MATERIAL FACT

Pricing Policy

Rio de Janeiro, November 29th, 2013 – Petróleo Brasileiro S.A. – Petrobras informs about the diesel and gasoline pricing policy, appreciated by its board of directors, that will be implemented from November 29th, 2013.

The referred policy aims at achieving the following principles and objectives:

- a) Guarantee that indebtedness and leverage ratios return to within the limits established in the 2013 - 2017 Business and Management Plan in up to 24 months, considering the oil production growth and the application of this diesel and gasoline pricing policy;

- b) Reach, in a compatible time period, the alignment between Brazilian and international prices;

c) Prevent transferring the volatility of international prices to the domestic consumer.

Already aligned with the principles of this pricing policy, Petrobras announces the following increases in prices at the refinery gate, with effect from November 30th, 2013.

| Product | Increase (*) |
|----------------|---------------------|
| Gasoline A | 4% |
| Diesel | 8% |

(*) average Brazil

The price of diesel and gasoline to which these adjustments apply to do not include federal taxes (CIDE and PIS/Cofins) and state taxes (ICMS).

Following the recommendation of its board of directors, for commercial reasons, the parameters of the pricing methodology will be strictly internal to Petrobras.

It is a responsibility of the board of directors to evaluate the effectiveness of the pricing policy through the assessment of the evolution of indebtedness and leverage ratios.
