The Company expects to commence commercial sales of RAYOS in the United States for rheumatologic diseases such as RA and PMR in the fourth quarter of 2012. Actual results may differ materially from those set forth in this report due to the risks and uncertainties inherent in the Company's business including, without limitation, risks regarding the Company's ability to commercialize products successfully, changes in the Company's strategy as to when to launch RAYOS in the United States and on which approved indications it will focus its initial commercial efforts, whether physicians will prescribe and patients will use RAYOS, once available, and competition in the market for RAYOS. For a further description of these and other risks facing the Company, please see the risk factors described in the Company's filings with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission, including those factors discussed under the caption Risk Factors in those filings.
