BASIS OF PRESENTATION

The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles for interim financial information and with the instructions to Form 10-Q and Article 8 of Regulation S-X. Accordingly, they do not include all of the information and footnotes required by Generally Accepted Accounting Principles for complete financial statements. The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements reflect all adjustments that, in the opinion of management, are considered necessary for a fair presentation of the financial position, results of operations, and cash flows for the periods presented. The results of operations for such periods are not necessarily indicative of the results expected for the full year or for any future period. The December 31, 2015 condensed consolidated balance sheet data was derived from audited financial statements. The accompanying financial statements should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements of Findex.com, Inc. included in the Company's Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2015 filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on April 14, 2016.

Principles of Consolidation

The condensed consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiaries. All inter-company balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

Reclassifications

Certain accounts in the Company's 2015 financial statements have been reclassified for comparative purposes to conform with the presentation in its 2016 financial statements.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. The Company bases its estimates and assumptions on current facts, historical experience and various other factors that it believes to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities and the accrual of costs and expenses that are not readily apparent from other sources. The actual results experienced by the Company may differ materially and adversely from the Company's estimates. To the extent there are material differences between the estimates and the actual results, future results of operations will be affected. Significant estimates include inventory evaluation for slow moving and obsolete items, collectability of accounts receivable, assessing intangibles for impairment, useful lives of assets, and valuation of stock based compensation.

Table of Contents

CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS

The Company considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

INVENTORY

The Company's inventories are recorded at the lower of cost or market using the first in, first out method. The Company's inventory consists of raw materials and finished goods. The Company takes into consideration certain inventory items that are slow moving and obsolete and calculates a provision for these inventory items.

INTANGIBLE ASSETS OTHER THAN GOODWILL

The Company's intangible assets consist of patents and patents pending acquired from third parties, and are recorded at cost. In accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 350-30, General Intangibles Other Than Goodwill, intangible assets with an indefinite useful life are not amortized. Intangible assets with a finite useful life are amortized on the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives, generally three to ten years. All intangible assets are tested for impairment annually during the fourth quarter.

Beneficial conversion feature

The Company from time to time may issue convertible note agreements that may have conversion prices which create an embedded beneficial conversion feature pursuant to the Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) guidance on beneficial conversion features. A beneficial conversion feature exists on the date a convertible note agreement is issued and the fair value of the underlying common stock to which the note agreement is convertible into is in excess of the remaining unallocated proceeds of the note agreement after first considering the allocation of a portion of the note agreement proceeds to the fair value of any attached equity instruments, if any related equity instruments were granted with the debt. In accordance with the EITF guidance, the intrinsic value of the beneficial conversion feature is recorded as a debt discount with a corresponding amount to additional paid in capital. The debt discount is amortized to interest expense over the life of the note agreement using the effective interest method. In the case of no termination date of the note agreement, the debt discount is fully expensed to interest expense.

REVENUE RECOGNITION

The Company recognizes revenues in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Commission Staff Accounting Bulletin (SAB) number 104, Revenue Recognition. SAB 104 clarifies application of U.S. generally accepted accounting principles to revenue transactions. Under certain circumstances, the Company recognizes revenue in accordance with the provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 139 and American Institute of Certified Public Accountants Statement of Position 00-2 (collectively referred to as “SOP 00-2”). The Company recognizes revenue when the earnings process is complete. That is, when the arrangements of the goods are documented, the pricing becomes final and collectability is reasonably assured. An allowance for bad debt is provided based on estimated losses.

Revenue is recognized when a product is delivered or shipped to the customer and all material conditions relating to the sale have been substantially performed.

In addition, within the Company’s operations as a whole, the Company derives part of its revenues from the sale of downloadable software products. The Company recognizes software revenue for software products and related services in accordance with ASC 985-605, Software Revenue Recognition. The Company recognizes revenue when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists (generally a purchase order), the Company has delivered the product, the fee is fixed or determinable and collectability is probable. In some situations, the Company receives advance payments from the Company’s customers. The Company defers revenue associated with these advance payments until the Company ships the products or offers the support.

Table of Contents

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

The Company's research and development costs consist of direct production costs, including labor directly associated with the development of projects and outside consultants, and indirect costs such as those associated with facilities use. For labor costs and costs of outside consultants, the Company records the research and development costs as a reduction against either personnel costs or professional fees. For facilities leasing related expenses, the Company records the research and development costs as a reduction against rent. For the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015, the Company recognized $47,985 and $102,693, respectively, in research and development costs.

STOCK-BASED COMPENSATION

The Company recognizes share-based compensation in accordance with ASC 718, Compensation – Stock Compensation, using the modified prospective method. ASC 718 requires that the Company measure the cost of the employee services received in exchange for an award for equity instruments based on the grant-date fair value and to recognize this cost over the requisite service period. See Note 7.

EARNINGS (LOSS) PER SHARE

The Company follows the guidance of ASC 260, Earnings Per Share, to calculate and report basic and diluted earnings per share ("EPS"). Basic EPS is computed by dividing income available to common stockholders by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding for the period. Diluted EPS is computed by giving effect to all dilutive potential shares of common stock that were outstanding during the period. For the Company, dilutive potential shares of common stock consist of the incremental shares of common stock issuable upon the exercise of stock options and warrants for all periods, convertible notes payable and the incremental shares of common stock issuable upon the conversion of convertible preferred stock.

When discontinued operations, extraordinary items, and/or the cumulative effect of an accounting change are present, income before any of such items on a per share basis represents the "control number" in determining whether potential shares of common stock are dilutive or anti-dilutive. Thus, the same number of potential shares of common stock used in computing diluted EPS for income from continuing operations is used in calculating all other reported diluted EPS amounts. In the case of a net loss, it is assumed that no incremental shares would be issued because they would be anti-dilutive. In addition, certain options and warrants are considered anti-dilutive because the exercise prices were above the average market price during the period. Anti-dilutive shares are not included in the computation of diluted EPS, in accordance with ASC 260-10-45-17.

The calculations of net loss per share for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 excluded the impact of the following potential common shares as their inclusion would be anti-dilutive.

For the Three Months Ended March 31	2016	2015
Stock options	---	---
Warrants	1,350,000	3,100,000
Convertible note payables	71,892,857	24,500,000
Total weighted average anti-dilutive potential common shares	73,242,857	27,600,000

DISCONTINUED OPERATIONS

On May 5, 2011, Findex entered into a Software Product Line Purchase Agreement with WORDsearch Corp., L.L.C. In accordance with the Software Product Line Purchase Agreement, WORDsearch agreed to acquire from Findex all of the assets associated with the QuickVerse® product line which centered around Findex's industry-leading Bible-study software program. The specific assets conveyed include, among others, the underlying software source code, registered trade names, and existing product inventories. As a result, the Company has classified any associated liabilities as well as all expenses directly related to the QuickVerse® product line from July 24, 2014 through December 31, 2014 as discontinued operations for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015. See Note 10.

Table of ContentsRECENT ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS

At March 31, 2016, there were no recent accounting pronouncements that the Company believed would have a material impact on its condensed consolidated financial statements.

NOTE 2 – GOING CONCERN

The accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, which contemplates the Company's continuation as a going concern. However, as of March 31, 2016, the Company had negative working capital of $2,356,439 and had an accumulated deficit of $5,716,801. These factors raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Management has taken several actions in an attempt to mitigate this risk. These actions include the merger as well as entering into subscription agreements and/or note payable agreements with investors. The accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments related to these uncertainties.

NOTE 5 – INTANGIBLE ASSETS

The Company's intangible assets consist of patents and patents pending acquired from third parties, and are recorded at cost. The Company amortizes the costs of its intangible assets over their estimated useful lives unless such lives of approximately 11 years. Patents pending are not amortized until the patents are issued. Amortizable intangible assets are tested for impairment based on undiscounted cash flows and, if impaired, written down to fair value based on either discounted cash flows or appraised values. Intangible assets with indefinite lives are tested for impairment, at least annually, and written down to fair value as required.

Table of Contents

The Company's intangible assets, net of accumulated amortization consisted of the following:

However, in March 2015, the Company entered into a loan modification agreement which called for the original note payable, along with the conversion feature, to be cancelled. Furthermore, the loan modification called for a replacement note to be entered into at the adjusted principal amount of $300,000, but without any conversion feature exercisable on the part of the holder. In accordance with ASC 470-50-40, the Company deemed the transaction to be a debt extinguishment due to the substantially different terms. As a result, the company recorded a gain on debt settlement of $200,000. The Company recognized a debt discount of $3,135 associated with note payable (f) and (h) as they each carried a beneficial conversion feature. See Note 1.

NOTE 8 – COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

The Company is subject to legal proceedings and claims that may arise in the ordinary course of business. In the opinion of management, the amount of potential liability the Company is likely to be found liable for otherwise incur as a result of these actions is not so much as would materially affect the Company's financial condition.

During the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015, the Company recorded revenue for sales to shareholders in the amount of $22,897 and $2,332, respectively. For the three months ended March 31, 2016, one shareholder accounted for approximately 35% of the Company's revenue and as a group the sales to shareholders accounted for approximately 46% of the Company's revenues. These revenues are recorded as revenue, related party on the Company's Condensed Consolidated Statements of Operations.

In accordance with the Software Product Line Purchase Agreement, WORDsearch agreed to acquire from Findex all of the assets associated with its QuickVerse® product line for $975,000 in cash at closing and the assumption of up to $140,000 of Findex's then-existing liabilities at closing.

On June 30, 2011, closing of the asset sale transaction governed by the Software Product Line Purchase Agreement, which is transitional in nature and expected to be ongoing through approximately the end of April, 2012, commenced. As one of the initial parts of the closing, on July 1, 2011 WORDsearch assumed possession of the physical assets conveyed in the transaction as well as control and responsibility of the business operations related to the QuickVerse® product line, including, among many other things, the receipt of revenues for sales in exchange for partial payment of the cash portion of the purchase price being paid to Findex. On April 13, 2012, Findex determined that the final closing conditions under the Software Product Line Purchase Agreement had been met, which meant that Findex was able to deliver to WORDsearch the last in a series of officer's certificates required thereunder. Having delivered such certificate to WORDsearch on April 13, 2012, the sale of the QuickVerse® product line to WORDsearch was complete.

Description of Business

Findex.com, Inc. (“Findex,” the “Company,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) headquarters and operations are based in Lake Park, Florida. Other than two legacy businesses neither of which were material to our results of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2016, we are a developer, manufacturer, and marketer of a proprietary line of specialty industrial glass-based smart surface coatings materials that have a broad range of industrial, commercial, and consumer applications. Our line of products center around a U.S. patented technology that, either on its own or when coupled with any of an array of available proprietary formula additives, offers a unique combination of beneficial surface properties that allow for a broad array of multi-surface and end-product applications. Among others, such applications include:

Heavy machinery, equipment and infrastructure throughout each of the construction, oil and gas, and mining industries

Marine industry, vessels and infrastructure

Industrial HVAC equipment, commercial refrigeration systems, and power generators

Energy production equipment, including solar and wind

Hardscapes

Management Overview

A key focus of management during the three months ended March 31, 2016 centered on increasing sales with our current resellers and distributors but also through the addition of resellers and distributors in specific vertical markets such as heavy equipment, industrial HVAC equipment, interior floor coatings and exterior hardscape coatings. In addition, management continued exploring and building relationships with potentially key strategic business partners, investors, and potential additional distributors and/or resellers of our products. Each of the strategic sell-side relationships were pointedly pursued in order to establish, further develop, and/or expand our existing customer base within certain of our most aggressively targeted verticals. For this period, and for the indefinite future, management is committed to securing and solidifying foundational relationships within each of its heavy equipment, interior/hardscape, solar, oil, gas and mining, HVAC, and marine markets, and intends to allocate its financial and human resources accordingly.

Table of Contents

During the period ending March 31, 2016, management remained focused on three primary areas identified as keys to the near-term viability, growth and prosperity of EcoSmart. One area is revenue generation, as effected through the formalization of various distribution and licensing relationships that the Company has been pursuing over time. A second area is the maximization of cash flow and return on existing assets, as effected through the refinement of internal production operations and throughput efficiencies. The third other area is corporate finance, and specifically the raising of capital necessary to bridge shortfalls in available cash, for both operational and capital investment purposes, through to the point, if at all, at which working capital and cash reserve levels are sufficient to be self-sustaining.

At this time, near-term liquidity poses a continuous challenge to us and is expected to continue to do so for the foreseeable future. Moreover, the need to find ways to stretch our very limited economic resources places ongoing strains on our very limited human resources, particularly as sales, and the resulting need for skilled product applications personnel locally throughout various parts of the U.S., are trending upwards.

Results of Operations for Quarters Ending March 31, 2016 and March 31, 2015

Statements of Operations for Three Months Ended March 31,	2016	2015	Change
Net revenues	$49,136	$42,768	$6,368

Research and development	(47,985)	(102,693)	54,708
Total operating expenses	$(264,037)	$(328,472)	$64,435
Loss from operations	$(235,642)	$(303,407)	$67,765

Gain on debt settlement	---	200,000	(200,000)
Loss before income taxes	$(264,327)	$(116,583)	$(147,744)
Income tax (provision)	---	---	---
Net loss from operations	$(264,327)	$(116,583)	$(147,744)

The differing results of operations are primarily attributable to the following for the three months ended March 31, 2016:

an increase in net revenues resulting from increasing sales of our products in each of our commercial HVAC and heavy construction applications verticals;
a decrease in our other general and administrative costs resulting from a deliberate campaign of broad-ranging cutbacks in expenses;

a decrease in research and development related expenses for the three months ended March 31, 2016 compared to the three months ended March 31, 2015 during which we issued stock as compensation to three consultants for their advisory services in connection with our research and development, and certain business development, initiatives; and a decrease in gain on debt settlement for the three months ended March 31, 2016 compared to the three months ended March 31, 2015 during which we realized an accounting gain in connection with a settlement agreement entered into with a current note holder.

Although there can be no assurance, in future periods, we anticipate an increase in overall Company revenues as well as an increase in overall sales, marketing and general and administrative expenses due to our anticipated growth and expansion in certain vertical markets.

Table of ContentsRevenues

Our net revenues increased approximately $6,000 from approximately $43,000 for the three months ended March 31, 2015 to approximately $49,000 for the three months ended March 31, 2016. The increase in net revenues is mainly attributable to increasing sales of our products in each of our commercial HVAC and heavy construction applications verticals. Although there can be no assurance, we anticipate an increase in overall Company revenues in future periods as we continue to pursue a variety of vertical markets that management has targeted over the past year as near-term opportunities for revenue growth.

Cost of Sales

Cost of Sales for Operations for Three Months Ended March 31,	2016	% of Sales	2015	% of Sales	Change $
Direct costs	$15,829	32 %	$12,140	28 %	$3,689
Royalties	1,655	3 %	3,310	8 %	(1,655)
Freight	3,257	7 %	2,253	5 %	1,004
Cost of sales	$20,741	42 %	$17,703	41 %	$3,038

Cost of sales consists primarily of direct costs, royalties accrued to third party providers of intellectual property, and the costs associated with reproducing, packaging, and shipping our products. As a percentage of net revenues, our cost of sales slightly increased from 41% for the three months ended March 31, 2015 to 42% for the three months ended March 31, 2016. The overall increase in cost of sales for the three months ended March 31, 2016 are attributable to the following:

- an increase in direct costs associated with the purchase of larger quantities of raw materials;
- a decrease in royalties due to an decrease in sales of products that carry a royalty obligation; and
- an increase in freight resulting from an increase in sales as well as the increase in purchases of raw materials.

Into the immediate future, we anticipate that our direct costs are likely to increase in real dollar terms based on escalating sales volume coupled with the likelihood of a continuing inability to make materials purchases in bulk at meaningfully discounted rates. Though there can be no assurance that our cash position and financial condition will improve over time, if it does, we intend to take advantage of bulk purchasing opportunities at discounted rates. More generally, we anticipate that our cost of sales will increase in the future in direct proportion to increases in top line growth.

Sales, General and Administrative

Sales, General and Administrative Costs for Operations for Three Months Ended March 31, Selected expenses:	2016	% of Sales	2015	% of Sales	Change $	%

Total general and administrative	$258,775	527 %	$325,913	762 %	$(67,138)	21 %
Total sales, marketing, general and administrative	$264,037	537 %	$328,472	768 %	$(64,435)	20 %

Table of Contents

Our research and development costs consist of direct production costs, including labor directly associated with the development of projects and outside consultants, and indirect costs, such as those associated with facilities leasing and related overhead. For labor costs and costs of outside consultants, we record the research and development costs as a reduction against either personnel costs or contract services. For facilities leasing related expenses, we record the research and development costs as a reduction against rent. For the three months ended March 31, 2016, we reclassified to research and development approximately $38,100 from total personnel costs and approximately $9,000 from rent.

The differing results of total sales, marketing, general and administrative costs are primarily attributable to the following for the three months ended March 31, 2016:

an increase in advertising and direct marketing resulting from an increase in our direct marketing efforts and our having attended and sponsored a booth at an industry trade show for the three months ended March 31, 2016; a decrease in research and development for the three months ended March 31, 2016 compared to the three months ended March 31, 2015 during which we issued stock as compensation to three consultants for their advisory services in connection with our research and development, and certain business development, initiatives; a decrease in business development services; and a decrease in travel and entertainment expenses for the three months ended March 31, 2016 compared to the three months ended March 31, 2015 during which we were represented at the 2015 International Coatings Show in Germany.

For the immediate future, and although there can be no assurance, we would anticipate our sales, marketing, general and administrative costs to increase in the future in direct proportion to top line growth.

Gain on Debt Settlement

For the three months ended March 31, 2015, we recognized a gain on debt settlement in the amount of $200,000. This gain is a result of entering into a loan modification agreement with a shareholder that had held an outstanding convertible note agreement in the amount of $250,000 which, until modified, carried a conversion feature that had the accounting effect of increasing the derivative liability associated with the obligation from $250,000 to $500,000. The loan modification called for the original convertible note payable ($250,000), along with the conversion feature ($250,000), dated July 2014 to be cancelled. In addition, the loan modification called for a replacement note payable to be issued by us in the adjusted, aggregate principal amount of $300,000, but without any conversion feature. All other terms of the original note agreement carried over to the replacement note unchanged. As a result, we recognized a net gain of $200,000, and we have treated it as a gain from extinguishment of debt and included it in the "Gain on debt settlement" line item on our Condensed Consolidated Statement of Operations for the three months ended March 31, 2015.

Income Taxes

For the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015, based on uncertainty about the timing of and ability to generate future taxable income and our assessment that the realization of the deferred tax assets no longer met the “more likely than not” criterion for realization, we provided for a full valuation allowance against our net deferred tax assets. If we determine that it is more likely than not that we will be able to realize our deferred tax assets in the future, an adjustment to the deferred tax asset valuation allowance would be recorded in the period when such determination is made.

Liquidity And Capital Resources

Our primary needs for liquidity and capital resources are the working capital requirements of our continued operations, which includes raw materials procurement, production personnel, service applications personnel, the ongoing internal development of new products and expansion and upgrade of existing products, marketing and sales, and executive salaries and insurance benefit obligations. Although cash generated through our current operations may prove sufficient to sustain such operations, there can be no assurance of such a result, and, in any event, our pursuit of an aggressive growth plan, as currently exists, will likely require funding from outside sources. Funding from outside sources may include but is not limited to the pursuit of other financing options such as commercial loans or public or private sales of securities, including common stock, preferred stock and/or convertible notes or debentures. The Company’s cash on hand as of March 31, 2016 is not sufficient to support our operations for the next twelve months.

Working Capital	March 31, 2016	December 31, 2015
Current assets	$111,271	$31,699
Current liabilities	$2,467,710	$2,149,954
Accumulated deficit	$5,716,801	$5,452,474

Table of Contents

Liquidity for our day-to-day continuing operations remains a very serious ongoing concern for us, and there can be no continuing assurance of it remaining manageable.

Cash Flows for Three Months Ended March 31,	2016	2015	Change	%
Cash flows used in operating activities	$(122,783)	$(148,068)	$25,285	17%
Cash flows provided in investing activities	$---	$---	$---	0%
Cash flows provided by financing activities	$195,000	$267,500	$(72,500)	27%

Net cash used in operating activities for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 consisted mainly of payments going out for personnel, accounts payable items and accrued expenses.

For the three months ended March 31, 2016, cash provided by financing activities was the result of proceeds from the issuance of convertible debt. Comparatively, cash provided by financing activities for the three months ended March 31, 2015 was the result of proceeds from the sale of shares of our common stock.

Financing

Given practical considerations, we believe that our ability to meaningfully pursue our business plan in the immediate term will depend on the availability of working capital, the precise amount of which is uncertain as the date of this quarterly filing on Form 10-Q given certain variables surrounding our ability to generate funds internally, including through both sales of product and/or territorial distributorships. To the extent that it becomes necessary to access funds through a public or private sales of securities, as we have been doing and expect to continue to have to do for the foreseeable future, this is likely to be pursued through one or more offerings involving common stock, preferred stock and/or convertible notes or debentures. In connection with any such financings, it may become necessary given market conditions and the unavailability of alternative options for us to issue additional shares of our common stock or securities exchangeable for shares of our common stock, including but not limited to convertible preferred stock or convertible notes or debentures containing so-called “floorless convertible” provisions that can be, and often are, extremely dilutive to existing stockholders upon conversion. Any such issuances, as well as any related issuances of common stock or other purchase warrants, would likely have the effect of depressing the market price of our common stock and diluting the interests of our common stockholders, potentially very significantly.

Although, until very recently, no attempt had been made for many years to secure any bank or other secured financing due to management’s practical conclusion that it would be an unproductive allocation of human resources given our historic revenue and cash flow levels, internal financial ratios, and negative working capital position, preliminary initiatives are currently underway to attempt to do so. There can be no assurance, however, that we will be successful in securing any such financing unless and until our revenues and cash flows substantially increase, and our internal financial ratios dramatically improve.

Discontinued Operations

On May 5, 2011, we entered into a Software Product Line Purchase Agreement to sell the QuickVerse® product line to WORDsearch. On June 30, 2011, closing of the asset sale transaction governed by the Software Product Line Purchase Agreement, which was transitional in nature and expected to be ongoing through approximately the end of April, 2012, commenced. As one of the initial parts of the closing, on July 1, 2011 WORDsearch assumed possession of the physical assets conveyed in the transaction as well as control and responsibility of the business operations related to the QuickVerse® product line, including, among many other things, the receipt of revenues for sales in exchange for partial payment of the cash portion of the purchase price being paid to us. On April 13, 2012, we determined that the final closing conditions under the Software Product Line Purchase Agreement had been met, and the sale of the QuickVerse® product line to WORDsearch was complete. As a result, we have classified this asset as discontinued operations for the three months ended March 31, 2016.

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

As required by paragraph (b) of Rule 13a-15 under the Exchange Act, our principal executive and principal financial officers are responsible for assessing the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rule 13a-15(f) under the Exchange Act). Accordingly, we maintain disclosure controls and procedures designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed in our filings under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the Securities and Exchange Commission’s rules and forms. Our Chief Executive Officer/Chief Financial Officer has evaluated our disclosure controls and procedures as of the end of the period covered by this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q March 31, 2016, and has determined that such disclosure controls and procedures are not effective. Our disclosure controls and procedures are not effective as a result of the material weakness in internal control over financial reporting because of inadequate segregation of duties over authorization, review and recording of transactions as well as the financial reporting of such transactions. Management is attempting to develop a plan to mitigate the above material weaknesses.

Changes in Internal Controls
