hedge contracts at June 30, 2010 and December 31, 2009 consist of foreign currency options related to anticipated net income in Brazil, Europe and Canada. Over the term of the contracts, the fair value adjustments from net-income hedging contracts are largely offset by the impacts on reported net income resulting from the currency translation process. The accounting rules pertaining to derivatives and hedging do not allow hedges of anticipated net income to be designated as hedging instruments.

Forecasted Purchases

Foreign currency contracts related to forecasted purchases consist of forward contracts entered into to manage the exposure to fluctuations in foreign-currency exchange rates on forecasted purchases of capital-related equipment and services denominated in currencies other than the functional currency of the related operating units. These forward contracts were designated and accounted for as cash flow hedges. The net impact recorded in accumulated other comprehensive income (AOCI) was less than $1 million during the second quarter and six months ended June 30, 2010 and 2009.

Interest Rate Contracts

Interest Rate Swaps

At June 30, 2010, Praxair had the following interest-rate swap agreements outstanding that effectively convert fixed-rate interest to variable-rate interest:

January 14, 2010 agreement related to the $500 million 2.125% fixed-rate notes that mature in 2013,

January 4, 2010 agreement related to the $400 million 1.75% fixed-rate notes that mature in 2012, and

September 2009 agreement related to the $400 million 3.25% fixed-rate notes that mature in 2015.

These interest rate swap agreements were designated as fair value hedges with the resulting fair value adjustments recognized in earnings along with an equally offsetting charge/benefit to earnings for the changes in the fair value of the underlying debt instruments. At June 30, 2010, $53 million was recognized as an increase in the fair value of these notes ($16 million, $10 million and $27 million, respectively).

During 2002, Praxair entered into and terminated $500 million notional amount of interest-rate swap agreements that effectively converted fixed-rate interest to variable-rate interest on the $500 million 6.375% notes that mature in April 2012. The termination resulted in a cash gain of $47 million, which Praxair recognized in earnings and was equally offset with a charge to earnings for the changes in the fair value of the underlying debt instrument. This debt increase of $47 million is being recognized in earnings as a reduction to interest expense over the remaining term of the underlying debt, or about ten years. During the quarter and six-month periods ended June 30, 2010 and 2009, $1 million and $2 million was recognized as a reduction to interest expense, respectively, and $8 million remains unrecognized at June 30, 2010 ($10 million at December 31, 2009) and is shown as an increase to long-term debt.

Table of ContentsTreasury Rate Locks

In December 2008, Praxair entered into treasury rate lock contracts totaling $500 million notional amount to hedge the cash flow exposure attributable to the changes in the treasury rate portion of the interest rate on a forecasted debt issuance. The treasury rate locks were designated as and accounted for as cash flow hedges. In January 2009, the company settled the treasury rate locks and received a cash payment of $16 million ($10 million net of taxes) which was recorded as a gain in AOCI. On August 13, 2009, Praxair issued $600 million of 4.50% notes due August 2019, which represents the forecasted debt issuance that was originally hedged in December 2008. The gain recorded in AOCI is currently being reclassified to earnings as a decrease to interest expense over the remaining term of these notes.

In February 2008, Praxair entered into a treasury rate lock to hedge the cash flow exposure attributable to the $500 million of 4.625% notes issued on March 7, 2008. The treasury rate lock was accounted for as a cash flow hedge with the resulting fair value adjustments recorded in AOCI. The treasury rate lock was settled at a loss of $7 million ($4 million net of taxes) which was recorded in AOCI and is currently being reclassified to earnings as an increase to interest expense over the remaining term of the underlying debt.

The following table summarizes the impacts of the Company's derivatives on the consolidated statement of income and AOCI for the quarter and six-month periods ended June 30, 2010 and 2009:

(Millions of dollars)	Amount of Pre-Tax Gain (Loss) Recognized in Earnings (a)

- (a) The gains (losses) on balance sheet items are largely offset by gains (losses) recorded on the underlying hedged assets and liabilities. The gains (losses) for the derivatives and the underlying hedged assets and liabilities related to debt items are recorded in the consolidated statement of income as interest expense-net. Other balance sheet items and anticipated net income gains (losses) are recorded in the consolidated statement of income as other income (expense)-net.
- (b) The gains (losses) for interest rate contracts are reclassified to earnings as interest expense-net. The amount of gains (losses) reclassified to earnings for the quarters and six months ended June 30, 2010 and 2009 was less than $1 million. Net gains (losses) of $1 million are expected to be reclassified to earnings over the next twelve months. There was no ineffectiveness.

Table of Contents6. Fair Value Disclosures

The fair value hierarchy prioritizes the input to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three broad levels as follows:

Level 1 quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities

Level 2 quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets or inputs that are observable

Level 3 inputs that are unobservable (for example cash flow modeling inputs based on assumptions)

Assets and Liabilities Measured at Fair Value on a Recurring Basis

The following table summarizes assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis at June 30, 2010:

(Millions of dollars)	Fair Value Measurements Using				Total
	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Assets
Derivative assets	$	$ 67	$		$ 67
Investments	2				2
Total	$ 2	$ 67	$		$ 69
Liabilities
Derivative liabilities	$	$ 1	$		$ 1

The fair values of the derivative assets and liabilities are based on market prices obtained from independent brokers or determined using quantitative models that use as their basis readily observable market parameters that are actively quoted and can be validated through external sources, including third-party pricing services, brokers and market transactions. Investments are marketable securities traded on an exchange.

The fair values of cash and cash equivalents, short-term debt, accounts receivables-net, and accounts payable approximate carrying amounts because of the short maturities of these instruments. The fair value of long-term debt is estimated based on the quoted market prices for the same or similar issues. At June 30, 2010, the estimated fair value of Praxair's long-term debt portfolio was $5,189 million versus a carrying value of $4,840 million. At December 31, 2009, the estimated fair value of Praxair's long-term debt portfolio was $5,066 million versus a carrying value of $4,828 million. Differences from carrying amounts are attributable to interest-rate changes subsequent to when the debt was issued.

9. Share-Based Compensation

Share-based compensation of $13 million ($9 million after tax) and $10 million ($7 million after tax) was recognized during the quarters ended June 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively. Share-based compensation of $23 million ($16 million after tax) and $19 million ($13 million after tax) was recognized for the six months ended June 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively. The expense was primarily recorded in selling, general and administrative expenses. There was no share-based compensation cost that was capitalized. For further details regarding Praxair's share-based compensation arrangements and prior year grants, refer to Note 15 to the consolidated financial statements of Praxair's 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Stock Options

The weighted-average fair value of options granted during the six months ended June 30, 2010 was $12.55 ($8.05 in 2009) based on the Black-Scholes Options-Pricing model.

The following weighted-average assumptions were used for grants in 2010 and 2009:

	Six Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009
Dividend yield	2.4%	2.6%
Volatility	20.8%	18.7%

Table of Contents

The following table summarizes option activity under the plans as of June 30, 2010 and changes during the six-month period then ended (averages are calculated on a weighted basis; life in years; intrinsic value expressed in millions):

	Number of Options (000 s)	Average Exercise Price	Average Remaining Life	Aggregate Intrinsic Value
Outstanding at January 1, 2010	18,683	$ 53.80
Granted	1,397	76.17
Exercised	(1,172)	40.66
Cancelled or Expired	(36)	59.20
Outstanding at June 30, 2010	18,872	56.26	6.0	$ 372
Exercisable at June 30, 2010	14,772	$ 51.53	5.2	$ 361

The aggregate intrinsic value represents the difference between the company's closing stock price of $75.99 as of June 30, 2010 and the exercise price multiplied by the number of options outstanding as of that date. The total intrinsic value of stock options exercised during the quarter and six months ended June 30, 2010 was $29 million and $50 million, respectively ($16 million and $30 million for the same time periods in 2009, respectively).

Cash received from option exercises under all share-based payment arrangements for the quarter and six months ended June 30, 2010 was $30 million and $48 million, respectively ($17 million and $28 million for the same time periods in 2009, respectively). The cash tax benefit realized from stock option exercises totaled $10 million and $15 million for the quarter and six months ended June 30, 2010, of which $13 million in excess tax benefits was classified as financing cash flows ($6 million for the same time periods in 2009).

As of June 30, 2010, $29 million of unrecognized compensation cost related to non-vested stock options is expected to be recognized over a weighted-average period of approximately 1.5 years.

Performance-Based and Restricted Stock Awards

During the six months ended June 30, 2010, the company granted performance-based stock units to employees which vest on the third anniversary of their grant date. The actual number of shares issued in settlement of a vested award can range from zero to 150 percent of the target number of shares granted based upon the company's attainment of specified performance targets at the end of a three-year period. Compensation expense related to these awards is recognized over the three-year performance period based on the fair value of the closing market price of the company's common stock on the date of the grant and the estimated performance that will be achieved. Compensation expense will be adjusted during the three-year performance period based upon the estimated performance levels that will be achieved.

During the six months ended June 30, 2010, the company granted restricted stock units to employees. The majority of the restricted stock units vest at the end of or ratably over a three-year service period. Compensation expense related to the restricted stock units is recognized on a straight-line basis over the vesting period.

The weighted-average fair value of performance-based stock and restricted stock units granted during the six months ended June 30, 2010 was $70.99 and $71.81, respectively ($56.31 for both during the same periods in 2009). This is based on the closing market price of Praxair's common stock on the grant date adjusted for dividends that will not be paid during the vesting period.

Table of Contents

The following table summarizes non-vested performance-based and restricted stock award activity as of June 30, 2010 and changes during the six-month period then ended (shares based on target amounts, averages are calculated on a weighted basis):

Performance-Based and Restricted Stock Activity	Performance-Based		Restricted Stock
	Number of Shares (000 s)	Average Grant Date Fair Value	Number of Shares (000 s)	Average Grant Date Fair Value
Non-vested at January 1, 2010	449	$ 59.57	97	$ 49.97

Cancelled	(8)	76.52	(1)	65.63
Non-vested at June 30, 2010	698	$ 62.86	303	$ 64.84

As of June 30, 2010, based on current estimates of future performance, $34 million of unrecognized compensation cost related to performance-based awards is expected to be recognized through the first quarter of 2013 and $15 million of unrecognized compensation cost related to the restricted stock awards is expected to be recognized through the second quarter of 2017.

10. Retirement Programs

The components of net pension and postretirement benefits other than pensions (OPEB) costs for the quarters and six-month periods ended June 30, 2010 and 2009 are shown below:

(Millions of dollars)	Quarter Ended June 30,				Six Months Ended June 30,
	Pensions		OPEB		Pensions		OPEB
	2010	2009	2010	2009	2010	2009	2010	2009

Net amortization and deferral	9	4			17	8
Net periodic benefit cost	$ 12	$ 10	$ 4	$ 5	$ 27	$ 20	$ 10	$ 10

Praxair estimates that 2010 contributions to its pension plans will be in the range of $125 million to $135 million, of which $114 million have been made through June 30, 2010.

The impact to Praxair's retirement plans in the U.S. related to the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act signed into law on March 23, 2010 was insignificant.

11. Commitments and Contingencies

Praxair is subject to various lawsuits and government investigations that arise from time to time in the ordinary course of business. These actions are based upon alleged environmental, tax, antitrust and personal injury claims, among others. Praxair has strong defenses in these cases and intends to defend itself vigorously. It is possible that the company may incur losses in connection with some of these actions in excess of accrued liabilities. Management does not anticipate that in the aggregate such losses would have a material adverse effect on the company's consolidated financial position or liquidity; however, it is possible that the final outcomes could have a significant impact on the company's reported results of operations in any given period (see Note 17 to the consolidated financial statements of Praxair's 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K).

Among such matters are:

Claims brought by welders alleging that exposure to manganese contained in welding fumes caused neurological injury. Praxair has never manufactured welding consumables. Such products were manufactured prior to 1985 by a predecessor company of Praxair. As of June 30, 2010, Praxair was a co-defendant with many other companies in lawsuits alleging personal injury caused by manganese contained in welding fumes. There were a total of 611 individual claimants in these cases. The cases were pending in several state and federal courts. The federal cases have been transferred to the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Ohio for coordinated pretrial proceedings. The plaintiffs seek unspecified compensatory and, in most instances, punitive damages. In the past, Praxair has either been dismissed from the cases with no payment or has settled a few cases for nominal amounts. These claims raise numerous, individual issues that make them generally unsuited for class action status. Separately, various class actions for medical monitoring have been proposed but none have been certified. No reserves have been recorded for these cases as management does not believe that a loss from them is probable or reasonably estimable.

An investigation by Spanish prosecutors relating to income tax credits generated by certain of the company's Spanish subsidiaries prior to 2002 totaling approximately $147 million. These tax positions relate to interpretation of the Spanish civil tax code and are under criminal investigation, although some have previously been the subject of civil tax proceedings. Praxair has recorded a full liability, including interest, for these tax positions. During March 2010, the investigation was expanded to include additional transactions subsequent to 2002. No additional liabilities have been recorded as management does not believe that an additional loss is probable or reasonably estimable at this time. Although it is difficult to predict the timing of events, the company believes the matter could be sent to trial in the near term, and at that time, material fines may be levied. The company believes it has strong defenses and will vigorously defend its position and appeal any unfavorable rulings up to such levels of the Spanish judiciary as may be necessary.

Claims by the Brazilian taxing authorities against several of the company's Brazilian subsidiaries relating to non-income and income tax matters. During May 2009, the Brazilian government published Law 11941/2009 instituting a new voluntary amnesty program (Refis Program) which allowed Brazilian companies to settle certain federal tax disputes at reduced amounts. During the 2009 third quarter, Praxair decided that it was economically beneficial to settle many of its outstanding federal tax disputes and these disputes were enrolled in the Refis Program and settled (see Note 2 to the consolidated financial statements of Praxair's 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K). During January 2010, the Brazilian state of Rio de Janeiro (Rio) published Law 5647/2010 instituting a new state amnesty program (Rio Amnesty Program) which allows Brazilian companies to settle certain disputes with the state of Rio at reduced amounts. During the 2010 first quarter, Praxair decided that it was economically beneficial to settle several of its outstanding disputes with the state of Rio and these disputes were enrolled in the Program and settled. The final settlements related to both the Refis and Rio Amnesty Programs are subject to final calculation and review by the Brazilian federal and Rio state governments, respectively, and the company currently anticipates these reviews will conclude during the next year. Any differences from amounts recorded will be adjusted to income at that time.

After enrollment in the amnesty programs, at June 30, 2010 the most significant remaining claims relate to a state VAT tax matter associated with a procedural issue and a federal income tax matter where the taxing authorities are challenging the tax rate that should be applied to income generated by a subsidiary company. The total estimated exposure relating to such claims, including interest and penalties as appropriate, is approximately $148 million. Praxair has not recorded any liabilities related to such claims based on management judgments, after considering judgments and opinions of outside counsel. Because litigation in Brazil historically takes many years to resolve, it is very difficult to estimate the timing of resolution of these matters; however, it is possible that certain of these matters may be resolved within the near term. The company is vigorously defending against the proceedings.

In the course of its normal business operations, the company and its subsidiaries are the subject of various regulatory actions from time to time. The company's Brazilian subsidiary and several other Brazilian industrial gas companies are the subject of a proceeding by a unit of the Brazilian Ministry of Justice for alleged anticompetitive activities during a period prior to 2004. The company believes it has strong defenses and, in the event of an administrative fine, which may be material, the company will vigorously appeal it up to such levels of the Federal Courts in Brazil as may be necessary. No reserve has been recorded for this proceeding as management does not believe that an ultimate loss is probable or reasonably estimable at this time.

Adjusted Amounts and Comparisons

The discussion of consolidated results and outlook in this Management's Discussion and Analysis (MD&A) includes adjusted amounts and comparisons with adjusted amounts which exclude the impact of the Venezuela currency devaluation in 2010. Adjusted amounts are non-GAAP measures that supplement an understanding of the company's financial information by presenting information that investors, financial analysts and management use to help evaluate the company's performance and ongoing business trends on a comparable basis. See the Consolidated Results section of this MD&A for a summary of these adjusted amounts. A reconciliation of reported amounts to adjusted amounts can be found in the Non-GAAP Financial Measures section of this MD&A.

(c) Adjusted amounts are non-GAAP measures. 2010 adjusted amounts exclude the impact of the Venezuela currency devaluation. Variances are calculated using adjusted amounts, when appropriate. A reconciliation of reported amounts to adjusted amounts can be found in the Non-GAAP Financial Measures section of this MD&A. Amounts reflected for 2009 represent the reported amounts.

Table of ContentsVenezuela Currency Devaluation

On January 8, 2010, Venezuela announced a devaluation of the Venezuelan bolivar and created a two tier exchange rate system. Under the new system, a 2.60 exchange rate between the bolivar and the U.S. dollar (which implies 17.3% devaluation) will apply for essential goods while an exchange rate of 4.3 (implying 50% devaluation) will apply for all remaining sectors, including Praxair's operations. In the first quarter 2010, Praxair recorded a $27 million charge ($26 million after-tax or $0.08 per diluted share) due primarily to the remeasurement of the local Venezuelan balance sheet to reflect the new official 4.3 exchange rate.

Results of Operations

As previously described, references to adjusted amounts refer to reported amounts adjusted to exclude the impact of special items and are non-GAAP measures. A reconciliation of reported amounts to adjusted amounts can be found in the Non-GAAP Financial Measures section of this MD&A.

Sales increased $389 million, or 18%, for the second quarter and increased $694 million, or 16%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods. The underlying increase in sales of 12% and 9% for the quarter and year-to-date periods, respectively, reflects higher volumes in all geographies. Sales to the chemicals, metals and electronics end markets showed the strongest growth compared with the prior year. The favorable impact of currency, primarily in South America, Asia, Mexico and Canada increased sales by 4% and 5% for the quarter and year-to-date periods, respectively. Higher cost pass-through increased sales by $26 million, or 1%, for the quarter and $47 million, or 1%, for the year-to-date period, with a negligible impact on operating profit.

Gross margin in 2010 improved $142 million, or 15%, for the second quarter and increased $261 million, or 14%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods primarily due to higher volumes. The decrease in the gross margin percentage for both the quarter and year-to-date periods to 43.1% was primarily due to the impact from higher cost pass-through and product mix.

Selling, general and administrative (SG&A) expenses increased $37 million, or 14%, for the second quarter and increased $66 million, or 12%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods, but decreased as a percentage of sales in both periods. The increase in SG&A expenses was primarily due to currency impacts and higher pension and benefit costs.

Depreciation and amortization expense increased $23 million, or 11%, for the second quarter and increased $52 million, or 13%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods. The increase was due to depreciation associated with project start-ups and currency effects.

Other income (expense) net was a $8-million benefit and $7-million benefit for the quarter and six months ended June 30, 2010, respectively, versus a $11-million expense and $15-million expense in the respective 2009 periods. The 2010 quarter and six-month periods included $5 million and $6 million of currency related net gains, respectively, primarily related to net income hedges. The 2009 quarter and six-month periods included $16 million and $15 million of currency related net losses, respectively, primarily related to net income hedges (see Note 5 to the condensed consolidated financial statements).

Reported operating profit increased $100 million, or 22%, for the second quarter versus 2009. For the six months ended June 30, 2010, adjusted operating profit increased $164 million, or 18%, versus the respective 2009 period. This increase was primarily driven by higher sales volumes.

Interest expense net decreased $4 million, or 12%, for the second quarter and decreased $7 million, or 10%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective periods in 2009 due to lower effective interest rates and lower levels of international bank borrowings.

The reported effective tax rate for the second quarter 2010 was 28.0% versus 26.3% for the same period in 2009. The adjusted effective tax rate for the six months ended June 30, 2010 was 27.9% versus 27.2% for the same period in 2009. The 2009 periods include a $7 million tax benefit primarily related to tax incentives in Italy. Excluding this tax benefit, the underlying effective tax rate for the quarter and six month periods was 28.0% in 2009.

Reported net income Praxair, Inc. increased $72 million, or 24%, for the second quarter versus 2009. For the six months ended June 30, 2010, adjusted net income Praxair, Inc. increased $122 million, or 21%, versus the respective 2009 period. The increase was primarily due to higher operating profit and lower interest expense.

Reported diluted earnings per share (EPS) increased $0.23 per diluted share, or 24%, for the second quarter 2010 versus 2009. For the six months ended June 30, 2010, adjusted EPS increased $0.39, or 21%, versus the respective 2009 period. The underlying increase in EPS was in line with the increase in net income Praxair, Inc.

The number of employees at June 30, 2010 was 25,877, reflecting a decrease of 287 employees from December 31, 2009.

Sales increased $161 million, or 14%, for the second quarter and increased $235 million, or 10%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods. Currency appreciation, primarily in Canada and Mexico, increased sales by 3% in both the quarter and year-to-date periods. Higher cost pass-through increased sales by $1 million, or less than 1%, for the quarter and $4 million, or less than 1%, for the year-to-date period with a minimal impact on operating profit. Excluding currency and cost pass-through, sales increased 11% and 7% in the quarter and year-to-date periods primarily due to higher volumes. Sales were higher to the chemicals, metals and energy end-markets.

Operating profit increased $30 million, or 11%, for the second quarter and increased $51 million, or 10%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods. Excluding the impact of currency, operating profit grew as a result of higher volumes and lower fixed costs due to ongoing productivity initiatives and cost reductions.

The underlying improvement in sales of 11% and 9% for the quarter and year-to-date periods, respectively, was due primarily to higher on-site and merchant volumes in Germany, Italy and Spain.

Operating profit increased $12 million, or 20%, for the second quarter and increased $16 million, or 13%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods. Sales increased $95 million, or 24%, for the second quarter and increased $200 million, or 27%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods. Currency increased sales by 12% and 16% in the quarter and year-to-date periods, respectively. Higher cost pass-through increased sales by $4 million, or 1%, for both the 2010 second quarter and year-to-date period with a minimal impact on operating profit. Equipment sales were lower by 4% for both the quarter and year-to-date periods versus the prior year due to lower sales of natural gas cylinders. Excluding currency, cost pass-through and equipment, sales increased 15% and 14% for the quarter and year-to-date periods, respectively. The increase was primarily due to higher volumes to metals, manufacturing and healthcare customers and higher overall pricing.

Operating profit increased $44 million, or 63%, for the second quarter and increased $78 million, or 54%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods. Operating profit for the 2009 quarter and six-month periods included currency related net losses of $11 million and $12 million, respectively, which primarily consisted of net income hedge losses (see Note 5 to the condensed consolidated financial statements). Excluding the favorable impact of currency, underlying operating profit grew as a result of higher volumes and higher pricing. Operating profit for the 2010 year-to-date period included a benefit from a decision to settle certain disputes under a special amnesty program enacted by the State of Rio de Janeiro, which was largely offset by charges in connection with a non-core service business restructuring.

Sales increased $81 million, or 41%, for the second quarter and increased $159 million, or 42%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods. Favorable currency increased sales by 5% for both the quarter and year-to-date periods. Higher cost pass-through increased sales by $20 million, or 10%, for the 2010 second quarter, and increased sales by $36 million, or 9%, for the year-to-date period, with a minimal impact on operating profit. Excluding currency and cost pass-through, sales increased 26% and 28% for the quarter and year-to-date periods, respectively, due primarily to sharply higher volumes across the region and new plant start-ups.

Operating profit increased $11 million, or 33%, for the second quarter and increased $19 million, or 32%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods primarily as the result of higher sales volumes and currency appreciation.

Sales increased $23 million, or 19%, for the second quarter and increased $36 million, or 15%, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods. Sales for the 2010 second quarter and year-to-date period increased $21 million, or 18%, and $41 million, or 17%, respectively, from the acquisition of Sermatech. Excluding the impact of currency translation and the acquisition, sales increased 2% and decreased 4% for the quarter and year-to-date periods, respectively. Sales for the quarter increased due to higher aviation coatings volumes partially offset by weaker industrial gas turbines coatings. Sales for the year-to-date period decreased primarily due to lower volumes to the energy end-market primarily for industrial gas turbines coatings.

Operating profit increased $3 million, or 16%, for the second quarter, and was flat for the six months ended June 30, 2010 versus the respective 2009 periods. The increase for the second quarter was principally driven by lower costs due to productivity initiatives.

On July 1, 2009, Praxair acquired Sermatech International Holdings Corp. (Sermatech), a global supplier of protective coatings and advanced processes used on industrial and aviation gas turbines with operations in the U.S., Canada, United Kingdom, Germany and South Korea.

Currency

The results of Praxair's non-U.S. operations are translated to the company's reporting currency, the U.S. dollar, from the functional currencies used in the countries in which the company operates. For most foreign operations, Praxair uses the local currency as its functional currency. There is inherent variability and unpredictability in the relationship of these functional currencies to the U.S. dollar and such currency movements may materially impact Praxair's results of operations in any given period.

Cash Flow from Operations

Cash provided by operations of $1,019 million for the six months ended June 30, 2010 increased $107 million versus 2009. The increase was due to higher net income Praxair, Inc., adjusted for the non-cash charge related to the Venezuela currency devaluation. In addition, cash provided by operations benefited from fewer cash payments for the 2008 cost reduction program and working capital changes partially offset by higher pension contributions.

Praxair estimates that 2010 contributions to its pension plans will be in the range of $125 million to $135 million, of which $114 million have been made through June 30, 2010.

Edgar Filing: PRAXAIR INC - Form 10-Q

In the third quarter 2009, Praxair recorded the net impact related to a Federal tax amnesty program in Brazil (see Note 2 to the consolidated financial statements of Praxair's 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K). The program required a cash outlay of $34 million in the 2009 fourth quarter and is expected to require up to an additional $60 million of cash payments in the next twelve months depending on the timing of the Brazilian government consolidation process.

Table of ContentsInvesting

Net cash used for investing of $612 million for the six months ended June 30, 2010 decreased $49 million versus 2009. Capital expenditures of $613 million relate largely to new production plants under contract for customers in North and South America, China and India.

Financing

Cash used for financing activities was $385 million in 2010 versus $253 million in 2009. Cash dividends of $275 million increased $29 million from the year ago period to $0.90 per share ($0.80 per share for 2009). The remaining increase was primarily due to lower net debt issuances in 2010 and higher net stock repurchases.

At June 30, 2010, Praxair's total debt outstanding was $5,026 million, a decrease of $29 million from December 31, 2009. On January 14, 2010, Praxair issued $500 million of 2.125% notes due 2013. The proceeds were used to repay long-term debt, including the $500 million of floating rate notes due in May 2010, to fund share repurchases under the share repurchase program and for general corporate purposes.

On July 28, 2010, the company announced that the company's board of directors approved a new $1.5 billion share repurchase program authorizing the company to repurchase shares from time to time on the open market or through negotiated transactions, subject to market and business conditions.

PART II - OTHER INFORMATION

Praxair, Inc. and Subsidiaries

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

See Note 11 to the condensed consolidated financial statements for a description of current legal proceedings.

Item 1A. Risk Factors

Due to the size and geographic reach of the company's operations, a wide range of factors, many of which are outside of the company's control, could materially affect the company's future operations and financial performance. Management believes the following risks may significantly impact the company:

General Economic Conditions - Weakening economic conditions in markets in which the company does business may adversely impact the company's financial results and/or cash flows.

Praxair serves approximately 25 diverse industries across more than 40 countries, which generally leads to financial stability through various business cycles. However, a broad decline in general economic or business conditions in the industries served by its customers could adversely affect the demand for Praxair's products and impair the ability of our customers to satisfy their obligations to the company, resulting in uncollected receivables and/or unanticipated contract terminations or project delays. Additionally, such conditions could impact the utilization of the company's manufacturing capacity which may require the company to recognize impairment losses on tangible assets such as property, plant and equipment as well as intangible assets such as intellectual property or goodwill. In addition, many of the company's customers are in businesses that are cyclical in nature, such as the chemicals, metals and refining industries. Downturns in these industries may adversely impact the company during these cycles.

Cost and Availability of Raw Materials and Energy - Increases in the cost of energy and raw materials and/or disruption in the supply of these materials could result in lost sales or reduced profitability.

Energy is the single largest cost item in the production and distribution of industrial gases. Most of Praxair's energy requirements are in the form of electricity, natural gas and diesel fuel for distribution. Praxair attempts to minimize the financial impact of variability in these costs through the management of customer contracts, which typically have escalation and pass-through clauses for the company's larger contracts. Such attempts may not successfully mitigate cost variability which could negatively impact its financial condition or results of operations. The supply of energy has not been a significant issue in the geographic areas where it conducts business. However, regional energy conditions are unpredictable and may pose future risk.

For carbon dioxide, carbon monoxide, helium, hydrogen, specialty gases and surface technologies, raw materials are largely purchased from outside sources. Praxair has contracts or commitments for, or readily available sources of, most of these raw materials; however, their long-term availability and prices are subject to market conditions. A disruption in supply of such raw materials could impact the company's ability to meet contractual supply commitments.

International Events and Circumstances - The company's international operations are subject to the risks of doing business abroad and international events and circumstances may adversely impact its business, financial condition or results of operations.

Praxair has substantial international operations which are subject to risks including devaluations in currency exchange rates, transportation delays and interruptions, political and economic instability and disruptions, restrictions on the transfer of funds, the imposition of duties and tariffs, import and export controls, changes in governmental policies, labor unrest, possible nationalization and/or expropriation of assets, domestic and international tax laws and compliance with governmental regulations. These events could have an adverse effect on the international operations in the future by reducing the demand for its products, decreasing the prices at which it can sell its products, reducing the U.S. dollar value of revenue from international operations or otherwise having an adverse effect on its business. In particular, due to recent government actions related to business and currency regulations, there is considerable risk associated with operations in Venezuela (see Note 2 to the condensed consolidated financial statements). At June 30, 2010, Praxair's sales and net assets in Venezuela were less than 1% of Praxair's consolidated amounts.

Global Financial Markets Conditions - Macroeconomic factors may impact the company's ability to obtain financing or increase the cost of obtaining financing which may adversely impact the company's financial results and/or cash flows.

Volatility and disruption in the U.S. and global credit and equity markets, from time to time, could make it more difficult for Praxair to obtain financing for its operations and/or could increase the cost of obtaining financing. In addition, the company's borrowing costs can be affected by short and long-term debt ratings assigned by independent rating agencies which are based, in significant part, on the company's performance as measured by certain criteria such as interest coverage and leverage ratios. A decrease in these debt ratings could increase the cost of borrowing or make it more difficult to obtain financing. While the impact of continued volatility in the global credit markets cannot be predicted with certainty, the company believes that it has sufficient operating flexibility, cash reserves, and funding sources to maintain adequate amounts of liquidity to meet its business needs around the world.

Competitor Actions - The inability to effectively compete could adversely impact results of operations.

Praxair operates within a highly competitive environment worldwide. Competition is based on price, product quality, delivery, reliability, technology and service to customers. Competitors' behavior related to these areas could potentially have significant impacts on the company's financial results.

Governmental Regulations - The company is subject to a variety of United States and foreign government regulations. Changes in these regulations could have an adverse impact on the business, financial position and results of operations.

The company is subject to regulations in the following areas, among others:

Environmental protection;

Domestic and international tax laws and currency controls;

Safety;

Securities laws (e.g., SEC and generally accepted accounting principles in the United States);

Trade and import/ export restrictions;

Antitrust matters;

Global anti-bribery laws; and

Healthcare reimbursement regulations

Changes in these or other regulatory areas may impact the company's profitability, may require the company to spend additional resources to comply with the regulations, or may restrict the company's ability to compete effectively in the marketplace. Noncompliance with such laws and regulations could result in penalties or sanctions that could have an adverse impact on the company's financial results. Environmental protection and healthcare reimbursement legislation are discussed further below.

Praxair is subject to various environmental and occupational health and safety laws and regulations, including those governing the discharge of pollutants into the air or water, the storage, handling and disposal of chemicals, hazardous substances and wastes, the remediation of contamination, the regulation of greenhouse gas emissions, and other potential climate change initiatives. Violations of these laws could result in substantial penalties, third party claims for property damage or personal injury, or sanctions. The company may also be subject to liability for the investigation and remediation of environmental contamination at properties that it owns or operates and at other properties where Praxair or its predecessors have operated or arranged for the disposal of hazardous wastes. Although management does not believe that any such liabilities will have a material adverse impact on its financial position and results of operations, management cannot provide assurance that such costs will not increase in the future or will not become material. See the section captioned Management's Discussion and Analysis Environmental Matters in Item 7 of Praxair's 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Recent legislation in the United States, including the 2010 Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, contain provisions that will significantly impact government reimbursement of healthcare-related products and services provided by Praxair to its customers. Many provisions are not effective for several years and regulations have either not been issued or their impact is unclear. Therefore, it is not possible to predict the impact on the company's financial results. Praxair is continuously evaluating and monitoring the impact of this legislation, including any actions that may be appropriate.

Catastrophic Events - Catastrophic events could disrupt the operations of the company and/or its customers and suppliers and may have a significant adverse impact on the results of operations.

The occurrence of catastrophic events or natural disasters such as hurricanes, health epidemics, acts of war or terrorism, could disrupt or delay the company's ability to produce and distribute its products to customers and could potentially expose the company to third-party liability claims. In addition, such events could impact the company's customers and suppliers resulting in temporary or long-term outages and/or the limitation of supply of energy and other raw materials used in normal business operations. These situations are outside the company's control and may have a significant adverse impact on the company's financial results.

Retaining Qualified Personnel - The inability to attract and retain qualified personnel may adversely impact the company's business.

If Praxair fails to attract, hire and retain qualified personnel, the company may not be able to develop, market or sell its products or successfully manage its business. Praxair is dependent upon its highly skilled, experienced and efficient workforce to be successful. Much of Praxair's competitive advantage is based on the expertise and experience of its key personnel regarding its marketing, technology, manufacturing and distribution infrastructure, systems and products. The inability to attract and hire qualified individuals or the loss of key employees in very skilled areas could have a negative effect on the company's financial results.

Technological Advances - If the company fails to keep pace with technological advances in the industry or if new technology initiatives do not become commercially accepted, customers may not continue to buy the company's products and results of operations could be adversely affected.

Praxair's research and development is directed toward developing new and improved methods for the production and distribution of industrial gases and the development of new markets and applications for the use of these gases. This results in the frequent introduction of new industrial gas applications and the development of new advanced air separation process technologies. The company also conducts research and development for its surface technologies to improve the quality and durability of coatings and the use of specialty powders for new applications and industries. The results of these research and development activities help Praxair to create a competitive advantage and provide a platform for the company to grow its business at greater percentages than the rate of industrial production growth in the geographies where it operates. If Praxair's research and development activities did not keep pace with competitors or if it did not create new applications that benefit customers, then the company's future results of operations could be adversely affected.

Litigation and Governmental Investigations - The outcomes of litigation and governmental investigations may affect the company's financial results.

Praxair is subject to various lawsuits and governmental investigations arising out of the normal course of business that may result in adverse outcomes. These actions are based upon alleged environmental, tax, antitrust and personal injury claims, among others. Adverse outcomes in some or all of the claims pending may result in significant monetary damages or injunctive relief that could adversely affect its ability to conduct business. While management currently believes that resolving all of these matters, individually or in the aggregate, will not have a material adverse impact on the company's financial position or liquidity, the litigation and other claims Praxair faces are subject to inherent uncertainties and management's view of these matters may change in the future. There exists the possibility of a material adverse impact on the company's results of operations for the period in which the effect of an unfavorable final outcome becomes probable and reasonably estimable.

Tax Liabilities - Potential tax liabilities could adversely impact the company's financial position and results of operations.

Praxair is subject to income and other taxes in both the United States and numerous foreign jurisdictions. The determination of the company's worldwide provision for income taxes and other tax liabilities requires judgment and is based on diverse legislative and regulatory structures that exist in the various jurisdictions where the company operates. Although management believes its estimates are reasonable, the ultimate tax outcome may differ from the amounts recorded in its financial statements and may materially affect the company's financial results for the period when such determination is made. See Notes 5 and 17 to the consolidated financial statements of Praxair's 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Pension Liabilities - Risks related to our pension benefit plans may adversely impact our results of operations and cash flows.

Pension benefits represent significant financial obligations that will be ultimately settled in the future with employees who meet eligibility requirements. Because of the uncertainties involved in estimating the timing and amount of future payments and asset returns, significant estimates are required to calculate pension expense and liabilities related to the company's plans. The company utilizes the services of independent actuaries, whose models are used to facilitate these calculations. Several key assumptions are used in the actuarial models to calculate pension expense and liability amounts recorded in the consolidated financial statements. In particular, significant changes in actual investment returns on pension assets, discount rates, or legislative or regulatory changes could impact future results of operations and required pension contributions. For information regarding the potential impacts regarding significant assumptions used to estimate pension expense, including discount rates and the expected long-term rates of return on plan assets. See Critical Accounting Policies - Pension Benefits included in Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations in Item 7 of Praxair's 2009 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Operational Risks - Operational risks may adversely impact the company's business or results of operations.

Praxair's operating results are dependent on the continued operation of its production facilities and its ability to meet customer contract requirements and other needs. Insufficient or excess capacity threatens the company's ability to generate competitive profit margins and may expose the company to liabilities related to contract commitments. Operating results are also dependent on the company's ability to complete new construction projects on time, on budget and in accordance with performance requirements. Failure to do so may expose the business to loss of revenue, potential litigation and loss of business reputation.

Also inherent in the management of the company's production facilities and delivery systems, including storage, vehicle transportation and pipelines, are operational risks that require continuous training, oversight and control. Material operating failures at production, storage facilities or pipelines, including fire, toxic release and explosions, or the occurrence of vehicle transportation accidents could result in loss of life, damage to the environment, loss of production and/or extensive property damage, all of which may negatively impact the company's financial results.

Acquisitions - The inability to effectively integrate acquisitions could adversely impact the company's financial position and results of operations.

Praxair has evaluated, and expects to continue to evaluate, a wide array of potential strategic acquisitions. Many of these acquisitions, if consummated, could be material to its financial condition and results of operations. In addition, the process of integrating an acquired company, business or group of assets may create unforeseen operating difficulties and expenditures. Although historically the company has been successful with its acquisition strategy and execution, the areas where the company may face risks include:

The need to implement or remediate controls, procedures and policies appropriate for a larger public company at companies that prior to the acquisition lacked these controls, procedures and policies;

Table of Contents

Diversion of management time and focus from operating existing business to acquisition integration challenges;

Cultural challenges associated with integrating employees from the acquired company into the existing organization;

The need to integrate each company's accounting, management information, human resource and other administrative systems to permit effective management;

Difficulty with the assimilation of acquired operations and products;

Failure to achieve targeted synergies; and

Inability to retain key employees and business relationships of acquired companies.

Foreign acquisitions involve unique risks in addition to those mentioned above, including those related to integration of operations across different cultures and languages, currency risks and the particular economic, political and regulatory risks associated with specific countries. Also, the anticipated benefit of the company's acquisitions may not materialize. Future acquisitions or dispositions could result in potentially dilutive issuances of equity securities, the incurrence of debt, contingent liabilities or amortization expenses, or impairments of goodwill, any of which could adversely impact the company's financial results.
