FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JACK DANIEL'S LEADS BROWN-FORMAN TO RECORD SECOND QUARTER RESULTS

Louisville, KY, November 23, 2004 - Brown-Forman Corporation reported diluted earnings per share for its second quarter ended October 31, 2004 of $0.84, up 16% from the same period last year. The increase in quarterly earnings was driven by excellent underlying profit growth from the company's premium spirits portfolio, led by the strongest performance by Jack Daniel's Tennessee Whiskey in many years, and benefits from a weaker U.S. dollar. Partially offsetting these gains were lower profits from the company's portfolio of wine brands, softness in the Consumer Durables segment, and incremental operating expenses in the Beverage segment.

In addition to the impact of favorable foreign exchange, earnings growth in the quarter was affected by a net increase in global trade inventories for the company's premium spirits brands, introductory spending behind the company's new low-carbohydrate wine products, incremental pension expense, and third party advisory fees related to the prospective sale of the company's interest in Glenmorangie plc announced last month. Excluding these factors, the company's quarterly earnings per share grew 7%, as follows:

|-----------------------------------|-------|
| Reported EPS growth | 16% |
| Adjustments: | |
| Favorable foreign exchange | (10%) |
| Net increase in trade inventories | (4%) |
| Other, from above | 5% |

| Adjusted EPS growth | 7%* |

*Beverages +11%; Consumer Durables (4%)

For the first six months of the fiscal year, earnings per share on a diluted basis were $1.26, up 29% from the same period last year. The year-to-date earnings compare favorably to last year due to robust growth for both Jack Daniel's and Southern Comfort, favorable foreign exchange trends, the absence of legal settlement expenses incurred in the first quarter of the prior year, and profits from the company's new low-carbohydrate wine brands. These increases were partially offset by continued weakness in the Consumer Durables segment.

Beverages

In the second quarter, Beverage segment revenue increased 14% and gross profit increased 17%, fueled by volume growth and margin improvement for Jack Daniel's, favorable foreign exchange rates, and an increase in global trade inventories for the company's premium spirits brands. Advertising expenses were up 12% in the quarter, due to increased investments behind the segment's premium spirits brands designed to take advantage of the increasingly favorable consumer environment for distilled spirits, particularly in the U.S., and spending to support the segment's new low-carbohydrate wine brands. SG&A expenses were up 12%, as the segment recorded higher compensation expenses, incremental pension expenses and the Glenmorangie transaction fees. Overall Beverage segment operating income was up 22% for the quarter. Adjusting for the impact of foreign exchange, higher net trade inventories for premium spirits, introductory advertising investments behind the company's low-carbohydrate wine brands, incremental pension expenses, and Glenmorangie transaction fees, Beverage segment operating income grew 10% for the quarter.

Edgar Filing: BROWN FORMAN CORP - Form 8-K

Global depletions for Jack Daniel's increased in the high single digits for the quarter, reflecting growth in nearly all markets, but most notably in the U.S., United Kingdom, Germany, South Africa, and China. (Depletions are shipments from wholesale distributors to retailers, and are commonly regarded in the wine and spirits industry as an approximate measure of consumer demand.) Shipment growth for the brand was several percentage points higher than the quarter's depletion growth, primarily as a result of distributors and importers increasing their inventory positions more than expected in advance of the holiday season. In addition to higher shipment volumes, Jack Daniel's global profitability was boosted by favorable foreign exchange and underlying margin improvement. Jack Daniel's last six and twelve month volume growth represents the best performance by the brand in many years, and it has been driven by strong, consistent brand investment, excellent marketing programs, and focused sales support in an environment that is very favorable for premium spirits brands. Jack Daniel's remains the company's single most important brand and its continued growth is the company's top strategic priority.

Worldwide depletions for Southern Comfort grew in the low single digits for the quarter, led by solid performance in the U.S. and Germany. Global depletions for Finlandia Vodka were up in the mid single digits for the quarter, led by increases in the U.S. and Poland, the brand's largest markets. Depletions for Jack Daniel's ready-to-drink products were up strongly in the quarter, driven primarily by continued robust growth in Australia.

Profits declined in the quarter for the company's wine brands, reflecting lower volume and margins for Fetzer Premium Varietals and advertising investments supporting the retail introduction of new low-carbohydrate wine brands. Initial shipments to establish trade inventories of these new wines benefited this fiscal year's first quarter.

Consumer Durables

Net sales for Consumer Durables declined 11% for the quarter, as the segment experienced softness in each of its three channels of distribution -- wholesale, retail, and direct-to-consumer. Operating profit of $13.4 million was 30% below the prior year. Favorable year-to-date results from the company's kate spade line of fine china and rigorous reductions in operating expenses were insufficient to offset weakness in consumer demand throughout the tabletop and giftware categories. This segment's full year performance is heavily dependent on the holiday season, and, accordingly, the company remains cautious regarding the outlook for the remainder of the year.

Earnings Outlook

Underlying business trends for the company's premium spirits brands remain solid. However, excluding the gain on the prospective sale of the Glenmorangie shareholding, the company expects modest growth in earnings per share for the remainder of the fiscal year. This outlook reflects:

Edgar Filing: BROWN FORMAN CORP - Form 8-K

- a potential fourth quarter reduction in trade inventories as a result of possible new distribution arrangements in several international markets;
- double-digit growth in advertising investments behind the company's spirits brands;
- a continuation of intense price competition in the U.S. table wine category and challenging business conditions for the Consumer Durables segment;
- modest benefits from foreign exchange; and
- higher pension expenses.

Brown-Forman is narrowing its guidance for fiscal 2005 diluted earnings per share to a range of $2.38-$2.43, excluding the anticipated $0.36 to $0.38 per share gain from the sale of its Glenmorangie shareholding.

Subsequent Event

On November 22, the company announced that it has reached agreement with the Altia Corporation of Finland ("Altia") to acquire the remaining 20% of the capital stock of Finlandia Vodka Worldwide Ltd. ("FVW") for 46.8 million euros (or approximately $61 million at the current exchange rate). Brown-Forman and Altia have jointly owned FVW since 2000.

Brown-Forman acquired 45% of FVW in 2000 and an additional 35% in 2002. The 2002 agreement granted Altia an option to require Brown-Forman to buy its remaining interest in FVW during a two year window beginning December 31, 2004. The new transaction reflects Altia's exercise of that option, and will give Brown-Forman 100% ownership of FVW. Closing is expected to occur in the company's third quarter. Altia, the leading Finnish wine and spirits company, will continue to produce the highly acclaimed vodka as exclusive supplier of Finlandia to Brown-Forman.

Brown-Forman has marketed and sold Finlandia Vodka for Altia in the United States since 1996. After it acquired a majority equity interest in 2002, Brown-Forman assumed distribution and marketing responsibilities for the brand in almost all global markets as well.

IMPORTANT NOTE ON FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS:

This news release contains statements, estimates, or projections that constitute "forward-looking statements" as defined under U.S. federal securities laws. Generally, the words "expect," "believe," "intend," "estimate," "will," "anticipate," and "project," and similar expressions identify a forward-looking statement, which speaks only as of the date the statement is made. Except as required by law, we do not intend to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events, or otherwise.

We believe that the expectations and assumptions with respect to our forward-looking statements are reasonable. But by their nature, forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors that in some cases are out of our control. These factors could cause our actual results to differ materially from Brown-Forman's historical experience or our present expectations or projections. Here is a non-exclusive list of such risks and uncertainties:

- changes in general economic conditions, particularly in the United States where we earn the majority of our profits;
- a strengthening U.S. dollar against foreign currencies, especially the British Pound;
- reduced bar, restaurant, hotel and travel business in wake of other terrorist attacks, such as occurred on 9/11;
- developments in the class action lawsuits filed against Brown-Forman and other spirits, beer and wine manufacturers alleging that our advertising causes illegal consumption of alcohol by those under the legal drinking age, or other attempts to limit alcohol marketing, through either litigation or regulation;
- a dramatic change in consumer preferences, social trends or cultural trends that results in the reduced consumption of our premium spirits brands;
- tax increases, whether at the federal or state level;
- increases in the price of grain and grapes;
- continued depressed retail prices and margins in our wine business because of our excess wine inventories, existing grape contract obligations, and a world-wide oversupply of grapes; and
- the effects on our Consumer Durables business of the general economy, department store business, response rates in our direct marketing business, and profitability of mall outlet operations.
