Item 8.01 Other Events.

On April 16, 2013, management of Valor Gold Corp. (the “Company”) made a determination that it would be in the best interest of the Company and its shareholders to explore additional business opportunities and strategic alliances. This decision follows an analysis of the Company’s current mining prospects coupled with the current economic climate relating to the gold market in general, which has experienced a significant downturn. We plan on continuing our current business (as a junior exploration company) while exploring new strategic and developmental opportunities, including acquisitions, strategic alliances, consolidations or other partnering arrangements. Additionally, we may explore new opportunities in other business sectors that may be divergent from our historical business focus as an exploration stage gold and minerals company, in which case, we may choose to divest our historical business. To date, we have not entered into any binding agreements or made any formal decision regarding any of the foregoing.
