Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

On May 18, 2016, FMC Technologies, Inc. (the Company), and FMC Technologies SIS Limited, a private limited company incorporated under the laws of England and Wales and a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company (Topco), entered into a binding memorandum of understanding (the MOU) with Technip S.A., a French société anonyme (Technip). The MOU provides that, subject to completion of certain employee consultation procedures required under applicable law and certain other customary conditions, the parties to the MOU will enter into a definitive business combination agreement, attached as an exhibit to the MOU (the Business Combination Agreement), providing for a business combination among the Company, Topco and Technip on the terms contained in the Business Combination Agreement.

Under the MOU, Technip has agreed to commence, within eight business days of the execution of the MOU, the employee consultation process required under applicable law to obtain opinions of the applicable works councils. Subject to the conditions set forth in the MOU, the parties to the MOU will execute and deliver the Business Combination Agreement within two business days following the completion of (i) the employee consultation period and (ii) the expiration of a subsequent five-day period during which the parties may consider the opinions rendered by the works councils. The employee consultation period ends on the earlier of the date on which the final opinion is rendered or deemed rendered by the applicable works councils and September 30, 2016.

The representations and warranties contained in the Business Combination Agreement are incorporated, and were made as of the date of entry, into the MOU. In addition, the MOU incorporates certain covenants contained in the Business Combination Agreement, including, among others, covenants relating to the conduct of the parties' respective businesses between the date of entry into the MOU and the consummation of the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement, as well as customary covenants that restrict each party's ability to solicit, or enter into negotiations with respect to, competing proposals, in each case subject to certain exceptions.

The MOU provides for certain termination rights, including, among others, the ability of the Company or Technip to terminate the MOU if (i) either party's board of directors changes its recommendation with respect to the proposed transaction under certain specified circumstances or (ii) the other party breaches its representations, warranties or covenants contained in the MOU (subject to customary materiality thresholds and cure periods). Under certain circumstances in connection with the termination of the MOU, including if the MOU is terminated because the Company's board of directors changes its recommendation with respect to the proposed transaction, the Company will be required to pay Technip a termination fee of $250 million, and under other circumstances, including if the MOU is terminated because the Technip board of directors changes its recommendation with respect to the proposed transaction, Technip will be required to pay the Company a termination fee of $250 million. Additionally, Technip may terminate the MOU if Technip receives an opinion of a works council in opposition to the proposed transactions, provided that Technip then reimburses or causes to be reimbursed certain expenses of the Company and Topco.

The foregoing description of the MOU and the transactions contemplated thereby does not purport to be complete and is subject to, and qualified in its entirety by, the full text of the MOU, a copy of which is filed herewith as Exhibit 2.1 and is hereby incorporated by reference herein.

Business Combination Agreement

The Business Combination Agreement provides for (i) the merger of Technip with and into Topco (the Technip Merger), with Topco surviving the merger, and immediately thereafter, (ii) the merger of a wholly owned indirect subsidiary of Topco (Merger Sub) with and into the Company (the Company Merger and, together with the Technip Merger, the Mergers), with the Company surviving as a wholly owned subsidiary of Topco, in each case subject to the terms and conditions of the Business Combination Agreement. At the effective time of the Technip Merger, each issued and outstanding ordinary share of Technip (the Technip Shares), other than Technip Shares owned by Technip or its wholly owned subsidiaries, will be converted into the right to receive two ordinary shares of Topco (Topco Shares). At the effective time of the Company Merger, each share of common stock of the Company (each, a Company Share), other than Company Shares owned by the Company, Topco, Merger Sub or their respective wholly owned subsidiaries, will be converted into the right to receive one Topco Share. Topco will apply to list the Topco Shares to be issued in the Mergers on the New York Stock Exchange (the NYSE) and the regulated market of Euronext Paris (Euronext). Based on the respective capitalization of Technip and the Company as of the date hereof, following consummation of the Mergers, former Technip stockholders will own approximately 50.9 percent of Topco and former stockholders of the Company will own approximately 49.1 percent of Topco, on a fully diluted basis.

Closing of the Mergers is subject to certain conditions, including (i) receipt of Company and Technip stockholder approvals, (ii) clearance from certain competition and foreign investment authorities in the areas where the companies operate, including the expiration or termination of the waiting period under the United States Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976, as amended, (iii) clearance from the French Ministry for Economy, Industry and the Digital Sector, (iv) the absence of any law, injunction, order or other judgment prohibiting the Mergers, (v) effectiveness of a registration statement for the Topco Shares to be issued in the Mergers and approval of an admissions prospectus by a competent regulator in the United Kingdom or France relating to such shares, (vi) NYSE and Euronext listing approval for Topco Shares, (vii) the expiration of a one-month Technip creditor opposition period, (viii) subject to customary materiality exceptions, the accuracy of the other party's representations and warranties and performance by the other party of its obligations under the Business Combination Agreement, and (ix) delivery of pre-merger compliance certificates to the High Court of England and Wales and the Registrar of Companies in Paris.

The Business Combination Agreement contains customary representations and warranties of the parties. In addition, the Business Combination Agreement contains certain customary covenants regarding the operation of the Company and Technip's respective businesses during the period prior to the closing of the Mergers, including, among others, limitations on their respective ability to (i) issue or grant shares of capital stock or other equity interests; (ii) acquire shares of their capital stock or other equity interests and (iii) incur new indebtedness, in each case subject to certain exceptions contained in the Business Combination Agreement. The Business Combination Agreement also includes customary covenants that restrict each party's ability to solicit, or enter into negotiations with respect to, competing proposals, in each case subject to certain exceptions contained in the Business Combination Agreement.

The Company or Technip may each terminate the Business Combination Agreement under certain circumstances, including, among others, where the other party breaches its representations, warranties or covenants contained in the Business Combination Agreement (subject to customary materiality thresholds and cure periods) or where either party has not received from their counsel a tax opinion relating to how Topco should be treated for United States tax purposes in connection with the proposed transaction. In connection with the termination of the Business Combination Agreement under specified circumstances, the Company or Technip may be required to pay the other party a termination fee of $250 million or may be required to reimburse the other party for its out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with the Business Combination Agreement. Each party's board of directors may change its recommendation with respect to the proposed transaction (subject to the other party's right to terminate the Business Combination Agreement following such change in recommendation) in response to a superior proposal or an intervening event if its board of directors determines that the failure to do so would be inconsistent with its fiduciary duties under applicable law, in each case after satisfying requirements to notify and negotiate with the other party prior to making such change in recommendation.

Following the closing, the Topco board will initially be comprised of 14 directors, consisting of 7 individuals designated by the Company prior to closing, of which 6 of whom will qualify as an independent director under the applicable rules of the NYSE and 7 individuals designated by Technip prior to closing, of which 6 of whom will qualify as an independent director under the applicable rules of the NYSE. Upon closing, (i) Doug Pferdehirt will serve as the Chief Executive Officer of Topco, (ii) Thierry Pilenko will serve as the Executive Chair of Topco, (iii) the Company will designate the chairman of each of the nominating and corporate governance committee and the compensation committee, (iv) Technip will designate the chairman of each of the audit committee and the strategy committee, and (v) each committee of the board will have an equal number of Company and Technip directors. The Company and Technip have agreed that the name of Topco will be changed to TechnipFMC plc prior to closing.

The foregoing description of the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby does not purport to be complete and is subject to, and qualified in its entirety by, (i) the full text of the Form of Business Combination Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit 2.2 herewith and is hereby incorporated by reference herein, (ii) the full text of the Form of Topco Articles of Association, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit 2.3

herewith and is hereby incorporated by reference herein and (iii) the full text of the Form of Topco Corporate Governance Guidelines, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit 2.4 herewith and is hereby incorporated by reference herein.

The MOU included as Exhibit 2.1 hereto (including the Business Combination Agreement included as Exhibit 2.2 hereto, the Form of Topco Articles of Association included as Exhibit 2.3 hereto and the Form of Topco Corporate Governance Guidelines included as Exhibit 2.4 hereto) has been included to provide investors with information regarding its terms. It is not intended to provide any other factual information with respect to the Company, Topco or Technip. There are representations and warranties contained in the MOU and the Business Combination Agreement that were made by the parties to each other as of specific dates. The assertions embodied in these representations and warranties were made solely for purposes of the MOU and the Business Combination Agreement and may be subject to important qualifications and limitations agreed to by the parties in connection with negotiating its terms. Moreover, certain representations and warranties may not be accurate or complete as of any specified date because they are subject to a contractual standard of materiality that is different from certain standards generally applicable to stockholders or were used for the purpose of allocating risk between the parties rather than establishing matters as facts. Based upon the foregoing reasons, you should not rely on the representations and warranties as statements of factual information. In addition, information concerning the subject matter of the representations and warranties may change after the date of the MOU, which subsequent information may or may not be reflected in the Company's public disclosures. Investors should read the MOU and the Business Combination Agreement with the other information concerning the Company that it publicly files in reports and statements with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission.

Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Principal Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Principal Officers.

On May 18, 2016, C. Maury Devine, a member of the Company's board of directors (the Board), Nominating and Governance Committee and Chair of the Audit Committee, tendered her resignation as a director of the Company, effective immediately. Ms. Devine is currently a member of Technip's board of directors and serves as its lead director, and will continue to serve in those roles. Ms. Devine recused herself from the Company's and Technip's deliberations with respect to the Mergers. Ms. Devine's decision to resign was to avoid her continued inability to participate fully as a member of both boards during the remainder of the transaction process in connection with the Mergers. As of the effective date of Ms. Devine's resignation, the Board has reduced the size of the Board to 11 directors. Kay G. Priestly has been appointed to serve as the Company's Audit Committee Chair.

Item 8.01 Other Events.

On May 19, 2016, the Company and Technip issued a joint news release announcing they had entered into the MOU. A copy of such joint news release is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1, and is incorporated by reference herein.

Important Information for Investors and Securityholders

Forward-Looking Statements

This communication contains forward-looking statements. All statements other than statements of historical fact contained in this report are forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the United States Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act), and Section 21E of the United States Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act). Forward-looking statements usually relate to future events and anticipated revenues, earnings, cash flows or other aspects of our operations or operating results. Forward-looking statements are often identified by the words believe, expect, anticipate, plan, intend, foresee, should, would, could, outlook and similar expressions, including the negative thereof. The absence of these words, however, does not mean that the statements are not forward-looking. These forward-looking statements are based on our current expectations, beliefs and assumptions concerning future developments and business conditions and their potential effect on us. While management believes that these forward-looking statements are reasonable as and when made, there can be no assurance that future developments affecting us will be those that we anticipate.

Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements include failure to obtain applicable regulatory or stockholder approvals in a timely manner or otherwise; failure to satisfy other closing conditions to the proposed transactions; failure to obtain favorable opinions from counsel for each company to the effect of how Topco should be treated for United States tax purposes as a result of the proposed transaction; risks associated with tax liabilities, or changes in United States federal or international tax laws or interpretations to which they are subject, including the risk that the Internal Revenue Service disagrees that Topco is a foreign corporation for United States federal tax purposes; risks that the new businesses will not be integrated successfully or that the combined companies will not realize estimated cost savings, value of certain tax assets, synergies and growth or that such benefits may take longer to realize than expected; failure to realize anticipated benefits of the combined operations; risks relating to unanticipated costs of integration; reductions in client spending or a slowdown in client payments; unanticipated changes relating to competitive factors in the companies' industries; ability to hire and retain key personnel; ability to successfully integrate the companies' businesses; the potential impact of announcement or consummation of the proposed transaction on relationships with third parties, including clients, employees and competitors; ability to attract new clients and retain existing clients in the manner anticipated; reliance on and integration of information technology systems; changes in legislation or governmental regulations affecting the companies; international, national or local economic, social or political conditions that could adversely affect the companies or their clients; conditions in the credit markets; risks associated with assumptions the parties make in connection with the parties' critical accounting estimates and legal proceedings; and the parties' international operations, which are subject to the risks of currency fluctuations and foreign exchange controls.

All of our forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties (some of which are significant or beyond our control) and assumptions that could cause actual results to differ materially from our historical experience and our present expectations or projections. You should carefully consider the foregoing factors and the other risks and uncertainties that affect the parties' businesses, including those described in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K, Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, Current Reports on Form 8-K and other documents filed from time to time by the Company and Topco with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") and those described in Technip's annual reports, registration documents and other documents filed from time to time with the French financial markets regulator (Autorité des Marchés Financiers or the "AMF"). We wish to caution you not to place undue reliance on any forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date hereof. We undertake no obligation to publicly update or revise any of our forward-looking statements after the date they are made, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, except to the extent required by law.
