QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE MERGER

Q: What will happen if the merger is completed?

A: TRW will be acquired by Northrop Grumman through the merger of a wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman with and into TRW. After the merger, TRW will continue as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman.

Q: What will TRW shareholders receive in the merger?

A: In the merger, each share of common stock of TRW will be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock equal to the exchange ratio described below.

Q: How is the exchange ratio calculated?

A: The exchange ratio is calculated by dividing $60.00 by the average closing sales prices for a share of Northrop Grumman common stock on the New York Stock Exchange during the five consecutive trading days ending on (and including) the second trading day before the closing date of the merger. However, the five-day average closing sale price used in calculating the exchange ratio will not be less than $112.00 or greater than $138.00, even if the actual average sale price is lower than $112.00 or higher than $138.00. Therefore, the exchange ratio will not be greater than 0.5357 ($60.00/$112.00) or less than 0.4348 ($60.00/$138.00), even if the actual average sale price per share of Northrop Grumman common stock used to calculate the exchange ratio is less than $112.00 or greater than $138.00.

Q: When will the merger be completed?

A: The companies believe that the merger can be completed in the fourth quarter of 2002. However, the merger cannot be completed without first receiving the approvals of the Northrop Grumman stockholders and the TRW shareholders described in this joint proxy statement/prospectus, and the merger also must be approved by United States and European antitrust regulatory authorities, among other things. As a result, the merger could be delayed for some time, and if the companies do not receive the necessary stockholder, shareholder and governmental approvals, the companies would not be able to complete the merger.

Q: When and where are the special meetings?

A: The Northrop Meeting will be held at The Fairmont Miramar Hotel, 101 Wilshire Boulevard, Santa Monica, California 90401 at [_____] a.m. Los Angeles time on [____], 2002.

The TRW Meeting will be held at TRW's executive offices at 1900 Richmond Road, Cleveland, Ohio 44124 at 8:30 a.m. Cleveland time on [____], 2002.

Q: What stockholder or shareholder approvals are required for the merger?

A: Assuming a quorum is present at the Northrop Meeting, the holders of a majority of the votes cast at the Northrop Meeting must affirmatively vote to approve the issuance of the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger.

The holders of at least two-thirds of the outstanding shares of TRW common stock must affirmatively vote to adopt the merger agreement.

Q: How does my board of directors recommend I vote?

A: The board of directors of Northrop Grumman (with one director absent) unanimously recommends that Northrop Grumman stockholders vote FOR the issuance of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger.

The board of directors of TRW (with one director absent) unanimously recommends that TRW shareholders vote FOR the adoption of the merger agreement.

This summary does not contain all of the information that may be important to Northrop Grumman stockholders and TRW shareholders and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the information contained elsewhere in, or incorporated by reference into, this joint proxy statement/prospectus. Stockholders are urged to read the entire joint proxy statement/prospectus, including the information set forth in the section entitled RISK FACTORS beginning on page 12, and the attached exhibits and annexes. See ADDITIONAL INFORMATION on page 103.

Overview of the Merger

Northrop Grumman, TRW and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman known as Richmond Acquisition Corp. have entered into a merger agreement providing for Northrop Grumman's acquisition of TRW through a merger of Richmond Acquisition Corp. with and into TRW. In the merger, each share of common stock of TRW will be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock equal to the exchange ratio.

The exchange ratio will be determined by dividing $60.00 by the average of the closing sales prices for a share of Northrop Grumman common stock on the New York Stock Exchange during the five consecutive trading days ending on (and including) the second trading day before the closing date of the merger. However, in no event will the exchange ratio be greater than 0.5357 ($60.00/$112.00) or less than 0.4348 ($60.00/$138.00).

Promptly following completion of the merger, Northrop Grumman intends to divest TRW's Automotive business either by selling that business to a third party or parties or by spinning it off to Northrop Grumman's stockholders (including the former TRW shareholders), as described in greater detail in the section entitled NORTHROP GRUMMAN AFTER THE MERGER Proposed Sale or Spin Off of TRW's Automotive Business beginning on page 77.

TRW (Page 28)

On that date, [] shares of TRW common stock were outstanding and entitled to vote, of which a total of [] shares were held by TRW's directors and executive officers.

The holders of two-thirds of the outstanding shares of TRW common stock must affirmatively vote to adopt the merger agreement.

Changing a Vote After a Proxy Card Has Been Sent

Northrop Grumman Stockholders (Page 26)

Northrop Grumman stockholders may revoke their proxies at any time before they are voted by delivering a written notice of revocation to Northrop Grumman's Corporate Secretary, by signing and delivering another BLUE proxy with a later date or by submitting a telephone or internet proxy at a date after the date of the previously submitted proxy and before the vote at the meeting. A Northrop Grumman stockholder attending the Northrop Meeting in person may revoke any previously submitted proxy card by giving notice of revocation to an inspector of election at the meeting or by voting at the Northrop Meeting. If any other matters are properly brought before the Northrop Meeting, the enclosed BLUE proxy card gives discretionary authority to the persons named on the card to vote the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock represented by the card in their discretion. Each Northrop Grumman stockholder whose shares are held in the name of a bank, broker or other nominee holder must follow the directions received from his or her bank, broker or other nominee holder in order to direct the vote of his or her Northrop Grumman shares.

TRW Shareholders (Page 28)

TRW shareholders may revoke their proxies at any time before they are voted by delivering a written notice of revocation to TRW's Corporate Secretary, by signing and delivering another YELLOW proxy with a later date or by submitting a telephone or internet proxy at a date after the date of the previously submitted proxy and before the vote at the meeting. A TRW shareholder attending the TRW Meeting in person may revoke any previously submitted proxy by giving notice of revocation to an inspector of election at the meeting or by voting at the TRW Meeting. If any other matters are properly brought before the TRW Meeting, the enclosed YELLOW proxy card gives discretionary authority to the persons named on the card to vote the shares of TRW common stock represented by the card in their discretion. Each TRW shareholder whose shares are held in the name of a bank, broker or other nominee holder must follow the directions received from his or her bank, broker or other nominee holder in order to direct the vote of his or her TRW shares.

Certain TRW shares are held for the benefit of plan participants of The TRW Employee Stock Ownership and Savings Plan, the TRW Canada Stock Savings Plan, and the TRW UK Share Purchase Plan. These plans contain pass-through voting provisions for the participants of the Plans, with shares that are allocated to a participant's account voted in accordance with the instructions of the participant by the trustees of the respective plan responsible for voting. Information relating to voting by participants in these stock-based TRW employee benefit plans is set forth in the section entitled "THE TRW MEETING TRW Employee Plan Voting" beginning on page 30.

Quorum at the Special Meetings (Pages 27 and 30)

A quorum must be present in order to transact business at each of the special meetings. If a Northrop Grumman stockholder or a TRW shareholder submits a properly executed proxy card, telephonic proxy or internet proxy, even if that person abstains from voting, his or her shares will be counted for purposes of calculating whether a quorum is present at the Northrop Meeting and the TRW Meeting, as applicable.

A quorum at the Northrop Meeting requires a majority of the outstanding shares of Northrop Grumman common stock entitled to vote to be present or represented by proxy at the special meeting.

A quorum at the TRW Meeting requires thirty-five percent of the voting power of TRW's outstanding stock to be present in person or represented by proxy at the TRW Meeting. However, since the merger agreement must be adopted by the holders of at least two-thirds of the outstanding shares of TRW common stock, the presence of a quorum alone might not mean that sufficient shares are present in person or by proxy to adopt the merger agreement.

Effect of Abstentions and Broker Non-Votes (Pages 27 and 30)

Both abstentions and broker non-votes will be counted in determining whether a quorum is present at the Northrop Meeting and the TRW Meeting.

Abstentions and broker non-votes will have no effect on the outcome of the Northrop Grumman proposal, assuming a quorum is present.

Since the vote at the TRW Meeting required to adopt the merger agreement is based upon a percentage of the total outstanding voting power of TRW rather than upon the percentage of the votes cast at the TRW Meeting, abstentions and broker non-votes will have the same effect as a vote against the adoption of the merger agreement.

It is very important that ALL Northrop Grumman stockholders and ALL TRW shareholders vote their shares, so please complete and return the enclosed proxy card today!

Board Recommendations

Northrop Grumman's Board Recommendation (Page 31)

Northrop Grumman's board of directors (with one director absent) has unanimously determined that the terms of the merger are fair to and in the best interests of Northrop Grumman stockholders, has unanimously approved the merger agreement and unanimously recommends that Northrop Grumman stockholders vote FOR the issuance of the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger (including shares to be issued upon exercise of TRW options deemed assumed by Northrop Grumman, or issued upon conversion of TRW restricted stock or restricted stock units, pursuant to the merger agreement).

TRW's Board Recommendation (Page 32)

TRW's board of directors (with one director absent) has unanimously determined that the terms of the merger are fair to and in the best interests of TRW shareholders, has unanimously approved the merger agreement and unanimously recommends that TRW shareholders vote FOR the adoption of the merger agreement.

Table of Contents

The Merger

The rights and obligations of the parties to the merger agreement are governed by the specific terms and conditions of the merger agreement and not by any summary or other information in this joint proxy statement/prospectus. Therefore, the information in this joint proxy statement/prospectus regarding the merger agreement and the merger is qualified in its entirety by reference to the merger agreement itself, a copy of which is attached as Annex A to this joint proxy statement/prospectus.

TRW Common Stock (Page 65)

For each share of TRW common stock, TRW shareholders will receive a number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock equal to $60.00 divided by the average of the closing sale prices for a share of Northrop Grumman common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the five consecutive trading days ending on (and including) the second trading day before the closing date of the merger. However, in no event will the exchange ratio be more than 0.5357 ($60.00/$112.00) or less than 0.4348 ($60.00/$138.00). If the actual average sale price is less than $112.00, TRW shareholders should expect to receive less than $60.00 in value of Northrop Grumman common stock per share of TRW common stock, and if the actual average sale price is more than $138.00, TRW shareholders should expect to receive more than $60.00 in value of Northrop Grumman common stock per share of TRW common stock. While the exchange ratio is designed to provide TRW shareholders with Northrop Grumman common stock with a value of $60.00 for each TRW common share if the average Northrop Grumman common stock price over the relevant period is between $112.00 to $138.00, the exchange ratio merely determines the number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock that a TRW shareholder will receive per share of TRW common stock. See RISK FACTORS The Value of Northrop Grumman Common Stock Exchanged for TRW Common Stock Could Be Different Than $60.00 Per Share on page 12. As described in the section entitled Comparison of Rights of Holders of Northrop Grumman Common Stock and TRW Common Stock Rights Plan, each share of Northrop Grumman common stock issued pursuant to the merger will be issued together with an associated preferred share purchase right.

If the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock proposed to be issued pursuant to the merger were issued on August 9, 2002, then approximately 75,907,126 shares would be issued, based on an exchange ratio calculated using the average closing sales prices of Northrop Grumman common stock between August 6, 2002 and August 12, 2002. However, because this number is based on trading prices of Northrop Grumman common stock that continue to change, more or fewer shares of Northrop Grumman common stock ultimately may be issued in the merger.

TRW Employee and Director Stock Options (Page 66)

Each holder of options to acquire TRW common stock will be entitled to elect, prior to the effective time of the merger, to have such options redeemed by TRW for cash, unless either TRW or Northrop Grumman reasonably determines that there is an undue risk that such an election could be deemed to be a tender offer for TRW common stock by TRW. Any TRW options outstanding at the effective time of the merger will be deemed assumed by Northrop Grumman and will be subject to the same terms and conditions as in effect prior to the merger, except that any unvested TRW options will become vested at the effective time of the merger and the assumed options will be exercisable for shares of Northrop Grumman common stock, with the number of shares and exercise price determined pursuant to the merger agreement.

Other TRW equity-based awards will be cancelled in connection with the merger and the holders of such awards will receive either lump sum cash payments, shares of Northern Grumman common stock based on the exchange ratio, or have their awards assumed by Northrop Grumman. TRW strategic incentive program grants will be cancelled in exchange for lump sum cash payments calculated on the assumption that maximum performance goals are reached. However, grants under the 2001-2002 strategic incentive program will be cancelled in exchange for lump sum payments equal to one-half of the maximum value of such grants.

Opinions of Financial Advisers

Northrop Grumman (Page 39)

In connection with Northrop Grumman's consideration of the merger, Northrop Grumman received financial advice from Salomon Smith Barney and Stephens Financial Group. Each of Salomon Smith Barney and Stephens Financial Group has provided separately its opinion to Northrop Grumman's board of directors, each dated June 30, 2002, that as of that date and subject to the qualifications and limitations and based on the considerations in each respective opinion, the exchange ratio to be used in the merger was fair, from a financial point of view to Northrop Grumman.

The opinions of Salomon Smith Barney and Stephens Financial Group are attached as Annexes B and C, respectively, to this joint proxy statement/prospectus.

TRW's board of directors considered the opinion of each of Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Credit Suisse First Boston Corporation, each dated June 30, 2002, to the effect that, as of that date, and based on and subject to the assumptions, qualifications and limitations described in their respective opinions, the exchange ratio pursuant to the merger agreement was fair from a financial point of view to the holders of TRW common stock other than Northrop Grumman and its affiliates. The opinions of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston are attached as Annexes D and E, respectively, to this joint proxy statement/prospectus.

Redemption of TRW Preferred Stock (Page 66)

Pursuant to the merger agreement, each outstanding share of TRW Cumulative Serial Preference Stock II, $4.40 Convertible Series 1 and each outstanding share of TRW Cumulative Serial Preference Stock II, $4.50 Convertible Series 3, will be redeemed for cash by TRW on August 30, 2002, which is prior to the record date for the TRW Meeting. Therefore, the holders of such securities will not be entitled to notice of, or to vote at, the TRW Meeting, and the approval of such TRW shareholders is not required to adopt the merger agreement.

Conditions to the Merger (Page 71)

The completion of the merger is subject to the satisfaction or valid waiver of the following conditions, among others:

Northrop Grumman stockholders must approve the issuance of the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger (including shares to be issued upon exercise of TRW options deemed assumed by Northrop Grumman, or issued upon conversion of TRW restricted stock or restricted stock units, pursuant to the merger agreement);

TRW shareholders must adopt the merger agreement;

the waiting periods under the HSR Act must have expired or terminated;

the European Commission must have approved the merger;

there must be no law or court order prohibiting the merger;

Northrop Grumman and TRW each must have performed in all material respects their respective covenants and obligations to be performed at or prior to the effective time of the merger pursuant to the merger agreement; and the representations and warranties of the respective parties made in the merger agreement must be true and correct.

These conditions and other conditions to the merger are more fully described in the section entitled THE MERGER AGREEMENT Conditions to the Completion of the Merger on page 71.

Termination of the Merger Agreement (Page 73)

Pursuant to the merger agreement, Northrop Grumman and TRW may agree to terminate the merger agreement at any time before the merger is completed.

Either Northrop Grumman or TRW may terminate the merger agreement if:

the merger is not consummated by December 31, 2002 (or by March 31, 2003, if the only conditions to the merger that have not been satisfied relate to antitrust or governmental approvals or other legal prohibitions of the merger);

the Northrop Grumman stockholders do not approve the issuance of the Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger at the Northrop Meeting;

the TRW shareholders do not adopt the merger agreement at the TRW Meeting;

any law or regulation or legal action prohibits the merger; or there is a breach of a representation, warranty or covenant in the merger agreement by the other party, as described in greater detail in THE MERGER AGREEMENT Termination of the Merger Agreement on page 73.

Northrop Grumman may terminate the merger agreement if:

TRW's board of directors changes its recommendation to the TRW shareholders regarding adoption of the merger agreement (whether or not permitted by the merger agreement);

TRW fails to call the TRW Meeting; or

TRW's board of directors recommends a proposal other than the merger to its shareholders.

TRW may terminate the merger agreement if:

Northrop Grumman's board of directors changes its recommendation to Northrop Grumman stockholders regarding the issuance of Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger (whether or not permitted by the merger agreement);

Northrop Grumman fails to call the Northrop Meeting; or TRW's board of directors has first complied with certain provisions of the non-solicitation covenant in the merger agreement, as described in THE MERGER AGREEMENT Termination of the Merger Agreement on page 73.

Termination Fee and Expense Reimbursement

Termination Fee (Page 74)

TRW must pay Northrop Grumman a termination fee of $275 million if the merger agreement is terminated by Northrop Grumman under certain circumstances described in the section entitled THE MERGER AGREEMENT Termination Fee on page 74.

Expense Reimbursement (Page 75)

Northrop Grumman must reimburse TRW for up to $50 million of documented expenses if the merger agreement is terminated by TRW because Northrop Grumman's board of directors changes its recommendation to its stockholders or Northrop Grumman fails to call the Northrop Meeting. See THE MERGER AGREEMENT Expense Reimbursement on page 75.

No Solicitation (Page 75)

The merger agreement contains non-solicitation provisions which prohibit TRW from soliciting or engaging in discussions or negotiations regarding a competing proposal to the merger. There are exceptions to these prohibitions if TRW receives a proposal for a transaction from a third party under circumstances set forth in the merger agreement.

Certain Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Merger (Page 59)

Consummation of the merger is conditioned upon the receipt by Northrop Grumman and TRW of tax opinions to the effect that, for federal income tax purposes:

the merger will constitute a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code; and each of Northrop Grumman, Richmond Acquisition Corp., and TRW will be a party to the reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(b) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Assuming that the merger qualifies as a reorganization, TRW shareholders will not recognize any gain or loss for United States federal income tax purposes on the exchange of their shares of TRW common stock for shares of Northrop Grumman common stock in the merger, except for any gain or loss attributable to cash received instead of fractional shares of Northrop Grumman common stock. The tax consequences to TRW shareholders of the merger will depend on each shareholder's particular circumstances. TRW shareholders should consult their tax advisers for a full understanding of the tax consequences of the merger to them.

Dividend Policies

Northrop Grumman

The holders of Northrop Grumman common stock receive dividends if and when declared by Northrop Grumman's board of directors out of legally available funds. Northrop Grumman has paid a cash dividend of $0.40 per share of common stock in each fiscal quarter beginning with (and including) the fiscal quarter ended March 31, 1993 through (and including) the fiscal quarter ended June 30, 2002.

After the merger, Northrop Grumman expects to continue paying quarterly cash dividends on a basis consistent with Northrop Grumman's past practice. However, the declaration and payment of dividends will depend upon business conditions, operating results, capital and reserve requirements, covenants in its debt instruments and Northrop Grumman's board of directors' consideration of other relevant factors. Northrop Grumman can give TRW shareholders no assurance that Northrop Grumman will continue to pay dividends on its common stock in the future.

TRW

The holders of TRW common stock receive dividends if and when declared by TRW's board of directors out of legally available funds. For the past three fiscal quarters, including the last quarter ended June 30, 2002, TRW has paid a cash dividend of $0.175 per share of TRW common stock.

Table of Contents

Should the merger be consummated, TRW will be a wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman and will cease to be a public company. From and after the merger, TRW will not declare or pay dividends on TRW's shares, other than any dividends declared prior to the effective time of the merger with a payment date after the effective time of the merger or dividends or distributions made to Northrop Grumman after the merger as the parent corporation and sole shareholder of TRW.

Pursuant to the merger agreement, until the effective time of the merger, TRW is permitted to pay regular quarterly cash dividends not in excess of $0.175 per share and dividends on its preferred stock in accordance with the terms of such preferred stock.

Material Differences in Rights of Stockholders/Shareholders

The governing documents of Northrop Grumman and TRW vary, and therefore TRW shareholders will have different rights once they become Northrop Grumman stockholders. Similarly, the laws of Ohio, TRW's state of incorporation, differ from those of Delaware, Northrop Grumman's state of incorporation. These differences are described in more detail under "COMPARISON OF RIGHTS OF HOLDERS OF NORTHROP GRUMMAN COMMON STOCK AND TRW COMMON STOCK" beginning on page 95.

Sale of Aeronautical Systems Business

On June 18, 2002, TRW entered into a definitive agreement with Goodrich Corporation for the sale of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business for a gross purchase price of $1.5 billion in cash, subject to adjustment. This business includes aircraft engine and flight controls, cargo handling systems, power generation and management, missile actuation, nacelle actuation, hoists and winches, flexible shafts and couplings, and comprehensive aftermarket support and services, including asset management and service-level guarantees for a number of commercial airlines. This sale is subject to the receipt of customary United States and European regulatory approvals. Northrop Grumman intends to complete the sale of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business pursuant to the Goodrich agreement following completion of the merger (if it has not already been completed). TRW currently expects this sale to close by the end of the third quarter of 2002.

Dissenters' Rights (Page 61)

If the merger is consummated, TRW shareholders will have certain rights under the Ohio Revised Code to dissent and demand dissenters' rights and to receive payment of the fair cash value of their TRW shares. TRW shareholders who perfect dissenters' rights by complying with the procedures set forth in Sections 1701.84 and 1701.85 of the Ohio Revised Code will have the fair cash value of their TRW shares determined by an Ohio trial court and will be entitled to receive a payment equal to the fair cash value of those shares from the corporation surviving the merger. In addition, any dissenting TRW shareholders would be entitled to receive payment of a fair rate of interest, at a rate determined by the trial court, on the amount determined to be the fair cash value of their TRW shares. In determining the fair cash value of TRW shares, the court is required to take into account all relevant factors, excluding any appreciation or depreciation in market value resulting from the merger. Accordingly, the court's determination could be based upon considerations other than, or in addition to, the market value of TRW common stock, including, among other things, asset values and earning capacity. The shares of TRW common stock held by any person who wants to dissent but fails to perfect or who effectively withdraws or loses the right to dissent under Section 1701.85 of the Ohio Revised Code will be converted into, as of the effective time of the merger, the right to receive the merger consideration. A copy of Sections 1701.84 and 1701.85 of the Ohio Revised Code is attached as Annex H to this joint proxy statement/prospectus.

Table of Contents

RISK FACTORS

Northrop Grumman stockholders and TRW shareholders should read carefully this joint proxy statement/prospectus and the other documents attached to or incorporated by reference into this joint proxy statement/prospectus. Northrop Grumman stockholders and TRW shareholders should, in particular, read and consider the following risk factors, as well as the other risks associated with each of the businesses of Northrop Grumman and TRW, because these risks will also affect the combined businesses should the merger be completed. These other risks associated with the businesses of Northrop Grumman and TRW can be found in Northrop Grumman's and TRW's respective Annual Reports on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2001 and Northrop Grumman's and TRW's documents filed subsequent thereto with the SEC and incorporated by reference into this document. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known to Northrop Grumman or TRW also may adversely affect the merger and Northrop Grumman following the merger.

Successful Integration of the Companies' Businesses is Not Assured

Integrating and coordinating the operations and personnel of Northrop Grumman and TRW will involve complex technological, operational and personnel-related challenges. This process will be time-consuming and expensive and may disrupt the business of either or both companies. In addition, ongoing elements of integration of Northrop Grumman's recent past acquisition of Newport News Shipbuilding may require significant management time and attention. While the integration of Newport News is expected to be substantially complete by the time of the merger, the integration of these companies, and the ultimate integration of TRW's businesses and operations, may not timely or ever result in the full benefits expected by Northrop Grumman. The difficulties, costs and delays that could be encountered may include:

- unanticipated issues in integrating information, communications and other systems;
- negative impacts on employee morale and performance as a result of job changes and reassignments;
- difficulties attracting and retaining key personnel;
- loss of customers;
- unanticipated incompatibility of systems, procedures and operating methods;
- unanticipated costs of terminating or relocating facilities and operations; and
- the effect of complying with any government imposed organizational conflict-of-interest rules.

The Value of Northrop Grumman Common Stock Exchanged for TRW Common Stock Could Be Different Than $60.00 Per Share

In the merger, Northrop Grumman will issue to TRW shareholders a number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock designed to have a value of $60.00 for each outstanding share of TRW common stock. However, the exchange ratio only determines the fraction of a share of Northrop common stock into which each share of TRW common stock will be exchanged. The value of that fraction of a share upon delivery may be worth more or less than the product of the exchange ratio multiplied by the average trading price used in calculating the exchange ratio, and therefore may be worth more or less than $60.00 in value, whether or not the average Northrop Grumman common stock price is between $112.00 and $138.00 when the exchange ratio is calculated. TRW shareholders should expect to receive less than $60.00 in value per TRW share if the market price of the Northrop Grumman common stock is less than $112.00 at the time the exchange ratio is calculated. Conversely, TRW shareholders should expect to receive more than $60.00 in value per TRW share if the market price of the Northrop Grumman common stock is more than $138.00 at the time the exchange ratio is calculated. In addition, no adjustment will be made to reflect the trading price of Northrop Grumman common stock on the trading day before the closing date of the merger, and TRW shareholders may receive more or less than the amount they would receive if the closing occurred on the day the exchange ratio was calculated.

Table of Contents

Resales of Northrop Grumman Common Stock Following the Merger May Cause the Market Price to Fall

As of August 9, 2002, Northrop Grumman had 112,967,511 shares of common stock outstanding and 5,667,983 shares of common stock subject to outstanding options to purchase Northrop Grumman common stock. Northrop Grumman expects that it will issue a maximum of 75,907,126 shares of Northrop Grumman common stock in connection with the merger. The issuance of these new Northrop Grumman shares, and the sale of additional shares of Northrop Grumman common stock that may become eligible for sale in the public market from time to time upon exercise of options or other rights, will increase the total number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock outstanding. This increase could be very substantial and could have the effect of depressing the market price for Northrop Grumman common stock.

The Trading Prices of Northrop Grumman Common Stock and TRW Common Stock May be Affected by Different Factors

Upon completion of the merger, holders of TRW common stock will become holders of Northrop Grumman common stock. Northrop Grumman's business differs from that of TRW, and Northrop Grumman's results of operations, as well as the trading price of Northrop Grumman common stock, may be affected by factors different from those affecting TRW's results of operations and the trading price of TRW common stock as a separate company. Therefore, events or circumstances which might not have caused TRW's shares to decline in value might result in a decline in the value of Northrop Grumman common stock, and events or circumstances that might have caused an increase in the value of TRW common stock might not result in an increase in the value of Northrop Grumman common stock.

Northrop Grumman Will Have More Indebtedness After the Merger

Northrop Grumman's indebtedness as of June 30, 2002 was approximately $4.9 billion. Northrop Grumman's pro forma indebtedness as of December 31, 2001, after giving effect to the merger (as described in the Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information beginning on page 81) was approximately $9.72 billion. As a result of the increase in debt, demands on the cash resources of Northrop Grumman will increase after the merger, which could have important effects on an investment in Northrop Grumman common stock. For example, the increased levels of indebtedness could, among other things:

- reduce funds available for investment in research and development and capital expenditures;
- adversely affect the cost and availability of funds from commercial lenders, debt financing transactions and other sources; and
- create competitive disadvantages compared to other companies with lower debt levels.

Northrop Grumman expects that a significant portion of the debt assumed in connection with the merger will be reduced or transferred in connection with a sale or spin off of the TRW Automotive business. However, no final decisions have been made as to how much debt would be transferred, and there can be no assurance that a sale, spin off or other transfer of the TRW Automotive business will occur. The unaudited pro forma financial information beginning on page 81 assumes no debt reduction in the case of a sale of TRW's Automotive business and the transfer to or assumption of approximately $2.8 billion of debt by TRW Automotive Inc. in the case of a spin off of TRW's Automotive business.

The Purchase Price Allocations of the Newport News Acquisition May Have a Material Effect on the Pro Forma Financial Information

The final adjustment of the purchase price of Northrop Grumman's recent Newport News acquisition has not been determined as of August 9, 2002. There can be no assurance that such adjustments will not have a material impact on the pro forma financial statements. See UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL INFORMATION beginning on page 81.

Table of Contents

Risks from the Pending Sale of the Aeronautical Systems Business

The proposed sale of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business to Goodrich Corporation is subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions, including the receipt of European governmental approvals, which may not be satisfied. In addition, the agreement governing this proposed sale provides for a purchase price adjustment which may result in TRW realizing less than the $1.5 billion gross purchase price specified in the agreement. TRW has indicated that the proceeds from the sale of the aeronautical systems business would be used to pay off indebtedness of TRW or for other cash needs. Northrop Grumman currently anticipates applying the proceeds from the sale to reduce indebtedness to the extent the sale closes after consummation of the merger. Although neither TRW nor Northrop Grumman is aware of any reason that the sale will not close as anticipated, it is possible that the transaction will not close or that the proceeds generated from the sale will be less than currently anticipated as a result of purchase price adjustments. If the transaction does not close, or if the purchase price adjustment reduces the proceeds realized from the sale, TRW and Northrop Grumman (following consummation of the merger), will not fully realize the anticipated benefits of reduction of indebtedness.

Risks Associated With the Proposed Sale or Spin Off of TRW's Automotive Business

As described in greater detail in the section entitled "THE MERGER Plans for TRW After the Merger," Northrop Grumman currently intends to sell TRW's Automotive business to a third party or parties or to spin off the business to Northrop Grumman's stockholders (including the former TRW shareholders) after the merger. However, there can be no assurance as to the value that may be realized from a sale of the Automotive business or as to the market value of its stock in the event of a spin off. There is also no assurance that the various conditions to such a sale or spin off can be satisfied, including receiving required governmental and other approvals, or what the economic proceeds or benefits from the separation of the Automotive business will be.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS MAY PROVE INACCURATE

Certain statements and assumptions in this joint proxy statement/prospectus and in the documents attached or incorporated by reference contain or are based on forward-looking information and involve risks and uncertainties. Northrop Grumman and TRW believe that such statements are forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such forward-looking information includes, among other things, statements as to the impact of the proposed merger on revenues and earnings, and other statements with respect to the financial condition, results of operations, business strategies, operating efficiencies or synergies, competitive positions, growth opportunities, plans and objectives of management, and other matters. Such statements are subject to numerous assumptions and uncertainties, many of which are outside of Northrop Grumman's and TRW's control. These include completion of the merger, governmental regulatory processes, Northrop Grumman's ability to successfully integrate the operations of TRW, achieve a successful transaction or other resolution with respect to TRW's Automotive business, assumptions with respect to future revenues, expected program performance and cash flows, the outcome of contingencies including, among others, the timing and amounts of tax payments, litigation, environmental remediation, divestitures of businesses, and anticipated costs of capital investments. Northrop Grumman's and TRW's respective operations are subject to various additional risks and uncertainties resulting from their positions as suppliers, either directly or as subcontractors or team members, to the United States government and its agencies, as well as to foreign governments and agencies.

Actual outcomes are dependent upon many factors. Important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those suggested by the forward-looking statements include, among others:

- Northrop Grumman's and TRW's dependence on sales to the United States government;
- Northrop Grumman's and TRW's successful performance of internal plans;
- customers' budgetary restraints;
- customer changes in short-range and long-range plans;
- domestic and international competition in both the defense and commercial areas;
- product performance;
- continued development and acceptance of new products;
- performance issues with key suppliers and subcontractors;
- government import and export policies;
- acquisition or termination of government contracts, which may include termination for the convenience of the government;
- the outcome of political and legal processes;
- legal, financial and governmental risks related to international transactions and global needs for military and commercial aircraft, electronic systems and support, information technologies, naval vessels, space systems and related products and technologies; and
- other economic, political and technological risks and uncertainties and other risk factors set out in Northrop Grumman's and TRW's filings from time to time with the SEC, including, without limitation, Northrop Grumman's and TRW's respective reports on Form 10-K and Form 10-Q.

SELECTED HISTORICAL AND UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL DATA

The pro forma financial data presented below are derived from the historical consolidated financial statements of Northrop Grumman, Litton, Newport News and TRW, and have been adjusted to give effect to Northrop Grumman's acquisitions of Litton, Newport News and TRW. The pro forma statements contained herein use the purchase method of accounting, with Northrop Grumman treated as the acquirer and assuming that the Litton, Newport News and TRW acquisitions had been completed on January 1, 2001 (for statement of operations purposes) and on December 31, 2001 (for balance sheet purposes).

The pro forma amounts presented give effect to (a) the sale by TRW of its Aeronautical Systems business for a gross purchase price of $1.5 billion in cash and (b) the divestiture of TRW's Automotive business upon the completion of the merger. The pro forma financial statements also assume a sale of TRW's Automotive business would generate cash proceeds of $5.0 billion, and the pro forma statements of income reflect investment income on this $5.0 billion in assumed cash proceeds at the current rate of 1.8 percent for the six months ended June 30, 2002 and the twelve months ended December 31, 2001.

If the Automotive business divestiture is accomplished as a spin off rather than a sale, the pro forma effect of the divestiture will differ from that presented below in the following respects:

cash proceeds from the sale and the interest on investment of such cash proceeds would be eliminated;

a portion of TRW's existing indebtedness, currently estimated as approximately $2.8 billion, will be replaced by indebtedness of TRW Automotive Inc. and eliminated as indebtedness of TRW; and interest costs associated with such replaced indebtedness will be eliminated.

Northrop Grumman stockholders and TRW shareholders should read the following summary information together with the pro forma financial statements and notes beginning on page 81.

Table of ContentsCOMPARATIVE PER SHARE INFORMATION

The following table summarizes unaudited per share information for Northrop Grumman and TRW on a historical basis, pro forma combined basis for Northrop Grumman and equivalent pro forma combined basis for TRW. The following information should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements of Northrop Grumman and TRW, and the Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Statements beginning on page 81. The pro forma information is presented for illustrative purposes only and is not necessarily indicative of the operating results or financial position that would have occurred if Northrop Grumman's acquisition of TRW and the Litton and Newport News acquisitions had been completed as of the beginning of the period presented, nor is it necessarily indicative of the future operating results or financial position of the combined companies. The historical book value per share is computed by dividing total stockholders' equity by the number of common shares outstanding at the end of the period. The pro forma per share earnings from continuing operations are computed by dividing the pro forma income from continuing operations available to holders of common stock by the pro forma weighted average number of shares outstanding. The pro forma combined book value per share is computed by dividing total pro forma stockholders' equity by the pro forma number of common shares outstanding at the end of the period. TRW equivalent pro forma combined per share amounts are calculated by multiplying Northrop Grumman pro forma combined per share amounts by .5357, the percentage of a share of Northrop Grumman common stock that would be exchanged for each share of TRW common stock pursuant to the merger, based upon a Northrop Grumman common stock price of $112.00 per share, which represents the bottom end of the collar for the merger. The historical per share information of TRW was derived from TRW's historical annual financial statements.

INFORMATION ABOUT NORTHROP GRUMMAN AND TRW

Northrop Grumman

Northrop Grumman provides technologically advanced, innovative products, services and solutions in defense and commercial electronics, military aircraft, information technology, systems integration and nuclear and non-nuclear shipbuilding and systems. As a prime contractor, principal subcontractor, partner, or preferred supplier, Northrop Grumman participates in many high-priority defense and commercial technology programs in the United States and abroad. While Northrop Grumman is subject to the usual vagaries of the marketplace, it is also affected by the unique characteristics of the defense industry and by certain elements peculiar to its own business mix. It is common in the defense industry for work on major programs to be shared among a number of companies. A company competing to be a prime contractor may, upon ultimate award of the contract, turn out to be a subcontractor. It is not uncommon to compete with customers, and simultaneously on other contracts, to be either a supplier to or a customer of such competitor. The nature of major defense programs, conducted under binding contracts, allows companies that perform well to benefit from a level of program continuity unknown in many industries. While Northrop Grumman conducts most of its business with the United States government, principally the Department of Defense, domestic and international commercial sales still represent a significant portion of Northrop Grumman's business.

Northrop Grumman is aligned into six business sectors as follows:

Electronic Systems. This sector includes the design, development, manufacture and integration of a wide variety of defense electronics and systems, airspace management systems, precision weapons, marine systems, logistics systems, space systems, and automation and information systems. Significant programs include fire control radars for the F-16 and F-22 fighter aircraft and the Longbow Apache helicopter, the AWACS airborne early warning radar, the Joint STARS air-to-ground surveillance radar sensor, the Longbow Hellfire missile and the BAT brilliant anti-armor submunition. This sector also provides tactical military radars and country-wide air defense systems, plus airborne electronic countermeasures systems intended to jam enemy aircraft and weapons systems. The sector includes the advanced electronics businesses, which design, develop and manufacture inertial navigation, guidance and control, IFF (identification friend or foe), and marine electronic systems, and provide electronic warfare systems and integrated avionics systems and shipboard information and communication systems. The United States government is a significant customer.

Information Technology. This sector includes the design, development, operation and support of computer systems for scientific and management information. Information Technology has extensive expertise in command, control, communications, computers, intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance (C4ISR). It is a key management support element for major weapons systems, such as the United States Navy's AEGIS class destroyer, and also provides mission planning for the United States Navy, Air Force and Special Operations Command. Information Technology provides base operations support for NASA's Kennedy Space Center, Cape Canaveral Air Station and Patrick Air Force Base, among others. In addition, Information Technology provides information technology services to commercial customers and to the other Northrop Grumman sectors. Information Technology includes the information systems businesses, which design, develop, integrate and support computer-based information systems and provide information technology and services, primarily for government customers.

Integrated Systems. This sector includes the design, development and production of airborne early warning, electronic warfare and surveillance and battlefield management systems. Integrated Systems is the prime contractor for the Joint STARS advanced airborne targeting and battle management system, the United States Air Force's B-2 Spirit stealth bomber, unmanned vehicles including the Global Hawk, and the EA-6B Prowler electronic countermeasures aircraft, and is upgrading the E-2C Hawkeye early warning aircraft. Integrated Systems also has a principal role in producing the United States Navy's F/A18 Hornet strike fighter and in the development and future production of the F-35 Joint Strike Fighter.

Table of Contents

Ship Systems. This sector is engaged in building large multimission non-nuclear surface ships for the United States Navy as well as for other government and commercial customers worldwide and is a provider of overhaul, repair, modernization, ship design and engineering services. The United States government is a significant customer.

Newport News. Newport News is the largest non-government-owned shipyard in the United States, as measured by each of revenues, size of facilities and number of employees. Its primary business is the design, construction, repair, maintenance, overhaul, life-cycle support and refueling of nuclear-powered aircraft carriers and the design, life-cycle support and construction of nuclear powered submarines for the United States Navy.

Component Technologies. This sector includes international suppliers of complex backplanes, connectors, laser crystals, solder materials, specialty products and other electronic components used primarily in the telecommunications, industrial and computer markets.

The principal executive offices of Northrop Grumman are located at 1840 Century Park East, Los Angeles, California 90067, and its telephone number is (310) 553-6262.

Northrop Grumman stockholders may vote in person at the Northrop Meeting by delivering a completed BLUE proxy card at the meeting or by using the written ballots which will be available to any Northrop Grumman stockholder who desires to vote in person at the Northrop Meeting.

Northrop Grumman stockholders who are beneficial owners of shares held in street name by a broker, trustee, bank or other nominee holder on behalf of such stockholder may vote in person at the meeting by obtaining a legal proxy from the nominee holding the Northrop Grumman shares. In addition, such Northrop Grumman stockholders may vote by proxy by completing and signing a voting instruction card provided to them by the nominee holding the Northrop Grumman shares.

Any proxy given by a Northrop Grumman stockholder may be revoked at any time before it is voted at the Northrop Meeting by doing any of the following:

- delivering a written notice bearing a date later than the date of the first proxy to Northrop Grumman's Corporate Secretary stating that the first proxy is revoked;
- signing and delivering a BLUE proxy card relating to the same shares and bearing a later date than the date of the previous proxy;
- voting by telephone or over the internet at a later date than the date of the previous proxy; or
- attending the Northrop Meeting and voting in person.

Table of Contents

However, any Northrop Grumman stockholder who beneficially owns Northrop Grumman shares through a broker, trustee, bank or other nominee holder will need to check with the broker, trustee, bank or other nominee holder who holds the shares on the stockholder's behalf to determine how to change a vote.

The matter to be considered at the Northrop Meeting is of great importance to Northrop Grumman stockholders. Accordingly, Northrop Grumman stockholders are urged to read and carefully consider the information presented in this joint proxy statement/prospectus and to either complete, date, sign and promptly return the enclosed BLUE proxy card in the enclosed postage-paid envelope or to vote by telephone or over the internet, as described on the BLUE proxy card.

Proxy Solicitation

In addition to this mailing, Northrop Grumman directors, officers, employees and representatives may solicit proxies personally, electronically or by telephone. Northrop Grumman also has retained D.F. King & Co., Inc. as its proxy solicitor and information agent in connection with the Northrop Meeting, for which D.F. King will receive a fee of approximately $20,000 plus reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses. Northrop Grumman has agreed to indemnify D.F. King against various liabilities and expenses in connection with the merger, including various liabilities under United States federal securities laws.

Northrop Grumman has requested banks, brokerage houses and other custodians, nominees and fiduciaries to forward Northrop Grumman's proxy solicitation materials to the beneficial owners of the Northrop Grumman shares held of record by such nominee holders. Northrop Grumman will reimburse these nominee holders for customary clerical and mailing expenses incurred in forwarding the proxy solicitation materials to the beneficial owners.

Stockholder Vote Required to Approve the Issuance of Stock

The approval of the issuance of the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast at the Northrop Meeting in person or by proxy, assuming a quorum is present.

A quorum at the Northrop Meeting requires the presence in person or by proxy of Northrop Grumman stockholders entitled to cast at least a majority of the votes that all Northrop Grumman stockholders are entitled to cast at the Northrop Meeting. Both abstentions and broker non-votes will be counted for purposes of determining the presence of a quorum.

Brokers who hold shares of Northrop Grumman common stock for the accounts of their clients may vote such shares either as directed by their clients or in their own discretion, if permitted by the stock exchange or other organization of which the broker is a member. Members of the New York Stock Exchange are permitted to vote their clients' proxies in their own discretion as to routine matters, such as the election of directors, if the clients have not furnished voting instructions within ten days of the meeting. Certain non-routine matters, such as the proposal to be brought before the Northrop Meeting, are considered non-discretionary matters and brokers who have received no instructions from their clients do not have discretion to vote on those items. When a broker is not authorized to vote a client's shares on a proposal at a meeting and does not receive instructions regarding how to vote from the client, the missing votes are referred to as broker non-votes.

Since the required vote of the Northrop Grumman stockholders with respect to the proposed issuance of Northrop Grumman common stock is based upon a percentage of the votes cast at the Northrop Meeting, rather than upon a percentage of the total number of outstanding shares of Northrop Grumman common stock, abstentions and broker non-votes will have no effect on the outcome of this proposal, assuming a quorum is present.

Representatives of Northrop Grumman's principal accountants, Deloitte & Touche LLP are not expected to be present at the Northrop Meeting.

TRW Employee Plan Voting

Certain TRW shares are held for the benefit of plan participants of The TRW Employee Stock Ownership and Savings Plan (referred to as the US Plan), the TRW Canada Stock Savings Plan (referred to as the Canada Plan), and the TRW UK Share Purchase Plan (referred to as the UK Plan and together with the US Plan and the Canada Plan, the Plans). The Plans contain pass-through voting provisions for the participants of the Plans, with TRW shares that are allocated to a participant's account voted in accordance with the instructions of the participant by the trustees of the respective Plan responsible for voting (the Trustees).

Participants in the Plans can only vote TRW shares held in the Plans on their behalf by instructing the relevant trustee on a trustee's voting instruction card provided to participants for that purpose.

US Plan

With respect to TRW shares held in the US Plan, TRW shares allocated to a participant who signs a voting instruction card but does not indicate or give instructions how such shares are to be voted, will be voted by the Trustees of such Plan in accordance with the Trustees' fiduciary judgment. In the event the Trustees of the US Plan determine, in the exercise of their fiduciary responsibilities under ERISA, they cannot follow a participant's instructions, or a participant does not return or properly complete the voting instruction card, the Trustees will vote the shares allocated to such participant's account in accordance with their fiduciary judgment.

In order to permit sufficient time to tabulate voting instruction cards, a participant's instructions must be received no later than [], 2002.

Canada Plan

With respect to TRW shares held in the Canada Plan, TRW shares allocated to a participant who signs a voting instruction card but does not indicate or give instructions how such shares are to be voted will not be voted by the Trustee of the Canada Plan. In the event a participant does not return or sign a voting instruction card, the shares allocated to such participant's account will not be voted at the TRW Meeting.

In order to permit sufficient time to tabulate voting instruction cards, a participant's instructions must be received no later than [], 2002.

UK Plan

With respect to TRW shares held in the UK Plan, TRW shares allocated to a participant who signs a voting instruction card but does not indicate or give instructions how such shares are to be voted will not be voted by the Trustee of the UK Plan. In the event a participant does not return or sign a voting instruction card, the shares allocated to such participant's account will not be voted at the TRW Meeting.

In order to permit sufficient time to tabulate voting instruction cards, a participant's instructions must be received no later than [], 2002.

Proxy Solicitation

In addition to this mailing, directors and employees of TRW may solicit proxies personally, electronically or by telephone, none of whom will receive additional compensation for such solicitation.

Table of Contents

TRW has requested banks, brokerage houses and other custodians, nominees and fiduciaries to forward TRW's proxy solicitation materials to the beneficial owners of the TRW shares they hold of record. TRW will reimburse these record holders for customary clerical and mailing expenses incurred in forwarding these materials to their customers.

TRW has retained Georgeson Shareholder Communications, Inc. for proxy solicitation and information agent services in connection with the TRW Meeting. Georgeson will receive a fee of approximately $75,000.00 for its services and reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses in connection therewith. TRW has agreed to indemnify Georgeson against certain liabilities arising out of or in connection with the engagement. Georgeson will solicit proxies from individuals, brokers, banks, bank nominees and other institutional holders.

TRW Shareholder Vote Required to Adopt the Merger Agreement

Adoption of the merger agreement requires the affirmative vote of the holders of two-thirds of the total outstanding shares of TRW common stock.

A quorum at the TRW Meeting requires the presence in person or by proxy of TRW shareholders holding at least 35% of the voting power of TRW at the TRW Meeting. Both abstentions and broker non-votes will be counted for purposes of determining the presence of a quorum.

Brokers who hold shares of TRW common stock for the accounts of their clients may vote such shares either as directed by their clients or in their own discretion, if permitted by the stock exchange or other organization of which they are members. Members of the New York Stock Exchange are permitted to vote their clients' proxies in their own discretion as to routine matters, such as the election of directors, if the clients have not furnished voting instructions within ten days of the meeting. Certain non-routine matters, such as the proposals to be brought before the TRW Meeting are considered non-discretionary and brokers who have received no instructions from their clients do not have discretion to vote on those items. When a broker is not authorized to vote a client's shares on a proposal at a meeting and does not receive instructions regarding how to vote from their client, the missing votes are referred to as broker non-votes.

Since the required vote with respect to the proposed adoption of the merger agreement is based upon a percentage of the total voting power entitled to vote on the proposal rather than upon a percentage of the TRW shares actually present or voted in person or by proxy at the TRW Meeting, abstentions and broker non-votes will have the same effect as a vote against adoption of the merger agreement.

THE MERGER

General

Northrop Grumman and TRW have entered into a merger agreement which provides for the merger of Richmond Acquisition Corp., an Ohio corporation and wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman, with and into TRW, with TRW surviving the merger as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman. In the merger, each share of common stock of TRW will be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock equal to the exchange ratio. The exchange ratio will be determined by dividing $60.00 by the average of the closing sale prices for a share of Northrop Grumman common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the five consecutive trading days ending on (and including) the second trading day before the closing date of the merger. However, in no event will the exchange ratio be greater than 0.5357 ($60.00/$112.00) or less than 0.4348 ($60.00/$138.00).

Northrop Grumman's Reasons for the Merger; Recommendation of Northrop Grumman's Board of Directors

Northrop Grumman's board of directors believes that the merger represents an opportunity to enhance value for Northrop Grumman stockholders. The decision of Northrop Grumman's board of directors to enter into the merger agreement and to recommend that Northrop Grumman stockholders approve the issuance of the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock to be issued pursuant to the merger (including shares to be issued upon exercise of TRW options deemed assumed by Northrop Grumman, or issued upon conversion of TRW restricted stock or restricted stock units, pursuant to the merger agreement) was the result of careful consideration by the board of directors of numerous factors, including, without limitation, the following:

Access to New Product Areas. TRW's proprietary technology and products will provide Northrop Grumman with technology and products to complement Northrop Grumman's existing technology and products.

Increased Diversification into New Markets. The combination of Northrop Grumman and TRW provides the affiliated entities with the opportunity for diversification into new markets and access to new customer elements of the United States Department of Defense and other federal agencies.

Increased Market Presence and Opportunities. The combination of Northrop Grumman and TRW provides the affiliated entities with increased market presence and opportunities for growth that could allow them to better respond to the needs of customers, the increased competitiveness of the marketplace and any opportunities that changes in the market for their respective products might bring.

Product Mix. The complementary nature of Northrop Grumman's and TRW's products and services will benefit clients of both companies.

Operating Efficiencies. The combination of Northrop Grumman and TRW provides the opportunity for potential economies of scale and cost savings.

Northrop Grumman's board of directors (with one director absent) has unanimously approved the merger agreement and believes that the exchange ratio is fair, from a financial point of view, to Northrop Grumman stockholders.

Accordingly, Northrop Grumman's board of directors recommends that Northrop Grumman stockholders vote FOR the issuance of the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger.

TRW's Reasons for the Merger; Recommendation of TRW's Board of Directors

TRW's board of directors (with one director absent) has unanimously determined that the merger agreement with Northrop Grumman is fair to and in the best interests of TRW shareholders. TRW's board of directors believes that the merger represents an opportunity to enhance value for TRW shareholders. The decision of TRW's board of directors to approve and enter into the merger agreement and to recommend that TRW shareholders adopt the merger agreement was the result of careful consideration of numerous factors by the board of directors, including, without limitation, the following:

The value to TRW shareholders of the Northrop Grumman offer, including the fairness to shareholders of the financial terms of the offer;

A comparison of the financial terms and the other terms and conditions of the proposed merger agreement with Northrop Grumman and the proposals provided by the other bidders as well as TRW's value enhancement plan;

The effect of the merger on employees of TRW; and

The operational synergies and other business benefits offered by a transaction with Northrop Grumman.

The deliberations of the TRW board included consideration of the following factors which are generally positive:

Exchange Ratio Premium. The midpoint of the exchange ratio collar ($60.00/$125.00) represents a premium over selected historical exchange ratios of TRW common stock to Northrop Grumman common stock. The implied exchange ratio premium of the Northrop Grumman offer at the midpoint of the exchange ratio collar is 23.1% with respect to the implied historical exchange ratio as of February 15, 2001, the last trading day immediately preceding the announcement of the resignation of TRW's former chief executive officer, 42.1% with respect to the implied historical exchange ratio as of February 21, 2002, the last trading day immediately preceding the announcement of Northrop Grumman's initial unsolicited proposal, and 14.1% with respect to the average implied exchange ratio for the twelve-month period ended February 21, 2002.

Collar. The exchange ratio pursuant to the merger agreement is subject to a collar, which provides that if the average reported closing price per share of Northrop Grumman common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the five consecutive trading days ending on (and including) the second trading day prior to the closing of the merger is at least $112.00 per share but not more than $138.00 per share, the exchange ratio is designed to provide $60.00 in value of Northrop Grumman common stock for each share of TRW common stock. In the event that the average reported closing price per share of Northrop Grumman common stock is less than $112.00 or more than $138.00, TRW shareholders will receive 0.5357 or 0.4348 of a share of Northrop Grumman common stock, respectively. TRW shareholders may benefit from this collar because:

TRW shareholders should expect to receive $60.00 in value of Northrop Grumman common stock if the average closing price of a share of Northrop Grumman common stock remains between $112.00 and $138.00 during the relevant pricing period, which would not have been the case had the exchange ratio been fixed at the lowest ratio provided by the collar; and TRW shareholders benefit from any increase in the average closing price of a share of Northrop Grumman common stock above $138.00 during the relevant pricing period, which would not have been the case had the consideration been based on a fixed value.

Fairness Opinions. The opinion of each of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston delivered to the TRW board on June 30, 2002, to the effect that, as of that date and based on and subject to the assumptions, qualifications and limitations described in their respective opinions, the exchange ratio pursuant to the merger agreement is fair from a financial point of view to the holders of TRW common stock other than Northrop Grumman and its affiliates. Copies of the written opinions of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston, each dated June 30, 2002, which set forth the procedures followed, assumptions made, matters considered and the limitations on the reviews undertaken by each of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston in connection with their respective opinions, are attached as Annexes D and E, respectively, to this joint proxy statement/prospectus and are incorporated herein by reference. TRW shareholders are urged to read the Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston opinions in their entirety.

Independence Risks. The strategic and operational risks associated with TRW remaining independent pursuant to TRW's value enhancement plan and the range of values TRW shareholders might receive if the value enhancement plan were implemented include:

risks associated with the separation of TRW's operations, including the risks relating to the costs incurred in connection with the spin off of TRW's Automotive business, the risk that the spin off could be taxable if certain events occurred and the risks relating to the fluctuation of the stock price of the shares of the Automotive business distributed in the spin off;

risks associated with increased competition in the Space, Defense, Information Systems and Automotive industries; and risks associated with recruiting a chief executive officer to replace TRW's former chief executive officer, whose unexpected resignation was announced on February 19, 2002.

Strategic Alternatives. The consideration, with TRW management and Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston, of strategic alternatives, including remaining a stand-alone business and separating its business units.

Process. The results of the thorough process for seeking business combination proposals conducted by TRW and its independent financial advisers, pursuant to which interested parties signed confidentiality agreements, met with TRW management and reviewed confidential information about TRW and its business, and TRW received proposals for business combinations from certain interested parties.

Proposals. The overall assessment of each of the proposals submitted by interested parties to TRW as part of its formal solicitation process, taking into account the value and risks associated with each of the proposals.

Due Diligence. The TRW board's review of public disclosures by and about the business, financial condition and current business strategy of Northrop Grumman, the due diligence review by TRW management and TRW's financial, legal and accounting advisers of Northrop Grumman and its businesses and Northrop Grumman's historical stock price performance.

Opportunities for Shareholders. The fact that, after giving effect to the sale of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business, the merger will present an opportunity for TRW shareholders to participate in a company that is the nation's second largest defense contractor and, as shareholders of the combined business, to benefit from the following:

Any future growth of a combined business that has expertise as a prime or platform contractor in ships, carriers and submarines, piloted and unpiloted aircraft, and satellite systems supporting national security; and

The greater opportunity to participate, as a larger, more capable company following the merger, in the expected increased expenditures for United States defense procurement and research, development, test and evaluation, the budget for which is projected to increase at a 7.2% compound annual growth rate through 2006.

Northrop Grumman's Experience. Northrop Grumman's experience in delivering stockholder value, integrating businesses and successfully executing strategies.

Table of Contents

Terms and Conditions. The structure of the transaction and the terms and conditions of the proposed combination of Northrop Grumman and TRW, including:

the terms of the merger agreement, including the fact that the merger is intended to qualify as a reorganization under Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code and is therefore not expected to be taxable to the shareholders of TRW (other than with respect to cash received in lieu of fractional shares);

the ability of TRW, prior to the consummation of the merger, to consider and negotiate unsolicited third party business combination proposals, subject to certain conditions;

the right of TRW's board, prior to the consummation of the merger, to terminate the merger agreement and accept a superior proposal, subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions and the payment of a termination fee to Northrop Grumman;

the ability of TRW, prior to the consummation of the merger, to take further steps to effect the separation of TRW's Automotive business; and the ability to consummate the merger within a reasonable period of time, including the likelihood of receiving necessary regulatory approvals in light of the commitments made by Northrop Grumman pursuant to the terms of the merger agreement in seeking such approvals and TRW management's assessment of the regulatory environment in the United States, Europe and the rest of the world.

The TRW board also identified and considered the following potentially negative factors in its deliberations:

Collar. The collar may negatively affect TRW shareholders in the following manner:

TRW shareholders should expect to only receive $60.00 in value of Northrop Grumman common stock if the average closing price of a share of Northrop Grumman common stock is between $112.00 and $138.00 during the relevant pricing period, which would not have been the case had the exchange ratio been fixed at the highest ratio provided by the collar; and TRW shareholders will be adversely affected by any decrease in the average closing price of a share of Northrop Grumman common stock below $112.00 during the relevant pricing period, which would not have been the case had the consideration been based on a fixed value not subject to a collar.

Disruptions. The possible disruption to TRW's businesses that may result from the announcement of the transaction and the resulting distraction of management attention from the day-to-day operations of TRW's businesses.

Integration Risks. The difficulty inherent in integrating two businesses and the risk that the cost efficiencies, synergies and other benefits expected to be obtained in the transaction might not be fully realized.

Operating Restrictions. The restrictions contained in the merger agreement on the operation of TRW's businesses during the period between the signing of the agreement and the completion of the merger.

Termination Fee. The $275 million termination fee to be paid to Northrop Grumman if the merger agreement is terminated under circumstances specified in the merger agreement. See THE MERGER AGREEMENT Termination Fee on page 74.

Consummation Risk. The possibility that the merger might not be completed and the effect of the resulting public announcement of termination of the merger agreement on:

the market price of TRW's common stock;

TRW's operating results, particularly in light of the costs incurred in connection with the transaction, including the potential requirement to make a termination payment; and TRW's ability to attract and retain key personnel, including a chief executive officer.

Table of Contents

Regulatory. The possibility of significant costs, delays and non-consummation of the merger resulting from seeking regulatory approvals necessary for the consummation of the merger.

In its consideration of the proposed merger, TRW's board of directors also reviewed information relating to the two companies and the proposed merger, including:

Historical information concerning Northrop Grumman's and TRW's respective businesses, financial performance and condition, operations, technology, management and competitive position;

TRW's management's views as to the financial condition, results of operations and businesses of Northrop Grumman and TRW before and after giving effect to the merger;

Current financial market conditions and historical market prices, volatility and trading information with respect to Northrop Grumman common stock and TRW common stock; and Discussions with TRW's senior management and financial advisers as to the result of their due diligence review of Northrop Grumman.

Although the foregoing discussion sets forth all of the material factors considered by TRW's board of directors in reaching its recommendation, it may not include all of the factors considered by the board, and each director may have considered different factors. In view of the variety of factors and the amount of information considered, the board of directors did not find it practicable to, and did not, make specific assessments of, quantify or otherwise assign relative weights to the specific factors considered in reaching its determination. The determination was made after consideration of all of the factors as a whole and at numerous meetings.

TRW's board of directors (with one director absent) has unanimously determined that the merger agreement with Northrop Grumman is fair to and in the best interests of TRW's shareholders and believes that the merger represents an opportunity to enhance value for TRW's shareholders.

Accordingly, TRW's board of directors (with one director absent) unanimously recommends that the TRW shareholders vote FOR adoption of the merger agreement.

In considering the recommendation of TRW's board of directors with respect to the merger agreement, you should be aware that certain directors and officers of TRW have arrangements that cause them to have interests in the transaction that are different from, or are in addition to, the interests of TRW shareholders generally. See "THE MERGER" Interests of TRW Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger on page 54.

Background of the Merger

From time to time, Northrop Grumman and TRW have had informal discussions regarding possible business combination transactions, including in-depth discussions between August and December 1998. No agreement, however, was reached during that time period. Between 1999 and 2001, there were limited contacts between Northrop Grumman and TRW, but no substantive discussions occurred.

In early October 2001, Mr. Kent Kresa, the Chief Executive Officer of Northrop Grumman, had one brief meeting and one telephone conversation with Mr. David M. Cote, then the Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of TRW, regarding possible discussions for a combination of the two companies. No discussions were pursued at that time.

On February 19, 2002, Northrop Grumman learned that Mr. Cote had resigned. Northrop Grumman determined that TRW's board of directors and shareholders might view favorably a merger or other combination of Northrop Grumman and TRW in view of the leadership issues arising from Mr. Cote's resignation.

Table of Contents

On February 21, 2002, Northrop Grumman made a proposal to provide all of TRW's shareholders with $47.00 in Northrop Grumman common stock for each share of TRW common stock, to be received in a tax-free merger transaction. On February 22, 2002, Northrop Grumman publicly disclosed the proposal.

On February 22, 2002, TRW's board of directors met with TRW's management and TRW's financial adviser, Goldman Sachs, and TRW's legal adviser, Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, to discuss Northrop Grumman's proposal.

On February 28, 2002, TRW's board of directors met with TRW's management and TRW's financial advisers, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston, and TRW's legal adviser to further assess Northrop Grumman's proposal. The board reviewed, among other things, Northrop Grumman's proposal, strategic alternatives and business opportunities available to TRW with its management and financial and legal advisers.

On March 3, 2002, TRW's board of directors met again to consider further and to discuss the response to Northrop Grumman's proposal. At the meeting, TRW's board reviewed the strategic alternatives and business opportunities considered at the February 28, 2002 meeting. After careful consideration, including consultation with financial and legal advisers, the board unanimously concluded that Northrop Grumman's $47.00 per share proposal was financially inadequate.

On March 4, 2002, Northrop Grumman commenced an offer to exchange all of the outstanding shares of TRW common stock for $47.00 in value of Northrop Grumman common stock per share of TRW common stock, based on a formula and subject to a collar. Northrop Grumman also offered to exchange Northrop Grumman common stock for shares of TRW convertible preferred stock based on a specified exchange ratio.

On March 4, 2002, Northrop Grumman also sent a letter to TRW requesting that TRW call a special meeting of TRW shareholders pursuant to Ohio's control share acquisition law. Under the Ohio control share acquisition law, Northrop Grumman was prohibited from acquiring 20% or more of TRW's outstanding capital stock pursuant to the offer to exchange without first obtaining the approval of TRW's shareholders at a special meeting called for that purpose. A special meeting of TRW shareholders pursuant to the Ohio control share acquisition law was called by TRW in response to Northrop Grumman's request and subsequently was held on May 3, 2002, as described below.

On March 4, 2002, Northrop Grumman filed a lawsuit in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio against TRW, the Attorney General of Ohio, and the Director of Ohio's Department of Commerce. The lawsuit, which was filed contemporaneously with Northrop Grumman's commencement of the exchange offer, challenged the constitutionality of Ohio's anti-takeover statutes. On the same date, TRW filed a lawsuit in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio against Northrop Grumman, the Attorney General of Ohio, the Director of Ohio's Department of Commerce and the Commissioner of Ohio's Division of Securities. The lawsuit filed by TRW sought a judgment that Ohio's anti-takeover statutes are constitutional.

On March 8, 2002, TRW's board of directors met with TRW's management and TRW's legal and financial advisers to discuss, among other matters, Northrop Grumman's offer and Northrop Grumman's preliminary proxy statement to solicit shareholder approval of Northrop Grumman's acquisition of TRW's outstanding capital stock in accordance with Ohio law.

On March 11, 2002, Northrop Grumman filed notification with the U.S. Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission of its intention to acquire TRW, in compliance with the Premerger Notification requirements of the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976. TRW filed its required forms with the United States Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission on March 26, 2002. On April 10, 2002, Northrop Grumman and TRW each received a request for additional information from the United States Department of Justice.

Table of Contents

On March 12, 2002, TRW's board of directors held a special meeting to review Northrop Grumman's offer with management and TRW's legal and financial advisers. After discussion with TRW's management and its legal and financial advisers, TRW's board of directors unanimously rejected Northrop Grumman's offer. Based on the assessment of TRW's management, after consultation with TRW's financial advisers, that TRW's businesses in the aggregate had greater value than the offer, TRW's board directed management as part of its value enhancement plan to accelerate its plan to reduce TRW's indebtedness and then separate the Automotive business from TRW's other businesses. Accordingly, on March 13, 2002, TRW's board of directors issued a press release announcing the TRW board's unanimous rejection of Northrop Grumman's offer to exchange and filed a statement with the SEC recommending that TRW shareholders reject Northrop Grumman's offer to exchange. The same press release also announced TRW's value enhancement plan.

On March 18, 2002, Northrop Grumman filed a preliminary proxy statement in connection with TRW's annual shareholder meeting. The Northrop Grumman proxy statement (as filed in definitive form on April 1, 2002) stated that Northrop Grumman intended to propose three shareholder resolutions at TRW's annual shareholder meeting. The first resolution related to TRW providing Northrop Grumman non-public information relating to TRW, the second resolution related to a request that TRW establish a committee of independent directors to evaluate Northrop Grumman's offer, and the third resolution related to the TRW shareholders' ability to decide for themselves whether to exchange their TRW shares in Northrop Grumman's offer.

On March 22, 2002, TRW's board of directors met with TRW's management and TRW's legal and financial advisers to discuss, among other matters, the Northrop Grumman shareholder proposals. After discussion with TRW's management and its legal and financial advisers, the board of directors unanimously determined that Northrop Grumman's three shareholder proposals were not consistent with the board of directors' objective of enhancing shareholder value and were not in the best interests of TRW's shareholders.

On March 29, 2002, Northrop Grumman announced that it was extending its exchange offer until midnight on April 12, 2002.

On April 2, 2002, TRW began mailing to its shareholders a supplement to its proxy statement for its annual meeting of shareholders setting forth the recommendation of TRW's board of directors that TRW's shareholders vote against Northrop Grumman's three shareholder proposals and the reasons for such recommendation.

On April 5, 2002, TRW's board of directors held a special meeting at which it discussed, among other matters, pro forma financial information for TRW's proxy materials.

On April 15, 2002, Northrop Grumman amended its offer to exchange by (a) increasing its offer to exchange from $47.00 to $53.00 in value of Northrop Grumman common stock per share of TRW common stock, based on a formula and subject to a collar, (b) extending the offer to exchange from April 12, 2002 to May 3, 2002 and (c) adding a new condition to the offer to exchange requiring completion of a due diligence investigation of non-public information regarding TRW by Northrop Grumman.

On April 15, 2002, TRW's board of directors held a special meeting at which the board, among other matters, began to review the terms of Northrop Grumman's revised offer with management and TRW's legal and financial advisers.

On April 16, 2002, TRW's board of directors held another special meeting to review Northrop Grumman's revised offer with management and TRW's legal and financial advisers. At the meeting, TRW's board of directors again considered TRW's strategic alternatives. After discussion with TRW's management and its legal and financial advisers, TRW's board of directors unanimously determined that Northrop Grumman's revised offer was inadequate.

Table of Contents

On April 17, 2002, TRW issued a press release announcing the board's rejection of Northrop Grumman's revised offer. TRW's board of directors authorized management and its advisers to initiate a process to explore all strategic alternatives to create shareholder value at levels above Northrop Grumman's revised offer. In addition, TRW's board of directors authorized management to make certain confidential information relating to TRW available to third parties, including Northrop Grumman, upon the execution by such third parties of a confidentiality agreement satisfactory to TRW.

At TRW's annual shareholders meeting on April 24, 2002, TRW's shareholders did not approve Northrop Grumman's proposal that TRW establish a committee of independent directors to evaluate Northrop Grumman's revised offer or Northrop Grumman's proposal that TRW take all actions within its authority to let shareholders decide for themselves whether to exchange their TRW stock for Northrop Grumman common stock. At this meeting, TRW's shareholders did approve Northrop Grumman's proposal to have TRW provide Northrop Grumman with non-public information about TRW.

Beginning in late April 2002, TRW and its financial and legal advisers initiated a formal process to provide information to and discuss proposals from parties interested in acquiring TRW. Between April 22 and May 5, 2002, TRW entered into confidentiality agreements with potential bidders, including Northrop Grumman. Pursuant to these agreements, TRW made available confidential, non-public information to potential bidders, and TRW's management presented information on TRW's businesses to assist potential bidders in their due diligence.

On April 24, 2002, TRW's board of directors held a previously scheduled board meeting. At this meeting, TRW management provided the directors with an update of the status of negotiations with Northrop Grumman regarding a confidentiality agreement.

On May 3, 2002, TRW held the special meeting of its shareholders pursuant to the Ohio control share acquisition law to consider Northrop Grumman's proposal that the TRW shareholders authorize Northrop Grumman's acquisition of TRW shares pursuant to the offer to exchange. TRW's shareholders did not approve Northrop Grumman's proposal.

During May 2002, Northrop Grumman extended its exchange offer several times, with the last extension in May expiring at midnight on June 14, 2002. Beginning on May 5, 2002, Northrop Grumman commenced its due diligence review of TRW.

On June 3, 2002, TRW's board of directors met with TRW's management and its legal and financial advisers to further discuss TRW's strategic alternatives and its value enhancement plan. After discussion, TRW's board of directors instructed management to continue to pursue TRW's value enhancement plan and to explore strategic alternatives. In particular, the board of directors authorized management to sell TRW's Aeronautical Systems business and to continue its efforts to effect the separation of TRW's Automotive business, including the filing of a registration statement with the SEC.

On June 10, 2002, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston, financial advisers to TRW, sent a form of merger agreement and a letter setting forth certain procedures for the submission of a formal bid to acquire TRW by potential bidders, including Northrop Grumman, and requesting that formal bids be submitted on or before June 24, 2002.

Between June 13, 2002 and June 24, 2002, TRW and Northrop Grumman had discussions regarding several proposals made by Northrop Grumman to TRW regarding potential acquisition structures and terms. In addition, TRW also had conversations with other interested third parties regarding potential proposals during June 2002. However, TRW was not prepared to enter into negotiations with respect to any of the proposals at that time.

On June 14, 2002, Northrop Grumman extended its exchange offer until midnight on June 21, 2002.

On June 18, 2002, TRW announced that it had reached a definitive agreement under which Goodrich Corporation would acquire TRW's Aeronautical Systems business for a gross purchase price of $1.5 billion in cash.

On June 24, 2002, Northrop Grumman sent to TRW a new acquisition proposal to acquire TRW, including proposed revisions to the form of merger agreement sent by TRW on June 10, 2002. TRW also received bids from other interested parties for business combinations either involving TRW as a whole, or involving TRW following a separation of TRW's Automotive business.

On June 24, 2002, Northrop Grumman extended its exchange offer until midnight on June 28, 2002.

On June 25, 2002, TRW's board of directors met and reviewed with TRW's management and legal and financial advisers the process for soliciting proposals and each of the proposals TRW had received. At the meeting, TRW's board of directors also reviewed the status of TRW's value enhancement initiatives. After careful analysis and discussions, TRW's board of directors determined to continue discussions with each of the interested parties to determine if the price and other terms of the proposals could be improved.

Between June 24, 2002 and June 27, 2002, there were a number of communications between representatives of Northrop Grumman and TRW concerning Northrop Grumman's acquisition proposals. From June 25th to June 27, 2002, TRW's management and legal and financial advisers also had further discussions with each of the other interested parties, and certain of the parties improved the terms and conditions of their proposals.

On June 27, 2002, TRW's board of directors met again to discuss the current terms and conditions of the proposals from each of the interested parties. After a discussion regarding the interim developments, the board determined to pursue discussions with only Northrop Grumman.

On June 28, 2002, Northrop Grumman's exchange offer expired in accordance with its terms.

Between June 28, 2002 and June 30, 2002, Northrop Grumman and TRW conducted meetings in New York, New York during which the parties negotiated the terms of the definitive merger agreement. During this period, TRW and its legal, financial and accounting advisers updated TRW's due diligence review of Northrop Grumman, reviewed confidential, non-public information regarding Northrop Grumman and had discussions with Northrop Grumman's management regarding Northrop Grumman's businesses.

On June 30, 2002, TRW's board of directors met again with TRW's management and legal and financial advisers and discussed the terms and conditions of the proposed merger agreement with Northrop Grumman. At the meeting, each of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston rendered its opinion to the board of directors of TRW to the effect that, as of that date and based on and subject to the assumptions, qualifications and limitations described in their respective opinions, the exchange ratio pursuant to the merger agreement was fair from a financial point of view to the holders of TRW common stock other than Northrop Grumman and its affiliates. Such opinions are attached hereto as Annexes D and E, respectively. Following a careful consideration of the proposed merger agreement, and after discussion with its financial and legal advisers, TRW's board of directors (with one director absent) unanimously determined that the terms and provisions of the merger agreement negotiated with Northrop Grumman were in the best interests of TRW's shareholders and approved the merger agreement. In addition, on June 30, 2002, Northrop Grumman's board of directors (with one director absent) unanimously approved the merger agreement. Thereafter, the merger agreement was executed by Northrop Grumman, TRW and Richmond Acquisition Corp.

On July 1, 2002, Northrop Grumman and TRW issued a joint press release announcing the merger agreement.

limitations and based on the considerations in each respective opinion, the exchange ratio to be used in the merger was fair, from a financial point of view, to Northrop Grumman. The opinions of Salomon Smith Barney and Stephens Financial Group are attached as Annexes B and C, respectively, to this joint proxy statement/prospectus and are incorporated herein by this reference.

Opinion of Salomon Smith Barney

Salomon Smith Barney was retained to act as a financial adviser to Northrop Grumman in connection with the proposed acquisition of TRW. Pursuant to Salomon Smith Barney's engagement letter with Northrop Grumman, Salomon Smith Barney rendered an oral opinion to Northrop Grumman's board of directors on June 30, 2002, subsequently confirmed in writing, to the effect that, based upon and subject to the assumptions, considerations and limitations set forth in its opinion, its work described in the opinion, its experience as investment bankers and other factors it deemed relevant, as of that date, the exchange ratio was fair, from a financial point of view, to Northrop Grumman. Except for this opinion, Salomon Smith Barney did not provide to Northrop Grumman or Northrop Grumman's board of directors any report, opinion or appraisal.

The full text of Salomon Smith Barney's opinion, which sets forth the assumptions made, general procedures followed, matters considered and limitations on the review undertaken by Salomon Smith Barney, is attached to this joint proxy statement/prospectus as Annex B. The summary of Salomon Smith Barney's opinion set forth below is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the opinion. Stockholders are urged to read Salomon Smith Barney's opinion carefully and in its entirety. The fairness opinion was provided to Northrop Grumman's board of directors for its information and is directed only to the fairness from a financial point of view of the exchange ratio pursuant to the merger agreement to Northrop Grumman.

Salomon Smith Barney has consented to the inclusion of its opinion and to the inclusion of the summary of its opinion in this joint proxy statement/prospectus. In giving such consent, Salomon Smith Barney does not concede that it comes within the category of persons whose consent is required under Section 7 of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act), or the rules and regulations of the SEC thereunder, nor does it concede that it is an expert within the meaning of the term expert as used in the Securities Act or the rules and regulations of the SEC thereunder with respect to any part of the registration statement on Form S-4 of which this joint proxy statement/prospectus forms a part.

In connection with rendering its opinion, Salomon Smith Barney, among other things:

reviewed a draft of the merger agreement dated June 29, 2002;

held discussions with certain senior officers, directors and representatives and advisers of Northrop Grumman and certain senior officers and representatives and advisers of TRW concerning the businesses, operations and prospects of Northrop Grumman and TRW;

examined certain publicly available business and financial information relating to Northrop Grumman and TRW;

reviewed certain financial forecasts and other information and data for Northrop Grumman and TRW which were provided to or otherwise discussed with Salomon Smith Barney by the managements of Northrop Grumman and TRW;

evaluated the pro forma financial impact of the merger on Northrop Grumman; and conducted such other analyses and examinations and considered such other information and financial, economic and market criteria as Salomon Smith Barney deemed appropriate in arriving at its opinion.

In rendering its opinion, Salomon Smith Barney assumed and relied, without assuming any responsibility for independent verification, upon the accuracy and completeness of all financial and other information and data publicly available or furnished to or otherwise reviewed by or discussed with it and has further relied upon the assurances of managements of Northrop Grumman and TRW that they are not aware of any facts that would make any of such information inaccurate or misleading. With respect to financial forecasts provided to or otherwise reviewed by or discussed with Salomon Smith Barney, Salomon Smith Barney was advised by the managements of Northrop Grumman and TRW that such forecasts had been reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best then currently available estimates and judgments of Northrop Grumman and TRW managements as to the future financial performance of Northrop Grumman and TRW, as the case may be. Salomon Smith Barney expressed no view with respect to such forecasts or the assumptions on which they were based. Salomon Smith Barney assumed that the merger will be treated as a tax-free reorganization for United States federal income tax purposes. Salomon Smith Barney did not make and was not provided with an independent evaluation or appraisal of the assets or liabilities (contingent or otherwise) of Northrop Grumman or TRW, nor did it make any physical inspection of the properties or assets of Northrop Grumman or TRW. Salomon Smith Barney further assumed that the transactions contemplated by the agreement pursuant to which TRW agreed to sell TRW's Aeronautical Systems business to Goodrich Corporation will be consummated in accordance with the terms of that agreement and that the proceeds from the sale of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business will be used by TRW to reduce its indebtedness. Northrop Grumman advised Salomon Smith Barney, and Salomon Smith Barney assumed, that the final terms of the merger agreement would not vary materially from those set forth in the draft provided to it. Salomon Smith Barney further assumed that the merger would be consummated in a timely fashion in accordance with the terms of the merger agreement, without waiver of any of the conditions precedent to the merger contained in the merger agreement.

Salomon Smith Barney's opinion relates to the relative values of Northrop Grumman and TRW. It does not express any opinion as to what the value of Northrop Grumman common stock will be when issued pursuant to the merger or the price at which Northrop Grumman common stock will trade or otherwise be transferable subsequent to the merger. Salomon Smith Barney was not requested to consider, and its opinion did not address, the relative merits of the merger as compared to any alternative business strategies that might exist for Northrop Grumman or the effect of any other transaction in which Northrop Grumman might engage. Salomon Smith Barney's opinion necessarily was based on information available to it and financial, stock market, and other conditions and circumstances as they existed and were disclosed to it as of the date of its opinion.

Salomon Smith Barney's advisory services and its opinion expressed herein were provided for the information of Northrop Grumman's board of directors in its evaluation of the merger, and Salomon Smith Barney's opinion is not intended to be and does not constitute a recommendation of the merger to Northrop Grumman's board of directors, Northrop Grumman or to anyone else, or a recommendation to any stockholder as to how such stockholder should vote on any matters relating to the merger.

The Salomon Smith Barney opinion to Northrop Grumman's board of directors as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the exchange ratio to Northrop Grumman, was one of many factors taken into consideration by Northrop Grumman's board of directors in making its decision to approve the merger agreement. The terms of the merger were determined through negotiations between Northrop Grumman and TRW, and were approved by Northrop Grumman's board of directors. Although Salomon Smith Barney provided advice to Northrop Grumman during the course of negotiations, the decision to enter into the merger agreement and to agree to the exchange ratio was solely that of Northrop Grumman's board of directors.

The full text of the written opinions of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston, each dated June 30, 2002, which set forth the procedures followed, assumptions made, matters considered and limitations on the review undertaken by each of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston in connection with their respective opinions, are attached as Annexes D and E, respectively, to this joint proxy statement/prospectus and are incorporated herein by reference. Table of Contents

Opinion of Goldman Sachs

In connection with its opinion, Goldman Sachs reviewed, among other things:

Goldman Sachs also held discussions with members of the senior managements of TRW and Northrop Grumman regarding their assessment of the strategic rationale for, and the potential benefits of, the merger and the past and current business operations, financial condition and future prospects of their respective companies. In addition, Goldman Sachs reviewed the reported price and trading activity for the TRW common stock and the Northrop Grumman common stock, compared select financial and stock market information for TRW and Northrop Grumman with similar information for several other companies the securities of which are publicly traded, and reviewed the financial terms of several recent business combinations in the automotive and aerospace and defense industries specifically and in other industries generally. Goldman Sachs also performed other studies and analyses that it considered appropriate.

For purposes of its analyses, Goldman Sachs assumed that:

the merger would be consummated in accordance with the merger agreement without amendment, modification or waiver of any of the terms of the merger agreement; and in the course of obtaining the necessary regulatory and third party approvals, consents, waivers and agreements relating to the merger, no modification, condition, restriction, limitation or delay would be imposed that would have an adverse effect on TRW or Northrop Grumman or the contemplated benefits of the merger.

Goldman Sachs' opinion was necessarily based upon information available to it and financial, economic, market and other conditions as they existed and could be evaluated on the date of Goldman Sachs' opinion. Goldman Sachs' opinion did not address relative merits of the merger as compared to other business strategies or transactions that might have been available to TRW or the underlying business decision of TRW to engage in the merger. In connection with its engagement, Goldman Sachs approached third parties to solicit indications of interest in a possible acquisition of TRW and its constituent businesses and held preliminary discussions with third parties.

Goldman Sachs relied upon the accuracy and completeness of all of the financial, accounting and other information discussed with or reviewed by it and assumed that accuracy and completeness for purposes of rendering its opinion. In addition, Goldman Sachs did not make an independent evaluation or appraisal of the assets and liabilities of TRW or Northrop Grumman or any of their respective subsidiaries. Goldman Sachs assumed that the internal financial forecasts prepared by the management of TRW were reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of TRW.

In connection with its review, Credit Suisse First Boston did not assume any responsibility for independent verification of any of the information that it reviewed or considered and relied on that information being complete and accurate in all material respects. Credit Suisse First Boston was advised, and assumed with respect to the financial forecasts and publicly available research estimates reviewed by Credit Suisse First Boston, that (i) the forecasts prepared and provided by TRW were reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of TRW's management as to the future financial performance of TRW and (ii) the publicly available research estimates with respect to Northrop Grumman discussed with the management of Northrop Grumman represent reasonable estimates as to the future financial performance of Northrop Grumman.

Credit Suisse First Boston relied upon the views of management of TRW and Northrop Grumman concerning the business, operational and strategic benefits and implications of the merger, including the cost savings and potential synergies expected to result from the merger.

TRW also informed Credit Suisse First Boston, and Credit Suisse First Boston assumed, the merger will be treated as a tax-free reorganization for federal income tax purposes. Credit Suisse First Boston also assumed that the merger will be consummated in accordance with the merger agreement without amendment, modification or waiver of any of the terms of the merger agreement and that in the course of obtaining the necessary regulatory and third party approvals, consents, waivers and agreements relating to the merger, no modification, condition, restriction, limitation or delay would be imposed that would have an adverse effect on TRW or Northrop Grumman or the contemplated benefits of the merger.

Joint Financial Analyses of TRW's Financial Advisers

In preparing their respective opinions to the TRW board of directors, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston performed a variety of financial and comparative analyses, including those described below. The summary of the analyses of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston described below is not a complete description of the analyses underlying their opinions. The preparation of a fairness opinion is a complex process involving various determinations as to the most appropriate and relevant methods of financial analysis and the application of those methods to the particular circumstances and, therefore, a fairness opinion is not readily susceptible to partial analysis or summary description. In arriving at their respective opinions, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston made qualitative judgments as to the significance and relevance of each analysis and factor that they considered. Accordingly, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston believe that their analyses must be considered as a whole and that selecting portions of their analyses and factors, or focusing on information presented in tabular format, without considering all analyses and factors or the narrative description of the analyses, could create a misleading or incomplete view of the processes underlying their analyses and opinions.

In their analyses, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston considered industry performance, general business, economic, market and financial conditions and other matters, many of which are beyond the control of the parties and their advisers. No company, transaction or business used in Goldman Sachs' and Credit Suisse First Boston's analyses as a comparison is identical to TRW, Northrop Grumman or the proposed merger. Rather, the analyses involve complex considerations and judgments concerning financial and operating characteristics and other factors that could affect the acquisition, public trading or other values of the companies, business segments or transactions analyzed. The estimates contained in the analyses of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston and the ranges of valuations resulting from any particular analysis are not necessarily indicative of actual values or predictive of future results or values, which may be significantly more or less favorable than those suggested by the analyses. In addition, analyses relating to the value of businesses or securities do not purport to be appraisals or to reflect the prices at which businesses or securities actually may be sold. Accordingly, the analyses and estimates of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston are inherently subject to substantial uncertainty.

The opinions of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston were only one of many factors considered by the board of directors of TRW in its evaluation of the proposed merger and should not be viewed as determinative of the views of the board of directors of TRW or management with respect to the merger or the exchange ratio. The following summary is not a complete description of the analyses performed by Goldman Sachs or Credit Suisse First Boston and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the written opinions of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston set forth in Annexes D and E, respectively.

The following is a summary of the material financial analyses underlying the opinions of Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston delivered to the board of directors of TRW. The financial analyses summarized below include information presented in tabular format. Valuation Overview

Using financial forecasts provided by TRW's management, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston calculated potential, fully-distributed enterprise values for TRW's Automotive business. Using these implied enterprise values for the Automotive business, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston calculated a range of enterprise values for the remaining Systems, Space and Electronics businesses of TRW based on the Northrop Grumman offer of $60.00 per TRW share.

Implied Fully-Distributed Enterprise Values for Automotive. In calculating the range of fully-distributed enterprise values for Automotive, the financial advisers calculated various trading multiples using the following measures:

estimated fiscal year 2002 and 2003 GAAP earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, sometimes referred to as EBITDA (EBITDA is a measure used by management and is not intended to represent an alternative to operating income or net cash flows provided by operating activities. EBITDA is not a recognized term under generally accepted accounting principles);

estimated fiscal year 2002 and 2003 EBITDA before pension and other post-employment benefits income and expenses, sometimes referred to as EBITDAPO; and estimated fiscal year 2002 and 2003 EBITDA before pension income.

The following table presents the results of this analysis:

Table of Contents*Analysis of TRW Value Enhancement Plan*

Using financial forecasts provided by TRW's management, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston analyzed the fully distributed public trading value to TRW shareholders if TRW had completed its value enhancement plan including a sale of the Aeronautical Systems business for an assumed $1.5 billion in gross proceeds to reduce debt and a sponsored spin off of the Automotive business. With respect to the valuation of the separate Automotive business, debt of approximately $2.8 billion to achieve a targeted credit rating of Baa3/BBB- and an equity investment by financial sponsors in the business were assumed. Based on an enterprise value for the Automotive business of $5.5 billion to $6.0 billion and 10.0-12.0x estimated 2002 pro forma EBITDA for the Systems, Space and Electronics businesses, the value ranged from $46.00 to $57.00 per TRW share.

Northrop Grumman Performance Analysis

Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston reviewed the historical trading prices for the shares of common stock of Northrop Grumman. For the five-year period ended June 28, 2002, Northrop Grumman's stock price increased 41% relative to an increase of 92% in an aerospace and defense composite consisting of Boeing, General Dynamics, L-3 Communications, Lockheed Martin and Raytheon and an increase of 12% in the S&P 500. For the one-year period ended June 28, 2002, Northrop Grumman's stock price increased 53% relative to an increase of 40% in the aerospace and defense composite and a decrease of 19% in the S&P 500. TRW's financial advisers also compared Northrop Grumman's performance against the aerospace and defense composite with L-3 Communications excluded from the composite, and under that scenario, Northrop Grumman's percentage increase in price of 41% was closer to the increase in the composite of 44% for the five-year period ended June 28, 2002 (the S&P 500 increased 12% during the same period). In addition, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston analyzed the percentage price increases for Northrop Grumman shares compared to the composite for the period commencing on the date of Northrop Grumman's initial offer to TRW and ending on June 28, 2002. This analysis resulted in price increases of 14% and 11% for Northrop Grumman stock and for the composite, respectively, and a similar 14% price increase for both Northrop Grumman stock and for the composite (excluding L-3 Communications). The S&P 500 decreased 9% during the same period.

Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston also compared trading multiples for Northrop Grumman against its industry peers, which included BAE Systems, Boeing, General Dynamics, L-3 Communications, Lockheed Martin and Raytheon, based on IBES, Inc. median estimates for earnings per share and selected publicly available research forecasts for EBITDA projections. TRW's financial advisers implied an enterprise value to estimated calendar year 2002 EBITDA multiple of 10.5x for Northrop Grumman and an enterprise value to estimated calendar year 2003 EBITDA multiple of 10.0x. The median EBITDA multiple for the selected companies was 10.9x for both calendar years 2002 and 2003. Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston derived price to earnings multiples of 20.6x and 18.4x for Northrop Grumman for estimated calendar years 2002 and 2003, respectively. The median price to earnings multiples for the selected companies was 20.4x and 18.4x for 2002 and 2003, respectively.

In addition, TRW's financial advisers reviewed the current earnings estimates for Northrop Grumman from several brokers. Some of these brokers provided price targets, which ranged from $125.00 per share to $160.00 per share.

Pro Forma Merger Analysis

Using financial forecasts provided by TRW's management and selected publicly available research forecasts, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston analyzed the pro forma estimated calendar year 2002 revenues and enterprise value for Northrop Grumman (combined with TRW's Systems, Space and Electronics businesses, based on the $60.00 offer price and an enterprise value for TRW's Automotive business of $5.75 billion) relative to its industry peers, assuming no synergies from the merger. The financial advisers calculated the total estimated calendar year 2002 revenues to be $23.4 billion and the total enterprise value to be $27.4 billion for Northrop Grumman.

Table of Contents

Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston also prepared a pro forma analysis of the financial impact of the merger on the earnings per share of Northrop Grumman using financial forecasts provided by TRW's management and IBES, Inc. estimates for Northrop Grumman. For the estimated calendar year 2003, TRW's financial advisers analyzed the accretion or dilution to earnings per share of the common stock of Northrop Grumman on a pro forma basis of the offer of $60.00 in Northrop Grumman common stock per TRW share, assuming a $1.9 billion write-up of intangibles to be amortized over 13.5 years and tax deductible for financial accounting purposes. Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston performed this analysis based on the low end, midpoint and high end of Northrop Grumman's collar and under various pre-tax synergies scenarios, ranging from the realization of no pre-tax synergies up to $150 million of pre-tax synergies from the merger. The analysis indicated that the proposed merger, at the midpoint of the collar range with $100 million of pre-tax synergies, would be moderately accretive to Northrop Grumman's earnings per share in estimated calendar year 2003.

Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston also analyzed the pro forma impact of the merger based on the offer of $60.00 in Northrop Grumman common stock per TRW share, assuming a split-off of the Automotive business at an enterprise value of $5.75 billion with $2.8 billion in debt and based on the midpoint of Northrop Grumman's collar of $125.00 per Northrop Grumman share. Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston calculated that the merger under the scenario of no change in Northrop Grumman's 2003 earnings per share performance relative to IBES, Inc. estimates with pre-tax synergies of $100 million would be moderately dilutive.

TRW retained Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston as its independent financial advisers in connection with TRW's analysis and consideration of, and response to, Northrop Grumman's acquisition proposal and with respect to the possible purchase of all or a portion of the stock or assets of TRW, a recapitalization of TRW, a sale of TRW or the solicitation of proxies or consents of TRW's shareholders. TRW has agreed to pay Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston transaction fees of .25% and .15%, respectively, of the aggregate value to be paid in the merger. TRW has also agreed to reimburse Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston for all reasonable out-of-pocket expenses, including fees of counsel, and to indemnify Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse First Boston and certain related persons against specified liabilities, including liabilities under the federal securities laws, relating to or arising out of their respective engagements.

Interests of TRW Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger

Certain members of the board of directors and executive officers of TRW may have interests in the merger that are different from, or are in addition to, the interests of TRW shareholders generally. The TRW board of directors was aware of these interests and considered them (other than the arrangements described below under "Special Incentive Agreements"), among other matters, in approving the merger agreement. The consummation of the merger will constitute a change of control for purposes of each of the plans and agreements described below.

Employment Continuation Agreements

TRW has entered into agreements with each of its executive officers (other than Mr. Lunn) designed generally to assure continued management in the event of a change in control of TRW. The agreements provide that, following a change in control, TRW will employ the officer until the earlier of the officer's death, his or her attaining age 65 (age 70 in the case of Mr. Knicely) or the expiration of the third anniversary of the change in control, which is referred to as the employment period. If the officer's employment were to be terminated by TRW during the employment period for reasons other than disability or cause, or by the officer for reasons relating to changed circumstances or during the 60-day period immediately following the first anniversary of the occurrence of a change in control, the officer would be entitled to receive a severance payment equal to the net present value of:

the salary and incentive pay that the officer would have received under the agreement for the remainder of the employment period or two years, whichever is longer (the remaining period) and a pro rata portion of the incentive pay for the year of termination; and employee benefits (other than employee welfare benefits and stock options and similar compensatory benefits) that the executive would have received for the remaining period, including under TRW's non-qualified retirement plan, assuming vesting (other than with respect to Mr. Plant, who will be entitled to a payment equal to 15% of his base salary and target incentive pay in lieu of such benefit continuation).

TRW will also provide the executive with health insurance and similar welfare benefits for the remaining period. If and to the extent any such employee benefits cannot be provided due to the fact that the executive is no longer employed by TRW or as a result of a termination or amendment of such employee benefit, TRW will itself pay or provide for the payment of such employee benefit. Welfare benefits payable to the executive shall be reduced to the extent comparable welfare benefits are actually received by the executive from another employer during the remaining period.

Table of Contents

If Mr. Plant's employment is terminated following the change in control and that termination occurs on or before the date on which he becomes eligible for a TRW-requested early retirement under the TRW pension scheme, TRW will pay Mr. Plant a pension equal to the benefit he would have received had he continued to be employed by TRW until the date upon which he would have become eligible for a TRW-requested early retirement. If following a change in control Mr. Plant is terminated, but that termination of employment occurs after he becomes eligible for a TRW-requested early retirement, then Mr. Plant will receive a pension benefit equal to the amount he would then be entitled to receive, assuming that his employment with TRW had continued for the remaining period and that his age was increased by an amount equal to the remaining period.

The agreements also provide that, in the event that total payments and distributions to the executive would be subject to the excise tax imposed by Section 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code, TRW will pay the excise tax and will pay to the officer a gross-up payment such that, after taking into account all taxes under Section 4999 applicable to the officer, the officer retains the same after-tax payment that he or she would have retained if Section 4999 did not apply.

TRW has also established a plan under which TRW executives party to employment continuation agreements may elect to defer receipt of payments that would otherwise be payable within five business days of a qualifying termination of employment following a change in control. The executives may elect to defer receipt of payments for up to two years, and may elect to receive their payouts in a lump sum or in annual installments of two to ten years. An executive who elects to defer is able to hypothetically invest the deferred amounts in a range of investment alternatives, and upon payout of the deferred amounts the executive receives the gain or loss on those hypothetical investments while such amounts were deferred.

TRW has established a trust related to funding payments that TRW would be required to make under the employment continuation agreements described above upon a change in control. Under the terms of the trust, within 180 days or such later date as determined by TRW's board of directors following a potential change in control, TRW is required to fund the trust with amounts sufficient to fund 125% of TRW's obligations under the agreements. The public disclosure by Northrop Grumman on February 22, 2002 of its unsolicited proposal to TRW to provide all of the TRW's shareholders with $47.00 in Northrop Grumman common stock for each share of TRW common stock constituted a potential change in control. At the present time TRW has not yet funded the trust. The trust is revocable at the option of TRW until a change in control occurs, after which it is irrevocable.

TRW estimates that the aggregate maximum amount of cash severance that would become payable to the executive officers as a group under the employment continuation agreements (assuming the employment of all such officers terminates in a manner entitling them to such benefits), not including payments with respect to employee benefits, incentive pay for the portion of the year worked prior to termination, balances in non-qualified defined contribution plans or any excise tax gross up, would be approximately $20.8 million.

Retention Agreements

TRW entered into retention and severance agreements with its executive officers (other than Mr. Lunn and Mr. Plant) as a result of TRW's plan to spin off the Automotive business and the other elements of TRW's value enhancement plan. The agreements with each such officer provides that the officer will be paid a retention bonus of eighteen months of base salary plus incentive bonus at the target level of 60% of base salary, if the officer remains in active status through the effective date which is the earlier of:

the elimination of the officer's position;

three months after the distribution date for the spin off of the Automotive business; and April 17, 2003, subject to TRW's right to extend the April 17, 2003 date for an additional three months if the spin off has just been completed or is still in process as of April 17, 2003.

The agreements provide that the officer will be paid the retention bonus if his employment is terminated, other than for cause, before the effective date.

Table of Contents

The agreements also provide for severance payments if the officer's employment is terminated by TRW without cause or if a constructive termination of employment occurs and, in either case, the officer has not accepted or continued employment within TRW or the spun-off Automotive business (or, in the case of Mr. Bush, the buyer of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business). If the officer qualifies for severance payments, TRW will generally continue the employment relationship from the date the officer ceases to provide active service to TRW until the earliest of:

eighteen months following that date;

the date the officer begins full-time employment outside of TRW;

the date the officer elects to retire from TRW (in the case of retirement-eligible officers); and the officer's death,

each of which is referred to as the termination date. TRW will continue to pay the officer's salary and incentive bonus payments at target level through the termination date. If the officer begins full-time employment outside of TRW, retires or dies before the end of the eighteen-month severance period, all such compensation that would otherwise be paid over time will be accelerated and paid in a single lump sum within 30 days of the termination date. The officer would also generally receive benefits through the termination date. The benefits payable to retirement-eligible officers under TRW's pension plan and non-qualified pension plans will be based on service through the earliest of the completion of the 18-month severance period, the officer's retirement, or the officer's death. The agreement with Mr. Roman provides that if his termination occurs more than twelve months after he is eligible to receive the retention bonus, he will receive severance in accordance with the terms of his preexisting employment arrangement with TRW.

If a change in control, as defined in the executive's employment continuation agreement, occurs within twelve months of the effective date, the amounts payable under the executive's employment continuation agreement will be offset and reduced by the retention and severance payments received under the retention and severance agreement.

Each of the agreements also contains covenants on the part of the executive with respect to confidentiality, cooperation and the release of claims. It is estimated that the aggregate maximum amount of cash benefit that would become payable to the executive officers as a group under these agreements (assuming such officers qualify for such benefits) would be approximately $15.3 million.

Special Incentive Agreements

Northrop Grumman has entered into special incentive letter agreements with Mr. Plant and Mr. Lunn, each of whom is an executive officer of TRW and a key employee of TRW's Automotive business. These agreements incentivize Mr. Plant and Mr. Lunn to remain employed by TRW's Automotive business and to use their respective best efforts to accomplish a sale or spin off of the Automotive business after the merger.

The respective agreements provide for a cash payment of $1.8 million to Mr. Plant and a cash payment of $800,000 to Mr. Lunn payable within fifteen days following the six month anniversary of the sale or spin off date if the following conditions are satisfied:

the merger closes on or before March 31, 2003;

the sale or spin off occurs after the merger, but before December 31, 2003 (subject to extension by mutual agreement);

the named individual remains continuously employed on a full time basis through the closing of the sale or spin off of the Automotive business and during that time uses best efforts to accomplish the sale or spin off of the Automotive business (which condition will be deemed satisfied if the individual is terminated without cause by Northrop Grumman after the merger but before the sale or spin off of the Automotive business); and the named individual remains continuously employed on a full-time basis by the new entity which includes the Automotive business for at least six months after the sale (which condition will be deemed satisfied if the individual is not offered employment with the new entity with at least the same base pay and 60% target bonus opportunity they currently have or if the base pay or bonus opportunity is reduced during the six-month period or if the new entity terminates the individual without cause).

Equity Awards

Upon completion of the merger, (a) all outstanding stock options will vest, (b) all outstanding shares of restricted stock will vest and all restrictions thereon will immediately lapse and (c) all outstanding restricted stock units will vest and be settled in common shares. Under the terms of the merger agreement, each TRW option outstanding at the effective time of the merger will be deemed assumed by Northrop Grumman and converted into an option to purchase a number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock based on the exchange ratio, and each TRW share of restricted stock and each TRW restricted stock unit will be converted into shares of Northrop Grumman common stock based on the exchange ratio. Alternatively, each holder of an equity award will be entitled to elect to receive prior to the effective time of the merger, in cancellation of such equity award, a cash payment equal to the average reported closing price per share of TRW common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the five consecutive trading days ending on and including the second trading day prior to the closing of the merger multiplied by the number of shares subject to such awards minus, in the case of options, the aggregate option exercise price. However, this cash payment election alternative will not be available if either TRW or Northrop Grumman reasonably determines that there is an undue risk that such election could be deemed a tender offer for TRW common stock. See THE MERGER AGREEMENT Treatment of TRW Stock Options and Other Equity Awards.

As of August 9, 2002 the current directors and executive officers of TRW and all other persons who served as a director or an executive officer of TRW since January 1, 2001 held:

Options to purchase 3,342,614 shares of TRW common stock, with a weighted average exercise price of 46.07 per share. Of these securities, options to purchase 2,652,110 shares of TRW common stock had vested as of such date;

35,605 unvested restricted stock units; and 91,600 unvested shares of restricted stock.

Strategic Incentive Program

Each of TRW's executive officers has been awarded grants under TRW's strategic incentive program. The terms of each outstanding grant provide that if a change in control occurs prior to the end of the applicable performance period, the officer will be entitled to receive a payment for the full performance period, assuming maximum performance of all performance goals. The cash value of the award is equal to the number of performance units payable multiplied by the average of the high and low sales prices for shares of TRW common stock for each day on which such shares are traded on the New York Stock Exchange during the 30 calendar days preceding the date the change in control occurs. As of August 9, 2002, TRW's current executive officers and all persons that served as executive officers at any time since January 1, 2001 would receive an aggregate cash payment, as determined above, with respect to 611,000 shares of TRW common stock, as determined above, upon a change of control, pursuant to outstanding performance units under the strategic incentive program.

Split-dollar Life Insurance Agreements

TRW has entered into split-dollar life insurance agreements with certain key executive officers. Under the split-dollar agreements, TRW owns, and pays the premiums on, the life insurance policies and the officer has the right to designate a beneficiary to receive a fixed portion of the policy death benefit. The balance of the death benefit will be payable to TRW as a recovery of its investment. The plan under which the agreements were entered into provides that upon a change in control, ownership of the policies will transfer to an irrevocable trust, and TRW will be required to fund the trust with sufficient assets to pay future premiums on the policies. TRW currently estimates that the amount necessary to fund the trust with respect to policies covering each person who has been an executive officer of TRW at any time since January 1, 2001 is approximately $9.8 million.

Deferred Compensation Arrangements

TRW maintains certain non-qualified defined contribution plans. The balance of an executive's account under these plans will be terminated and payable as a part of any severance payment under the employment continuation agreements described above. As of July 31, 2002, an aggregate amount of $21.9 million was credited under the nonqualified defined contribution plans to the accounts of TRW's executive officers that are party to employment continuation agreements.

Directors Deferred Compensation Plan

Under the terms of TRW's Deferred Compensation Plan for Non-Employee Directors, the balance of the director's deferred compensation account will be immediately distributed upon a change in control, if the director has specifically stipulated on his or her election form for such distribution. As of July 31, 2002, TRW's aggregate liability under this plan to all the current directors with respect to the elective deferral portion of director compensation was approximately $1.8 million. TRW has contributed approximately $3.2 million to a trust for the payment of amounts under this plan, which is approximately equal to the current liability to all current and former directors with respect to their elective deferrals under the plan. The trust also holds shares of TRW common stock, which shares were purchased by the trustee with the mandatory deferral portion of directors' annual retainer.

Agreement with Former Executive Officer

Under the terms of an agreement entered into between TRW and Carl G. Miller, TRW's Chief Financial Officer from February 1996 through July 2001, Mr. Miller is entitled to an annual incentive payment with respect to 2002. In the event of a change in control of TRW, the incentive payment that Mr. Miller is entitled to with respect to 2002 will be equal to the highest annual incentive payment paid to Mr. Miller in any of the three years preceding the date of the change in control.

Governmental and Regulatory Matters

United States Antitrust. Under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976 (sometimes referred to as the HSR Act) and the rules that have been promulgated thereunder by the Federal Trade Commission (sometimes referred to as the FTC) certain acquisition transactions may not be consummated unless certain information has been furnished to the Antitrust Division of the United States Department of Justice and the FTC and certain waiting period requirements have been satisfied. The merger is subject to these requirements.

Pursuant to the requirements of the HSR Act, Northrop Grumman filed the required Notification and Report Forms (the Forms) with the Antitrust Division and the FTC on March 11, 2002. TRW filed the Forms on March 26, 2002. On April 10, 2002, Northrop Grumman and TRW each received a request for additional information from the United States Department of Justice. The statutory waiting period applicable to the merger will expire at 11:59 P.M., Eastern Time, on the thirtieth day after Northrop Grumman and TRW both have substantially complied with such requests, unless otherwise terminated by the Antitrust Division. If the thirtieth day falls on a weekend or holiday, the waiting period will expire at the close of the next regular business day. Thereafter, such waiting periods can be extended only by court order or by voluntary consent of the parties. The parties are in the process of complying with such requests for additional information.

Table of Contents

The Antitrust Division and the FTC frequently scrutinize the legality of transactions under the antitrust laws. At any time before or after the consummation of any such transactions, the Antitrust Division or the FTC could, notwithstanding termination of the waiting period, take such action under the antitrust laws as it deems necessary or desirable in the public interest, including seeking to enjoin the merger or seeking divestiture of TRW's or Northrop's assets. Private parties and State Attorneys General may also bring legal actions under the antitrust laws.

European Community Merger Control Regulation. Under Council Regulation (EC) No. 4064/89 (the ECMR), certain transactions may not be consummated before approval has been obtained from the European Commission. The ECMR prevents merging parties from consummating their merger until the European Commission has approved the transaction or has granted an express derogation from this rule. The European Commission's initial investigation will last one month from the date a complete notification form has been submitted by Northrop Grumman (a period that is extended to six weeks if remedies are offered to address any concerns raised by the European Commission). After the initial one month/six weeks, the European Commission can either approve the transaction or initiate proceedings, which can last up to an additional four months.

Other. Additional filings may be necessary in countries outside the United States and the European Community. In addition, it is possible that any of the governmental entities with which filings are made may seek, as conditions for granting approval of the merger, various regulatory concessions.

Certain Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Merger

The following discussion is a summary of material United States federal income tax consequences of the merger. This discussion is based on the Internal Revenue Code, its legislative history, the related Treasury regulations, administrative interpretations and court decisions, all of which are subject to change, possibly with retroactive effect. Any such change could affect the accuracy of the statements and the conclusions discussed below and the tax consequences of the merger to TRW shareholders. This discussion applies only to TRW shareholders that hold their shares of TRW common stock, and will hold the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock received in the merger, as capital assets within the meaning of Section 1221 of the Internal Revenue Code. This discussion does not address all federal income tax consequences of the merger that may be relevant to particular holders, including holders that are subject to special tax rules. Some examples of holders that are subject to special tax rules are:

dealers in securities;

financial institutions;

insurance companies;

tax-exempt organizations;

holders of shares of TRW stock as part of a position in a straddle or as part of a hedging or conversion transaction;

holders who have a functional currency other than the United States dollar;

holders who are foreign persons;

holders who own their shares indirectly through partnerships, trusts or other entities that may be subject to special treatment; and holders who acquired their shares of TRW stock through stock option or stock purchase programs or otherwise as compensation.

In addition, this discussion does not address the tax consequences of the merger under the laws of any state, local or foreign jurisdiction or the tax consequences of transactions effectuated prior or subsequent to, or concurrently with, the merger.

Table of Contents

TRW shareholders are urged to consult their own tax advisers as to specific tax consequences to them of the merger, including the applicability and effect of any state, local or foreign tax laws and of changes in applicable tax laws.

The obligations of Northrop Grumman and TRW to complete the merger are conditioned upon the delivery of opinions to Northrop Grumman and TRW by Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher LLP and PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, respectively, in each case in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to the party to whom such closing tax opinion is addressed, that, for federal income tax purposes, (a) the merger will constitute a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code and (b) each of Northrop Grumman, TRW and Richmond Acquisition Corp. will be a party to the reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(b) of the Internal Revenue Code. These opinions will be given in reliance on customary factual representations contained in certificates executed by officers of TRW and Northrop Grumman at the date of consummation of the merger. These opinions are not binding on the courts or the Internal Revenue Service, nor do they preclude the Internal Revenue Service from adopting a position contrary to that expressed in the opinions. No assurance can be given that contrary positions will not successfully be asserted by the Internal Revenue Service or adopted by a court if the issues are litigated. Neither TRW nor Northrop Grumman intends to obtain a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service with respect to the federal income tax consequences of the merger.

Neither Northrop Grumman nor TRW currently intends to waive the condition relating to the receipt of a closing tax opinion. In the unlikely event that either of Northrop Grumman or TRW were to determine to waive such condition, Northrop Grumman or TRW would mail additional information to its stockholders or shareholders describing any changes in the material United States federal income tax consequences that would result from the merger and would resolicit proxies if there were any material adverse changes in the United States federal income tax consequences to its stockholders or shareholders.

Assuming that the merger qualifies as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code, the following material federal income tax consequences will result from the merger:

TRW shareholders will not recognize any gain or loss upon the exchange of their shares of TRW common stock for shares of Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger, except with respect to any gain or loss attributable to cash received in lieu of fractional shares of Northrop Grumman common stock;

The aggregate tax basis of the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock received in exchange for shares of TRW common stock pursuant to the merger will be the same as the aggregate tax basis of the shares of TRW common stock surrendered in the merger, except that such holder's aggregate tax basis in Northrop Grumman common stock will be reduced by the tax basis allocable to any fractional share interest in Northrop Grumman common stock for which such holder will receive cash;

The holding period for shares of Northrop Grumman common stock received in the merger in exchange for shares of TRW common stock will include the holding period for the TRW common stock surrendered;

Cash payments received by TRW shareholders in lieu of a fractional share of Northrop Grumman common stock will be treated as received in exchange for that fractional share interest, and gain or loss will be recognized for federal income tax purposes on receipt of the cash payment, measured by the difference between the amount of cash received and the portion of the basis of the TRW common stock allocable to the fractional share interest. The gain or loss will be long term capital gain or loss if the TRW common stock is considered to have been held for more than one year at the time of the merger;

If a TRW shareholder perfects dissenter's rights with respect to its TRW common stock, such holder should generally recognize capital gain or loss at the effective time of the merger in an amount equal to the difference between the amount realized and the adjusted tax basis of its TRW common stock. For this purpose, although there is no authority directly on point, the amount realized generally should equal the trading price of TRW common stock at the effective time of the merger. Such holder should also recognize capital gain or loss at the time the appraised fair cash value is received, to the extent such payment exceeds or is less than the amount realized at the effective time of the merger. In addition, a portion of such payment may be characterized as interest income; and

None of Northrop Grumman, Northrop Grumman stockholders, Richmond Acquisition Corp., or TRW will recognize any gain or loss solely as a result of the merger.

If the Internal Revenue Service determines successfully that the merger is not a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code, TRW shareholders would be required to recognize any gain or loss with respect to each share of TRW common stock surrendered in the merger in an amount equal to the difference between the tax basis in that share of stock and the fair market value on the date of the merger of the Northrop Grumman common stock received in exchange therefor. In such event, a TRW shareholder's aggregate tax basis in the Northrop Grumman common stock received in the merger would equal its fair market value on the date of the merger, and the shareholder's holding period for the Northrop Grumman common stock would begin the day after the merger.

The above discussion of potential tax consequences may not apply to certain categories of stockholders subject to special treatment under the Internal Revenue Code. TRW shareholders are urged to consult their own tax advisers to determine the specific tax consequences of the merger, including any federal, state, local, foreign or other tax consequences of the merger.

Recent Litigation

On March 4, 2002, Northrop Grumman filed a lawsuit in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio against TRW and certain other persons, seeking declaratory and injunctive relief with respect to Ohio's control share acquisition law, business combination law, and control bid law. The lawsuit alleges that such statutes conflict with the United States Constitution and United States laws governing the conduct of tender offers, and thus are unconstitutional.

On March 4, 2002, TRW filed a lawsuit in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio against Northrop Grumman, the Attorney General of Ohio, the Director of Ohio's Department of Commerce and the Commissioner of Ohio's Division of Securities. The lawsuit sought a judgment that the control share acquisition law, business combination law and control bid law are constitutional.

Both of these lawsuits have been dismissed with prejudice as agreed by Northrop Grumman and TRW in the merger agreement. The lawsuit filed in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio was dismissed on July 15, 2002 and a dismissal for the lawsuit filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio was filed on July 12, 2002.

Dissenters' Appraisal Rights of TRW Shareholders

In the merger, Richmond Acquisition Corp., an Ohio corporation and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman, will be merged with and into TRW, with TRW as the corporation surviving the merger. Each outstanding share of TRW common stock (except for treasury shares of TRW and shares beneficially owned directly or indirectly by Northrop Grumman for its own account) will be converted into the right to receive shares of Northrop Grumman common stock based on the exchange ratio described herein, subject to dissenters' rights under Ohio law.

If the merger is completed, TRW shareholders will have certain rights under the Ohio Revised Code to dissent and demand dissenters' rights and to receive payment in cash of the fair cash value of their TRW shares. TRW shareholders who vote in favor of the merger will not be entitled to relief as dissenting shareholders. In order to qualify for rights as a dissenting shareholder, a TRW shareholder must deliver to TRW a written demand for payment of the fair cash value of the shares for which relief is sought within the time period prescribed by Sections 1701.84 and 1701.85 of the Ohio Revised Code. If TRW then sends a dissenting shareholder a request for the certificates representing the TRW shares for which relief is sought, the dissenting shareholder must return the certificates requested to TRW so that they may be endorsed with a legend stating that a demand for the fair cash value of such TRW shares has been made. A dissenting shareholder's failure to deliver such certificates within a prescribed time period terminates his or her rights as a dissenting shareholder under Ohio law. Unless TRW and the dissenting shareholder come to an agreement on the fair cash value per share of the TRW shares for which such dissenting shareholder seeks relief, either the dissenting shareholder or TRW may file a complaint in court. Other dissenting shareholders may join as plaintiffs or defendants in the resulting proceeding at that time.

If the shareholder complies with the statutory procedures for exercising or perfecting dissenters' rights in accordance with Sections 1701.84 and 1701.85 of the Ohio Revised Code, then a judicial determination will be made as to the fair cash value required to be paid to the objecting shareholder for such holder's TRW shares. Any such judicial determination of the fair cash value will be based on the amount that a willing seller, under no compulsion to sell, would be willing to accept, and a willing buyer, under no compulsion to purchase, would be willing to pay. In determining the fair cash value of the TRW shares, a court is required to take into account all relevant factors, excluding any appreciation or depreciation in market value resulting from the proposal of the merger. Accordingly, such determination could be based upon considerations other than, or in addition to, the market value of the TRW shares, including, among other things, asset values and earning capacity. The value so determined may be more or less than the price per TRW share to be paid in the merger but in no event can the value so determined exceed the amount specified in the demand of a particular shareholder.

From the time written demand for payment of the fair cash value is given until either the termination of the rights and obligations arising from such demand or the purchase of the shares related thereto, all rights accruing to the dissenting shareholder, including voting and dividend or distribution rights, will be suspended. If any dividend or distribution is paid in money on TRW shares during the suspension or if any dividend, distribution or interest is paid in money upon any securities issued in extinguishment of or in substitution for such shares, an amount equal to the dividend, distribution or interest that would have been payable on the shares, but for such suspension, shall be paid to the holder of record of the shares as a credit against the fair cash value of the shares. If the right to receive the fair cash value is terminated other than by the purchase of the shares, all rights will be restored to the objecting shareholder and any distribution that would have been made to the holder of record of the shares, but for the suspension, will be made at the time of such termination.

The foregoing summary of the rights of dissenting shareholders under Ohio law does not purport to be a complete statement of the procedures to be followed by shareholders desiring to exercise any available dissenters' rights and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of Section 1701.84 and Section 1701.85 of the Ohio Revised Code included herein as Annex H and incorporated herein by this reference. The preservation and exercise of dissenters' rights are conditioned on strict adherence to the applicable provisions of the Ohio Revised Code.

Plans for TRW After the Merger

After the merger, Northrop Grumman currently anticipates that TRW will continue its current operations, except that it would cease to be publicly owned and would instead be a wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman. Northrop Grumman expects to divest TRW's Automotive business after the merger either by selling that business to a third party or parties or by spinning it off to Northrop Grumman stockholders (including the former TRW shareholders), or by a combination of a sale and spin off.

THE MERGER AGREEMENT

The following summary describes some of the material terms and conditions of the merger agreement, but is not intended to be an exhaustive discussion of the merger agreement. The rights and obligations of the parties are governed by the express terms and conditions of the merger agreement, and not this summary or any other information contained in this joint proxy statement/prospectus. This summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the merger agreement, and Northrop Grumman stockholders and TRW shareholders are encouraged to read the entire merger agreement as well as this joint proxy statement/prospectus before making any decisions regarding the merger or the other transactions described herein. A copy of the merger agreement is attached as Annex A to this joint proxy statement/prospectus and is incorporated herein by this reference.

The Merger

The merger agreement provides that Richmond Acquisition Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman, will merge with and into TRW at the time the merger becomes effective. TRW will be the corporation surviving the merger and will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman.

Closing of the Merger

The closing of the merger will take place (a) as soon as practicable, but in any event within three business days after the day all conditions to the merger set forth in the merger agreement are fulfilled or validly waived or (b) at such other time as Northrop Grumman and TRW may agree in writing. A certificate of merger will be filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Ohio as soon as practicable after satisfaction or waiver of all conditions to the merger, at which time the merger will become effective. The parties currently expect to complete the merger during the fourth quarter of 2002.

Consideration to be Received in the Merger

At the effective time of the merger, each share of TRW common stock (other than shares held by dissenting shareholders and shares held by Northrop Grumman or TRW) automatically will be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock equal to the exchange ratio. The exchange ratio is determined by dividing $60.00 by the average reported closing sales prices of Northrop Grumman common stock on the New York Stock Exchange as reported in the Wall Street Journal for the five consecutive trading days ending on (and including) the second trading day prior to the closing date of the merger. However, in no event will the exchange ratio be greater than 0.5357 ($60.00/$112.00) or less than 0.4348 ($60.00/$138.00).

If the average Northrop Grumman common stock closing sale price, calculated as described above, is greater than $138.00, TRW's common shareholders will receive 0.4348 shares of Northrop Grumman common stock for each share of TRW common stock. If the average Northrop Grumman common stock closing sale price, calculated as described above, is less than $112.00, TRW's common shareholders will receive 0.5357 shares of Northrop Grumman common stock for each share of TRW common stock.

Holders of TRW common stock will have the right under Ohio law to dissent from the merger and receive the fair value of their shares in cash, as described in THE MERGER Dissenters Appraisal Rights of TRW Shareholders on page 61.

Treatment of Fractional Shares

No fractional shares of Northrop Grumman common stock will be issued pursuant to the merger. Holders of TRW common stock will be paid cash instead of any fractional shares of Northrop Grumman common stock that the holder otherwise would have received in the merger. The amount of cash paid will be equal to the fractional share interest of Northrop Grumman common stock to which the holder otherwise would be entitled (after taking into account all shares of TRW common stock held at the effective time by the holder), multiplied by the average closing sale prices for a share of Northrop Grumman common stock used to calculate the exchange ratio for the merger.

Table of Contents

Preferred Stock of TRW

Pursuant to the merger agreement, each outstanding share of TRW Cumulative Serial Preference Stock II, $4.40 Convertible Series 1 and each outstanding share of TRW Cumulative Serial Preference Stock II, $4.50 Convertible Series 3, will be redeemed for cash by TRW prior to the record date for the TRW Meeting. On July 26, 2002 TRW gave notice that on August 30, 2002 all outstanding shares of its Cumulative Serial Preference Stock II, $4.40 Convertible Series I, will be redeemed at a redemption price of $104.00 per share, and all outstanding shares of its Cumulative Serial Preference Stock II, $4.50 Convertible Series 3, will be redeemed at a redemption price of $100.00 per share. Therefore, the holders of such securities will not be entitled to notice of, or to vote at, the TRW Meeting, and the approval of such TRW shareholders will not be required to adopt the merger agreement.

Procedures for Exchanging TRW Common Stock

At or prior to the effective time of the merger, Northrop Grumman will deposit with the exchange agent certificates representing the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock to be issued to TRW's shareholders in connection with the merger. Each form of letter of transmittal that will be sent to TRW shareholders promptly after closing will include detailed instructions on how TRW shareholders may exchange their TRW common stock for the consideration they are entitled to receive in connection with the merger. After the closing, the exchange agent will send new certificates representing Northrop Grumman common stock to former TRW shareholders who have delivered properly completed letters of transmittal to the exchange agent with their TRW share certificates, and a check for the fractional share interests or dividends or distributions that each such TRW shareholder is entitled to receive pursuant to the merger agreement. No interest will be paid on any cash paid in connection with the merger, other than as may be required with respect to dissenters' rights under Ohio law.

Any merger consideration that remains unclaimed one year after the effective time of the merger shall be returned to Northrop Grumman. Any TRW shareholder who has not exchanged such holder's shares of TRW common stock for shares of Northrop Grumman common stock by that date shall thereafter look only to Northrop Grumman for delivery of the merger consideration to which they are entitled.

Treatment of TRW Stock Options and Other Equity Awards

Pursuant to the merger agreement, each holder of TRW stock options, TRW restricted stock and TRW restricted stock units will be entitled to elect to have those securities redeemed by TRW for cash as described in the merger agreement, unless either Northrop Grumman or TRW reasonably determines that there is an undue risk that such an election could be deemed to be a tender offer for TRW common stock by TRW. To the extent that a holder of such securities does not elect redemption, or if the redemption cannot be effected because either Northrop Grumman or TRW reasonably determines that there is an undue risk that such election could be deemed a tender offer for TRW common stock, at the effective time of the merger:

all unvested TRW stock options will vest and all TRW options will be deemed assumed by Northrop Grumman. The number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock issuable upon exercise of each assumed TRW option will be equal to (a) the number of shares of TRW common stock issuable upon exercise of the TRW option prior to the effective time of the merger multiplied by (b) the exchange ratio used in exchanging shares of TRW common stock for shares of Northrop Grumman common stock in the merger. The exercise price for such assumed TRW options will be equal to (i) the exercise price in effect for the TRW options prior to the effective time of the merger divided by (ii) the exchange ratio used in exchanging shares of TRW common stock for shares of Northrop Grumman common stock in the merger.

each share of TRW restricted stock and each TRW restricted stock unit award will vest and all restrictions on those securities will lapse as of the effective time of the merger, and the holder thereof will be entitled to receive the same number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock to which the holder would have been entitled had the holder held unrestricted shares of TRW common stock at the effective time.

In addition, at the effective time of the merger:

each outstanding TRW stock appreciation right will accelerate and automatically be converted into the right to receive cash in the amount by which the value of the shares of TRW common stock subject to the stock appreciation right, calculated as the average of the closing sale prices for a share of TRW common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the five consecutive trading days ending on (and including) the second trading day before the closing date of the merger, exceeds the exercise price for the shares of TRW common stock subject to the stock appreciation right;

each outstanding TRW critical skills stock unit grant will be amended or converted into a similar instrument of Northrop Grumman, with such adjustments to the terms and conditions of the grant as are appropriate to preserve the value inherent in the awards; and each outstanding TRW strategic incentive program grant will be cancelled in exchange for a lump sum cash payment equal to the value of the grant, assuming maximum performance of all performance goals, except that 2001-2002 strategic incentive program grants will be paid at 50% of the maximum value of such grants, assuming all performance goals had been reached.

Any cash amounts paid in cancellation of these TRW securities will be paid by TRW at or prior to the effective time of the merger out of funds provided by TRW and will be net of any amounts required to be withheld for tax withholding obligations.

Registration and Listing of Northrop Grumman Common Stock

Northrop Grumman and TRW have agreed to use their reasonable best efforts to register the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock to be issued as consideration in the merger under the Securities Act, and Northrop Grumman has agreed to cause those shares to be listed on the New York Stock Exchange, upon official notice of issuance. The registration and listing of the Northrop Grumman common stock are conditions to the obligations of Northrop Grumman and TRW to consummate the merger.

Representations and Warranties

Northrop Grumman and TRW have made certain customary representations and warranties to each other in the merger agreement, including those as to:

corporate existence and power;	litigation matters;
corporate authorization;	tax matters;
governmental authorizations;	employee benefit matters;
non-contravention;	compliance with laws;
capitalization;	environmental matters;
subsidiary matters;	Ohio anti-takeover statutes;
financial statements;	intellectual property and software matters;
the absence of certain material changes;	government contracts; and the absence of undisclosed material liabilities;	problems with customers and suppliers.

Certain of the representations and warranties are qualified by a material adverse effect standard. A material adverse effect, with respect to both Northrop Grumman and TRW, means any event, circumstance or change that:

materially adversely affects the ability of Northrop Grumman and TRW, as the case may be, and their respective subsidiaries, taken as a whole, to perform the obligations set forth in the merger agreement or to consummate the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement; or

is materially adverse to the business, assets, financial condition or results of operations of Northrop Grumman and TRW, as the case may be, and their respective subsidiaries, taken as a whole.

However, events, circumstances or changes, alone or in combination, that arise out of or result from the following are not deemed to have a material adverse effect:

general legal, regulatory, political, business, economic, capital market or financial market conditions or conditions otherwise generally affecting industries in which Northrop Grumman or TRW and their respective subsidiaries, taken as a whole, generally operate, except to the extent Northrop Grumman or TRW, as the case may be, is materially and adversely affected in a disproportionate manner as compared to other comparable participants in such industries;

the negotiation, execution, announcement or consummation of the merger agreement and the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement, including the impact thereof on relationships, contractual or otherwise, with customers, suppliers, distributors, partners or employees;

the proposed sale of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business; and subject to the absence of an objection by Northrop Grumman, any actions required by or permitted under the merger agreement to be taken in connection with the spin off of the TRW Automotive business or another transaction involving the separation of TRW's Automotive business substantially in accordance with the documents previously filed by TRW with the Internal Revenue Service and the SEC.

The representations and warranties contained in the merger agreement do not survive beyond the effective time of the merger.

Conduct of Business Before the Merger

TRW has agreed to conduct its businesses, and to cause its subsidiaries to conduct their businesses, from June 30, 2002 to the effective time of the merger in the ordinary course consistent with past practice and to use their reasonable best efforts to preserve intact their business organizations and relationships with third parties.

with respect to Northrop Grumman, taking all actions such as:

proposing, negotiating, committing to and effecting, the sale, divestiture or disposition of assets or businesses of Northrop Grumman or any of its subsidiaries; and otherwise taking or committing to take actions that limit Northrop Grumman or its subsidiaries' freedom of action with respect to, or ability to retain, one or more of its or its subsidiaries' businesses, product lines or assets;

in each case as required to avoid the entry of, or to effect the dissolution of, any injunction or order which would prevent or materially delay the merger, unless doing so would, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect on the business, assets, long term earning capacity or financial condition of Northrop Grumman and its subsidiaries taken as a whole; and with respect to TRW, taking such of the foregoing actions as Northrop Grumman may request, provided that any such action by TRW that is not an express condition to the merger may be conditioned on the completion of the merger;

keep each other reasonably apprised of the status of the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement and reasonably cooperate in obtaining all required approvals or consents of any governmental authority;

give, or cause TRW after the merger to give, such TRW employees full credit for their service with TRW, solely for purposes of eligibility and vesting under severance benefit, vacation and other employee benefit plans or arrangements maintained by Northrop Grumman or any subsidiary of Northrop Grumman to the same extent recognized by TRW for similar TRW benefit plans or arrangements;

waive or cause to be waived certain preexisting conditions, exclusions and waiting periods with respect to participation and coverage requirements applicable to such TRW employees under any welfare benefit plans of Northrop Grumman; and if not subject to any limitations as to materiality or material adverse effect, being true and correct at and as of the effective time of the merger as if made at and as of such time (except to the extent expressly made as of an earlier date, in which case as of such earlier date), except where the failure of such representations and warranties to be true and correct would not, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect on TRW; and

TRW having received from PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP an opinion stating that the merger will be treated for federal income tax purposes as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code and that each of Northrop Grumman, TRW and Richmond Acquisition Corp. will be a party to the reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and such opinions having not been withdrawn.

Termination of the Merger Agreement

The merger agreement may be terminated by the mutual written consent of Northrop Grumman and TRW at any time prior to the merger.

The merger agreement may be terminated by either Northrop Grumman or TRW if:

the merger is not consummated by December 31, 2002 (or March 31, 2003, if the only unsatisfied conditions relate to antitrust and governmental approvals or the existence of a provision of law or a regulation, judgment, injunction, order or decree making the merger illegal or otherwise prohibiting the consummation of the merger);

the Northrop Grumman stockholders do not approve the issuance of the Northrop Grumman common stock in connection with the merger at the Northrop Meeting or any adjournment thereof;

the TRW shareholders do not adopt the merger agreement at the TRW Meeting or any adjournment thereof;

any law or regulation makes the merger illegal or otherwise prohibits the merger or if any judgment, injunction, order or decree enjoining Northrop Grumman, TRW or Richmond Acquisition Corp. from consummating the merger becomes final and unappealable; or the other party breaches a representation, warranty, covenant or obligation contained in the merger agreement and such breach:

results in a failure of the condition that the other party was required to perform its obligations under the merger agreement in all material respects or that the other party's representations and warranties be true and correct unless the failure to be true and correct is not material or would not result in a material adverse effect on the other party and its subsidiaries taken together; and is not susceptible to cure or, if susceptible to cure, is not cured within 30 days after written notice of the breach.

The merger agreement may be terminated by Northrop Grumman if:

TRW's board of directors changes its recommendation to TRW's shareholders to adopt the merger agreement (whether or not permitted by the merger agreement);

TRW fails to call the TRW Meeting; or

TRW's board of directors recommends a proposal other than the merger to the TRW shareholders.

The merger agreement may be terminated by TRW if:

Northrop Grumman's board of directors changes its recommendation to Northrop Grumman's stockholders to approve the issuance of the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger (whether or not permitted by the merger agreement);

Northrop Grumman fails to call the Northrop Meeting; or

TRW's board of directors in good faith determines by a majority vote, after consultation with outside legal counsel, that to fulfill its fiduciary obligations it may be required to withdraw its recommendation

regarding the merger, or approve or recommend, or cause TRW to enter into an agreement regarding a proposal that TRW's board of directors believes is more favorable to TRW's shareholders than the merger, and:

TRW gives notice to Northrop Grumman of the competing proposal, including the material terms of the proposal and the identity of the party making the competing proposal;

Northrop Grumman does not make an offer that TRW's board of directors by a majority vote determines in good faith (based on the advice of TRW's financial advisers) is as favorable to TRW's shareholders as the competing proposal within five days after receiving notice from TRW of the competing proposal; and prior to or concurrently with signing any agreement regarding the competing proposal, TRW must terminate the merger agreement and pay Northrop Grumman the termination fee described below.

Termination Fee

TRW must pay Northrop Grumman a termination fee of $275 million if the merger agreement is terminated:

by Northrop Grumman, because TRW's board of directors changes its recommendation to TRW's shareholders to adopt the merger agreement (whether or not permitted by the merger agreement);

by Northrop Grumman, because TRW fails to call the TRW Meeting as required by the merger agreement;

by Northrop Grumman, because TRW's board of directors recommends a proposal other than the merger to the TRW shareholders;

by TRW, after complying with its obligations under the non-solicitation provisions of the merger agreement referred to below. See THE MERGER AGREEMENT No Solicitation on the following page.

TRW also must pay Northrop Grumman the $275 million termination fee if the merger agreement is terminated by Northrop Grumman because:

the TRW shareholders fail to adopt the merger agreement at the TRW Meeting and, at the time of the TRW Meeting, there is outstanding, or TRW is considering, or there has been a public announcement of, a plan or proposal (referred to as an acquisition proposal) for the direct or indirect acquisition of 30% or more of either the equity interests in TRW or the assets or business of TRW or its subsidiaries that constitute 30% or more of the net revenues, net income or net assets of TRW and its subsidiaries (taken as a whole), and within twelve months thereafter:

TRW enters into an agreement with respect to such an acquisition proposal; or a transaction occurs involving the conveyance of 50% or more of either the equity interests in TRW or the assets or business of TRW or its subsidiaries that constitute 50% or more of the net revenues, net income or net assets of TRW and its subsidiaries (taken as a whole), in each case involving any party or an affiliate thereof:

with whom TRW or its agents had negotiations regarding an acquisition proposal; to whom TRW or its agents provided information in connection with an acquisition proposal; or who had submitted an acquisition proposal to TRW after the date of the merger agreement and before the date the merger agreement is terminated; or

TRW has breached a representation, warranty, covenant or obligation contained in the merger agreement, and such breach:

results in a failure of the condition that TRW shall have performed in all material respects its covenants and obligations under the merger agreement, that TRW's representations and warranties

shall be true and correct unless the failure to be true and correct is not material or would not result in a material adverse effect on TRW and its subsidiaries taken together; and is not susceptible to cure or, if susceptible to cure, is not cured within 30 days after written notice of the breach and, within twelve months thereafter:

TRW enters into an agreement for the direct or indirect acquisition of 30% or more of either the equity interests in TRW or the assets or business of TRW or its subsidiaries that constitute 30% or more of the net revenues, net income or net assets of TRW and its subsidiaries (taken as a whole); or a transaction occurs involving the conveyance of 50% or more of either the equity interests in TRW or the assets or business of TRW or its subsidiaries that constitute 50% or more of the net revenues, net income or net assets of TRW and its subsidiaries (taken as a whole), in each case involving any party or affiliate thereof:

with whom TRW or its agents had negotiations regarding an acquisition proposal after the date of the merger agreement and before the date the merger agreement is terminated;

to whom TRW or its agents provided information in connection with an acquisition proposal after the date of the merger agreement and before the date the merger agreement is terminated; or who had submitted an acquisition proposal to TRW after the date of the merger agreement and before the date the merger agreement is terminated.

Expense Reimbursement

Northrop Grumman must reimburse TRW for up to $50 million of documented expenses if the merger agreement is terminated by TRW because Northrop Grumman's board of directors changes its recommendation to Northrop Grumman's stockholders to authorize the issuance of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock pursuant to the merger or fails to call the Northrop Meeting.

No Solicitation

The merger agreement contains a non-solicitation covenant which prohibits TRW from continuing discussions or negotiations regarding any acquisition proposal (as defined in the merger agreement) after the date of the merger agreement. However, if an acquisition proposal is received, TRW's board of directors may make inquiries or conduct discussions to inform itself for the purpose of exercising its fiduciary duties if:

the acquisition proposal could result in a superior proposal, as described below; and the acquisition proposal was not solicited after the date of the merger agreement and did not otherwise result from TRW's breach of the non-solicitation covenant.

If TRW's board of directors determines that a competing proposal is reasonably likely to lead to a superior proposal, TRW and its representatives may conduct additional discussions or provide non-public information to the other party if such other party executes a confidentiality and standstill agreement no less restrictive than the confidentiality agreement between Northrop Grumman and TRW and the confidentiality provisions in the merger agreement.

TRW has agreed to inform Northrop Grumman concerning any unsolicited acquisition proposal which it may receive.

Table of Contents

Change of Recommendation

TRW's board of directors has agreed to recommend the adoption of the merger agreement to TRW shareholders. However, TRW's board of directors is permitted to withdraw or modify its recommendation in a manner adverse to Northrop Grumman, if:

Northrop Grumman changes its recommendation to Northrop Grumman stockholders;

TRW receives an unsolicited competing proposal that TRW's board of directors believes is a superior proposal, as described above, provided:

TRW's board of directors determines in good faith, after consultation with outside legal counsel, that such withdrawal or modification may be required to satisfy its fiduciary duties;

TRW provides written notice to Northrop Grumman of the superior proposal prior to withdrawing or modifying its recommendation; and Northrop Grumman does not, within five business days of receipt of such notice, make an offer which TRW's board of directors determines in good faith to be as favorable as the superior proposal.

However, TRW may not enter into any agreement with respect to a superior proposal unless the merger agreement has been or concurrently is terminated and TRW first pays Northrop Grumman the $275 million termination fee described above.

A superior proposal is defined in the merger agreement as a bona fide written proposal or indication of interest from a third party for:

a direct or indirect acquisition, purchase or conveyance of the business or assets of TRW or any of its subsidiaries that constitutes 30% or more of the net revenues, net income or assets of TRW and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole;

a direct or indirect acquisition, purchase or conveyance of 30% or more of any class of equity securities of TRW or any of its subsidiaries whose business constitutes 30% or more of the net revenues, net income or assets of TRW and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole;

a tender offer or exchange offer that, if consummated, would result in anyone beneficially owning 30% or more of any class of equity securities of TRW, or any of its subsidiaries whose business constitutes 30% or more of the net revenues, net income or assets of TRW and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole; or a merger, consolidation, business combination or similar transaction involving TRW, including a transaction that contemplates the conveyance or other disposition of a portion of the assets or a business of TRW or any of its subsidiaries to a third party and/or the shareholders of TRW prior to the consummation of such transaction, where such transaction, together with such conveyance or other disposition, if any, constitutes 30% or more of the net revenue, net income or assets of TRW and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole;

in each case, which the TRW board of directors determines in its good faith judgment, after consultation with a financial adviser of nationally recognized reputation, is more favorable to TRW shareholders than the merger.

Amendment or Waiver of the Merger Agreement

The parties may amend or waive any provision of the merger agreement before the effective time of the merger and before TRW shareholders have adopted the merger agreement and Northrop Grumman stockholders have approved the issuance of the shares of Northrop Grumman common stock to be issued pursuant to the merger. After the receipt of either shareholder approval, if any such amendment or waiver shall by law or in accordance with the rules and regulations of any relevant securities exchange require further approval of Northrop Grumman stockholders or TRW shareholders, the effectiveness of the amendment or waiver will be subject to the necessary stockholder or shareholder approval.

NORTHROP GRUMMAN AFTER THE MERGER

Management

Directors

After the merger, Northrop Grumman will retain its current board of directors. More information about each of the members of Northrop Grumman's board of directors is included in Annex F to this joint proxy statement/prospectus.

Following the merger, the directors of Richmond Acquisition Corp. on the closing date will become the directors of TRW, the corporation surviving the merger. These directors are Albert F. Myers and John H. Mullan. More information about these directors is included in Annex F to this joint proxy statement/prospectus.

Executive Officers

The composition of Northrop Grumman's management is not expected to change materially as a result of the merger. More information about each of Northrop Grumman's executive officers is included in Annex F to this joint proxy statement/prospectus. Northrop Grumman may enter into retention or other arrangements with TRW officers who remain employed by TRW following the merger.

Until successors are elected or duly appointed and qualified or until an officer resigns, the officers of TRW at the effective time will be the officers of TRW after the merger. More information about TRW's executive officers is included in Annex G to this joint proxy statement/prospectus.

Proposed Sale or Spin Off of TRW's Automotive Business

General Information

Northrop Grumman currently anticipates that TRW will continue its current business and operations after the merger as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Northrop Grumman, except that after completion of the merger Northrop Grumman plans to sell TRW's Automotive business to a third party or parties or spin off the business to Northrop Grumman stockholders (including the former TRW shareholders). At this time, neither TRW nor Northrop Grumman has entered into any agreement to sell or spin off the Automotive business, although TRW has taken certain actions described below intended to prepare for or facilitate a spin off of the Automotive business.

Possible Sale Transaction

Northrop Grumman is actively exploring the possibility of selling the Automotive business to a third party or parties. Such a transaction could generate substantial proceeds which could be used to retire indebtedness. The desirability and feasibility of such a sale will depend upon whether a buyer or group of buyers can be identified who have the financial capacity and desire to acquire the Automotive business on terms that are attractive to Northrop Grumman and are determined to be reasonably likely to result in the maximum benefit and value to Northrop Grumman's stockholders.

Incorporation of TRW Automotive Inc. and Registration of Stock

On June 3, 2002, TRW organized a wholly-owned subsidiary named TRW Automotive Inc. under the laws of the State of Delaware. On June 4, 2002, this subsidiary filed a registration statement on Form S-1 with the SEC to register shares of common stock of the subsidiary to be issued to TRW's shareholders in connection with a spin off of TRW's Automotive business to TRW's shareholders, as described in the subsidiary's registration statement. The following section describes the general structure proposed by TRW to accomplish the spin off of the Automotive business to TRW's shareholders, as described in TRW Automotive Inc.'s registration statement; such registration statement has been, and will be, amended from time to time. If Northrop Grumman determines to divest TRW's Automotive business by a spin off to Northrop Grumman's stockholders (including the former TRW shareholders) rather than by a sale, Northrop Grumman expects that the transaction will be completed in a manner substantially similar to that contemplated by TRW, as described below, except that any spin off completed after the merger would result in a distribution of the stock of TRW Automotive Inc. to Northrop Grumman's stockholders (including the former TRW shareholders).

Description of Proposed Spin Off

Transfer of Assets and Liabilities. In preparation for a spin off of TRW's Automotive business, TRW stated that it would engage in a series of restructuring transactions designed to transfer to TRW Automotive Inc. all of the assets and liabilities associated with TRW's Automotive business and any equity or similar interests held by TRW in subsidiaries and other entities that conduct the Automotive business. In addition, all liabilities associated with the Automotive business would be assumed by TRW Automotive Inc., such that after giving effect to the restructuring transactions, TRW's Automotive business will reside, directly or indirectly, in TRW Automotive Inc. and its subsidiaries and affiliates. TRW would retain all of the assets and liabilities associated with its non-Automotive businesses after the spin off.

Registration and Listing of TRW Automotive Inc. Stock. The distribution of shares of common stock of TRW Automotive Inc. in a spin off would be registered pursuant to TRW Automotive Inc.'s registration statement filed on June 4, 2002, as amended or supplemented from time to time, and applications would be made to the New York Stock Exchange to list those shares upon official notice of issuance.

Third Party Equity Sale. In preparation for the spin off, TRW stated that shares of convertible preferred stock representing up to 20% of the outstanding shares of common stock of TRW Automotive Inc. (assuming the conversion of such shares of convertible preferred stock) may be sold to a third party investor or investors in a private placement transaction, subject to reasonable and customary terms and conditions.

Debt Financing Transaction. Upon completing the restructuring transactions, TRW anticipates that TRW Automotive Inc. would have approximately $2.8 billion of gross funding (debt plus securitized receivables). This level of gross funding is considered by TRW to be a reasonable amount for TRW Automotive Inc. to obtain and maintain an investment grade rating. The debt could be created through the issuance of debt securities by TRW Automotive Inc. or through the assumption of existing TRW indebtedness or through a combination of these approaches.

Spin Off of Automotive Business. If Northrop Grumman elects to do the spin off after the merger, it currently is anticipated that Northrop Grumman's stockholders (including the former TRW shareholders) would receive a special dividend paid in the form of registered, listed stock of TRW Automotive Inc. As a result of this dividend, Northrop Grumman's stockholders (including the former TRW shareholders) would own all of the outstanding capital stock of TRW Automotive Inc., other than any portion owned by a third party purchaser of convertible preferred stock as described above. As a result of this special dividend, TRW Automotive Inc. would be a stand-alone corporation, with stock registered under the Securities Act and with shares listed and traded separately on the New York Stock Exchange.

Certain Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Disposition of the TRW Automotive Business

Subsequent to the acquisition of TRW, Northrop Grumman may either sell or spin off all or part of the Automotive operations of TRW. There currently is no agreement for the sale of the Automotive business and there can be no assurance that a sale or spin off will be consummated. A sale of the TRW Automotive business will likely be a taxable transaction to Northrop Grumman. In the event that Northrop Grumman proceeds with a spin off of the TRW Automotive business, Northrop Grumman will attempt to structure the spin off as a transaction that is tax-free to its shareholders (including the former TRW shareholders) under Section 355(a) of the Internal Revenue Code. There can be no assurance, however, that the spin off can be structured, or will qualify, as a tax-free transaction. If the spin off does qualify as a tax-free transaction to the Northrop Grumman stockholders, such stockholders will not recognize any income, gain or loss as a result of the receipt of the stock of the spun off company, except for any gain or loss attributable to the receipt of cash in lieu of a fractional share. In addition, the tax basis of a Northrop Grumman stockholder in the stock of the spun-off company and in the stock of Northrop Grumman will be determined by allocating the stockholder's basis in its Northrop Grumman stock immediately before the spin off between the Northrop Grumman stock held by the stockholder and the stock of the spun off company that is distributed to the stockholder in proportion to their relative fair market values in accordance with applicable United States Treasury regulations. If the spin off does not qualify as a tax free transaction to the Northrop Grumman stockholders, each Northrop Grumman stockholder who receives stock of the spun off company will be treated as receiving a taxable dividend distribution in an amount equal to the fair market value of such stock on the date of the spin off. In addition, each such stockholder's basis in the stock of the spun off company will be equal to the fair market value of that stock on the date of the spin off. Notwithstanding the treatment of the spin off for Northrop Grumman stockholders, the spin off will be taxable to Northrop Grumman as a result of Section 355(e) of the Internal Revenue Code if it is deemed to be undertaken as part of the same plan as a transaction (the merger) in which more than a 50% change in ownership of TRW occurred. However, Northrop Grumman does not expect any tax imposed on Northrop Grumman or its subsidiaries as a result of either a sale or the spin off of the TRW Automotive business to be material.

Comparison of Spin Off and Sale Alternatives

If a spin off of TRW's Automotive business were to be completed:

TRW Automotive Inc. would be owned by Northrop Grumman's stockholders (including the former TRW shareholders) and any purchaser of convertible preferred stock of TRW Automotive Inc.;

TRW Automotive Inc. would be a stand alone corporation, with its own revenues, expenses, liabilities and commitments and would have no connection to TRW's remaining operations or Northrop Grumman, other than certain contractual arrangements that would be entered into in connection with the spin off of the Automotive business;

TRW Automotive Inc. would receive no financial benefit if Northrop Grumman experienced successes, and generally would bear no liabilities or experience any detriments should Northrop Grumman become unsuccessful;

Northrop Grumman would receive no financial benefit if TRW Automotive Inc. experienced successes, and generally would bear no liabilities or experience any detriments should TRW Automotive Inc. become unsuccessful; and

Northrop Grumman's level of indebtedness (including any indebtedness attributable to TRW and the merger) would be reduced to the extent that indebtedness is assumed by TRW Automotive Inc. or the proceeds from any debt or equity financing of TRW Automotive Inc. are applied to pay down debt of Northrop Grumman or TRW.

If a sale of TRW's Automotive business were to be completed:

Neither Northrop Grumman's nor TRW's former shareholders would have any ownership interest in TRW's Automotive business after the sale by virtue of their ownership of Northrop Grumman stock;

None of Northrop Grumman's stockholders (including the former TRW shareholders) would receive any financial benefit or incur any detriment from the operating results of TRW's Automotive business

after the sale, although it is possible that any sale transaction will contain customary representations, warranties and indemnities by Northrop Grumman that may survive the closing of the transaction; and

Northrop Grumman's level of indebtedness (including any indebtedness attributable to TRW and the merger) likely would be reduced to a greater extent than any reduction in indebtedness relating to a spin off, assuming most or all of the net proceeds from a sale were applied to reduce indebtedness.

UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL INFORMATION

The pro forma financial data presented below are derived from the historical consolidated financial statements of Northrop Grumman, Litton, Newport News and TRW, and have been adjusted to give effect to Northrop Grumman's acquisitions of Litton, Newport News and TRW. The pro forma statements contained herein use the purchase method of accounting, with Northrop Grumman treated as the acquirer and as if the Litton, Newport News and TRW acquisitions had been completed on January 1, 2001 (for statement of operations purposes) and on December 31, 2001 (for balance sheet purposes).

The pro forma amounts presented also give effect to (a) the sale by TRW of its Aeronautical Systems business for a gross purchase price of $1.5 billion in cash and (b) the divestiture of TRW's Automotive business upon the completion of the merger in a sale transaction generating cash proceeds of $5.0 billion. The pro forma statements of income reflect investment income on these assumed cash proceeds at the current rate of 1.8 percent for the six months ended June 30, 2002 and the twelve months ended December 31, 2001.

If the divestiture of TRW's Automotive business is accomplished as a spin off rather than a sale, the pro forma effect of the divestiture will differ from that presented below in the following respects:

cash proceeds from the sale and the interest on investment of such cash proceeds would be eliminated;

a portion of TRW's existing indebtedness, currently estimated as approximately $2.8 billion, will be replaced by indebtedness of TRW Automotive Inc. and eliminated as indebtedness of TRW; and

interest costs associated with such replaced indebtedness will be eliminated.

The pro forma financial data presented below and in SELECTED HISTORICAL AND UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL DATA beginning on page 16 reflect preliminary estimates of:

the fair market value of the Newport News assets acquired by Northrop Grumman;

the fair market value of the Newport News liabilities assumed by Northrop Grumman;

the related allocations of purchase price for the Newport News acquisition; and preliminary estimates of adjustments necessary to conform Newport News' accounting policies to Northrop Grumman's accounting policies.

Northrop Grumman is currently reviewing preliminary accounting conformance adjustments and preliminary estimates of the fair market value of the Newport News assets acquired and liabilities assumed, including valuations associated with certain contracts, legal contingencies, and property, plant and equipment, as well as valuation studies of Newport News' retiree benefits assets and liabilities. The final determination of the fair market value of the assets acquired and liabilities assumed and the final allocation of the purchase price are expected to be finalized within one year of the date of the Newport News acquisition and will be reflected in future filings. The final determinations may result in amounts which are materially different from the amounts reflected in the pro forma data presented herein and are subject to adjustment pending such final determinations.

As of the date of this joint proxy statement/prospectus, Northrop Grumman has not performed the valuation studies necessary to estimate the fair market value of TRW assets to be acquired and liabilities to be assumed and the related allocations of purchase price, nor has Northrop Grumman identified the adjustments, if any, necessary to conform the TRW data to Northrop Grumman's accounting policies. Accordingly, Northrop Grumman has used the historical book values of the assets and liabilities of TRW and has used the historical revenue recognition policies of TRW to prepare the unaudited pro forma financial data contained in this joint proxy statement/prospectus, with the excess of the purchase price over the historical net assets of TRW recorded as goodwill and other purchased intangibles. Once Northrop Grumman has determined the final purchase price for

TRW and has completed the valuation studies necessary to finalize the required purchase price allocations and identified any necessary conforming changes for TRW, such pro forma financial statements will be subject to adjustment. Such adjustments will likely result in changes to the pro forma statements of financial position to reflect the final allocations of the purchase price and the pro forma statements of income, and there can be no assurance that such adjustments will not be material. Upon consummation of the merger, Northrop Grumman intends to sell or spin off TRW's Automotive business. There currently is no agreement for a sale of the Automotive business and there can be no assurance that a sale or spin off will be consummated or with respect to the terms of any such sale or spin off. If such a sale or spin off transaction does not conform to the assumptions regarding a sale of the Automotive business on which the pro forma information provided herein is based, such a transaction would materially change such pro forma information.

The pro forma amounts presented herein and in SELECTED HISTORICAL AND UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL DATA beginning on page 16 have been developed from (i) the audited consolidated financial statements of Northrop Grumman contained in its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001, (ii) the unaudited consolidated financial statements contained in Litton's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the period ended January 31, 2001, (iii) the unaudited consolidated financial statements of Newport News contained in its quarterly report on Form 10-Q for the period ended September 16, 2001, (iv) the audited consolidated financial statements of TRW for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001 which are contained in its Form 8-K filed on August 1, 2002 (which contains restated financial statements of TRW for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001 to give effect to the pending sale of the Aeronautical Systems business to Goodrich Corporation and the reporting of that business as a discontinued operation), (v) Northrop Grumman's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 30, 2002 and (vi) TRW's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the period ended June 30, 2002, each of which is incorporated by this reference in this joint proxy statement/prospectus.

The acquisitions of Newport News and TRW by Northrop Grumman, the proposed sale of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business to Goodrich Corporation and the proposed sale or spin off of the Automotive business after the merger are collectively referred to in these pro forma financial statements and the related notes as the pro forma transactions. The unaudited pro forma financial statements and data contained herein are provided for illustrative purposes only and do not purport to represent what the actual consolidated results of operations or the consolidated financial position of Northrop Grumman would have been had the pro forma transactions occurred on the dates assumed, nor are they necessarily indicative of future consolidated results of operations or financial position. The pro forma financial statements and data contained herein do not reflect the realization of any cost savings from operating efficiencies, synergies or other restructurings resulting from the pro forma transactions, and should be read in conjunction with the separate historical consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes of Northrop Grumman and TRW which are incorporated by reference in this joint proxy statement/prospectus.

NOTES TO UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

- (a) Adjustments to (i) eliminate the equity of TRW, (ii) record issuance of Northrop Grumman stock, and (iii) record goodwill and other purchased intangibles arising from the acquisition of TRW.

The amount of purchase price allocated to goodwill and other purchased intangibles is subject to change and is calculated based on the assumption that Northrop Grumman has acquired all of the TRW common stock and has issued 69,063,364 shares of Northrop Grumman common stock, determined using the maximum exchange ratio of .5357.

The value ascribed to the Northrop Grumman common stock exchanged in the TRW acquisition is $111.56, which represents the 5-day average of the Northrop Grumman closing stock prices from July 10, 2002 through July 16, 2002.

These pro forma financial statements do not reflect the acceleration and conversion of TRW stock options to Northrop Grumman stock options, due to the limited amount of data available to Northrop Grumman to determine the value of such options. These amounts ultimately will be included as an element of the purchase price.

- (b) Adjustment to eliminate intercompany sales and cost of sales transactions between Northrop Grumman and Litton, between Northrop Grumman and Newport News, and between Northrop Grumman and TRW, as applicable.
- (c) Adjustment to amortize the preliminary estimate of goodwill and other purchased intangible assets arising out of the acquisition of Litton over an estimated weighted average life of 26 years on a straight line basis.
- (d) Adjustment to record depreciation of property, plant and equipment and amortization of capitalized software arising from fair market value adjustments for the Newport News acquisition.
- (e) Adjustment to record interest expense and the amortization of debt issuance costs on new financing for the acquisition of Litton at a weighted average rate of 6.5 percent for the year ended December 31, 2001.
- (f) Adjustment to record income tax effects on pre-tax pro forma adjustments, using a statutory tax rate of thirty-five percent.
- (g) Adjusted, pro rata, for dividends to preferred shareholders using $7 per share dividend rate for redeemable preferred stock issued in the acquisition of Litton.
- (h) Adjustment to amortize estimated purchased intangible assets arising out of the Newport News acquisition over an estimated life of 47 years on a straight line basis. Goodwill arising from the Newport News acquisition has not been amortized in accordance with the provisions of SFAS No. 142: Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets.
- (i) Adjustment to record interest on debt financing for the Newport News acquisition at a weighted average rate of 4.8 percent for the year ended December 31, 2001.
- (j) Adjustments to reclassify state income tax expense from federal and foreign income taxes to operating costs to conform Newport News and TRW data to classifications utilized by Northrop Grumman.
- (k) Calculated based on the assumption that Northrop Grumman has acquired all of the TRW common stock and has issued 69,063,364 shares of Northrop Grumman common stock, determined using the maximum exchange ratio of 0.5357. Using the minimum exchange ratio of 0.4348 would result in the issuance of approximately 56.05 million Northrop Grumman shares and pro forma basic earnings per share and diluted earnings per share for the six months ended June 30, 2002, of $1.93 and $1.91, respectively and the year ended December 31, 2001, of $3.89 and $3.87, respectively.
- (l) Adjustment to reverse amortization of goodwill recorded by Northrop Grumman for the year ended December 31, 2001 to conform to the company's adoption of SFAS No. 142: Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets.

- (m) Adjustment to amortize estimated purchased intangible assets arising out of the TRW acquisition and the sale of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business over an estimated life of 10 years on a straight line basis. Goodwill arising from the TRW acquisition and the sale of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business has not been amortized in accordance with the provisions of SFAS No. 142: Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets.
- (n) Adjustments to (i) record TRW's sale of its Aeronautical Systems business to Goodrich Corporation for a gross purchase price of $1.5 billion in cash, less cash payouts for transaction related costs, (ii) adjust fair value for prepaid pension costs, and (iii) record goodwill and purchase intangibles arising from the sale of the aeronautical systems segment. The proceeds from the sale of TRW's Aeronautical Systems business have not been applied to a particular use for purposes of the pro forma data, but the pro forma financial statements do reflect interest on investment on this $1.5 billion of cash proceeds at the rate of 1.8 percent for the six months ended June 30, 2002 and the year ended December 31, 2001.
- (o) Adjustments to (i) eliminate the equity of TRW Automotive Inc. from the TRW Automotive Inc. stand alone presentation, (ii) classify TRW Automotive Inc. debt as an element of Northrop Grumman debt, (iii) reflect the assumed $5.0 billion cash proceeds from the sale of TRW's Automotive business based on the minimum point of the range of fully-distributed enterprise values for TRW's Automotive business referenced in note (p) of these pro forma financial statements, and (iv) record goodwill and other purchased intangibles arising from the sale of TRW's Automotive business.
- (p) As a result of the ongoing volatility in the stock market, Northrop Grumman requested that its financial advisor, Salomon Smith Barney, update automotive segment market multiples and recalculate potential, fully-distributed enterprise values for TRW's Automotive business. This update was performed as of August 7, 2002 and was based upon analysis of EBITDA multiples for eight peer companies in the automotive industry, including ArvinMeritor, Inc., Autoliv, Inc., BorgWarner Inc., Dana Corporation (excluding Dana Credit Corp.), Delphi Corporation, Lear Corporation, Magna International Inc. and Visteon Corporation. This analysis was prepared for the minimum value range based upon 2002 and 2003 estimated EBITDA and EBITDAP.

The following table presents the results of this analysis:

Fully-Distributed Automotive

	$5,000	$5,250
Enterprise Value ($ in millions)
2002 EBITDA	4.1x	4.3x
2003 EBITDA	4.0	4.2
2002 EBITDAP	4.6	4.8
2003 EBITDAP	4.4	4.6

The decline in value from previous valuation estimates has been ascribed to uncertainties and volatility in the market. Such fluctuations are subject to change based upon market conditions.

- (q) Adjustment to amortize estimated purchased intangible assets arising out of the sale of TRW's Automotive business over an estimated weighted average life of 10 years on a straight line basis. Goodwill arising from the sale of TRW's Automotive business has not been amortized in accordance with the provisions of SFAS No. 142: Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets.
- (r) Adjustment to record interest on investment arising from the sale of TRW's Automotive business at the current rate of 1.8 percent for the six months ended June 30, 2002 and the year ended December 31, 2001.
- (s) Adjustment to reclassify TRW Automotive Inc.'s discontinued operations to appropriate operating classifications to conform to TRW's Consolidated Statement of Operations classifications.
- (t) Calculated by dividing income available to common shareholders by average shares diluted, which is calculated assuming preferred shares are not converted to common shares, resulting in the most dilutive effect.

This rights plan is described in the section entitled COMPARISON OF RIGHTS OF HOLDERS OF NORTHROP GRUMMAN COMMON STOCK AND TRW COMMON STOCK below.

Equity Security Units. In November 2001, Northrop Grumman issued 9,200,000 shares of common stock and 6,900,000 equity security units, generating cash proceeds of $1.45 billion. The proceeds were used to reduce existing debt and for general corporate purposes. Each equity security unit, issued at $100.00 per unit, initially consists of a contract to purchase shares of Northrop Grumman common stock on November 16, 2004, and a $100.00 senior note due 2006. The senior notes due 2006 are reported as long-term debt. The senior notes initially bear interest at 5.25% per annum, and each equity security unit also pays a contract adjustment payment of 2.0% per annum, for a combined yield on the equity security unit of 7.25% per annum. Each purchase contract, which is part of the equity security units, will obligate the holder thereof to purchase, for $100.00, the following number of shares of the company's common stock based on the average closing price of the Northrop Grumman common stock over the 20 day trading period ending on the third trading day immediately preceding November 16, 2004: (i) 0.9262 shares if the average closing price equals or exceeds $107.97, (ii) a number of shares having a value equal to $100.00 if the average closing price is less than $107.97 but greater than $88.50 and (iii) 1.1299 shares if the average closing price is less than or equal to $88.50. Prior to November 16, 2004, holders of equity security units have the opportunity to participate in a remarketing of the senior note component. Interest expense on the Equity Security Units amounts to $36,225,000 annually. In the event that the Equity Security Units are converted to Northrop Grumman common stock at the end of their three year term and the common stock price is equal to the redemption price of $100.00, an additional 6,900,000 shares will be issued at that time. Based upon the pro forma information contained on pages 81 through 88 in this joint proxy statement/prospectus, the earnings per share effect of the issuance would increase outstanding shares from 181.19 million to 188.09 million, reducing basic earnings per share from $1.79 to $1.73. The ultimate number of shares issued will be based upon the trading price of Northrop Grumman common stock at the end of the redemption period. If the above circumstances were to occur, interest expense would decrease by approximately $36.2 million, resulting in an equivalent increase in income before taxes.

TRW. TRW's regulations and the Ohio Revised Code provide that any vacancies on the board and newly created directorships may be filled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the directors then in office or by the affirmative vote of the holders of a plurality of the shares voting in the election of directors at a meeting of TRW shareholders.

However, the Northrop Grumman charter requires the affirmative vote of the holders of not less than 80% of the outstanding shares of voting stock to approve an amendment of certain articles in the charter.

Action by Written Consent

Northrop Grumman. Under Northrop Grumman's charter and bylaws, any action required or permitted to be taken by the stockholders must be effected at a duly called annual meeting or at special meeting of stockholders, unless such action requiring or permitting stockholder approval is approved by a majority of the Continuing Directors (as defined in Northrop Grumman's charter), in which case that action may be authorized or taken by the written consent of the holders of outstanding shares of voting stock having not less than the minimum voting power that would be necessary to authorize or take such action at a meeting of stockholders at which all shares entitled to vote thereon were present and voted, provided, all other requirements of applicable law and Northrop Grumman's charter have been satisfied.

TRW. The Ohio Revised Code provides that shareholder action may be taken without a meeting upon the written consent of the holders of all the outstanding shares entitled to vote. Shareholder action to amend TRW's regulations may be taken without a meeting upon the written consent of the holders of two-thirds of the outstanding shares entitled to vote.

TRW. Under the Ohio Revised Code and TRW's regulations, TRW shareholders must be given written notice of the time, place and purpose or purposes of every shareholder meeting, except as otherwise provided in the Ohio Revised Code.

Amendments of Charter or Articles of Incorporation

Northrop Grumman. Under the Delaware General Corporation Law, the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares entitled to vote is required to amend Northrop Grumman's charter. In addition, amendments that make changes relating to the capital stock by increasing or decreasing the par value or the aggregate number of authorized shares of a class or otherwise adversely affecting the rights of that class, must be approved by the majority vote of each class of stock affected, unless, in the case of an increase in the number of shares, the certificate of incorporation takes away that right, and provided that, if the amendment affects some series of securities, then only holders of those series of securities have such vote. Northrop Grumman's charter provides that specified articles may be adopted, repealed, rescinded, altered or amended only by the affirmative vote of the holders of not less than 80% of the voting power of all outstanding shares of voting stock, regardless of class and voting together as a single voting class, and where that action is proposed by an interested stockholder (as defined in Northrop Grumman's charter) or an associate or affiliate (each as defined in Northrop Grumman's charter) of an interested stockholder, by the majority of the voting power of all of the outstanding shares of voting stock, voting together as a single class, other than shares held by the interested person; provided, however, that where the action is approved by a majority of the continuing directors (as defined in Northrop Grumman's charter), the affirmative vote of a majority of the voting power of all outstanding shares of voting stock, regardless of class and voting together as a single voting class shall be required for approval of that action.

TRW. TRW's regulations may be amended at a meeting of the shareholders by the affirmative vote of the holders of not less than two-thirds of all outstanding shares of capital stock of TRW having the general voting power entitled to vote on such amendment.

Business Combinations

Northrop Grumman. Under the Delaware General Corporation Law, a majority of the outstanding shares of voting stock is required to adopt and approve a plan of merger or consolidation. The Delaware General Corporation Law prohibits a Delaware corporation which has a class of stock which is listed on a national stock exchange or which has 2,000 or more stockholders of record from engaging in a business combination with an interested stockholder (generally, the beneficial owner of 15% or more of the corporation's outstanding voting stock) for three years following the time the stockholder became an interested stockholder, unless, prior to that time, the corporation's board of directors approved either the business combination or the transaction that resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder, or if at least two-thirds of the outstanding shares not owned by that interested stockholder approve the business combination, or if, upon becoming an interested stockholder, that stockholder owned at least 85% of the outstanding shares (excluding those held by officers, directors and some employee stock plans). In addition to the requirements of the Delaware General Corporation Law, Northrop Grumman's charter provides that, subject to various exceptions, any business combination between Northrop Grumman or any subsidiary and an interested stockholder (as defined in the Northrop Grumman Charter) must be approved by the holders of at least 80% of the voting power of all outstanding voting stock, regardless of class and voting together as a single class, and a majority of the voting power of all outstanding shares of voting stock, other than the shares held by any interested stockholder which is a party to such business combination or by any affiliate or associates of such interested stockholder, regardless of class and voting together as single voting class.

TRW. Under the Ohio Revised Code, the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the outstanding shares of voting stock is required to adopt a plan of merger or consolidation. The Ohio Revised Code prohibits an Ohio corporation which has 50 or more shareholders of record and that has its principal place of business, its principal executive offices, assets having substantial value or a substantial percentage of its assets within Ohio from engaging in a business combination with an interested shareholder (a shareholder that can exercise, directly or indirectly, 10% of the voting power of the corporation) for three years following the time the shareholder became an interested shareholder, unless (a) the directors of the corporation have approved the transactions or the interested shareholder's acquisition of shares of the corporation prior to the date such shareholder became an interested shareholder of the corporation, or (b) the holders of at least two-thirds of the voting power of the corporation, prior to the date such shareholder became an interested shareholder of the corporation, adopt an amendment to its charter specifying that Chapter 1704 of the Ohio Revised Code shall not be applicable to the corporation. This prohibition also applies to a person or entity, whether or not an interested shareholder, that is or after the business combination would be, an affiliate or associate of an interested shareholder. The Ohio Revised Code further provides that the business combination may still be prohibited after the three-year period unless either certain fair-price provisions are complied with or the transaction is approved by certain super-majority shareholder votes.

Under Chapter 1704 of the Ohio Revised Code, an interested shareholder includes a person who is the beneficial owner of a sufficient number of shares of a corporation that such person can exercise directly or indirectly 10% of the voting power of the corporation.

Under Section 1701.831 of the Ohio Revised Code, unless the charter or regulations of a corporation otherwise provide, any control share acquisition of an issuing public corporation can only be made with the prior approval of the corporation's shareholders. A control share acquisition is defined as any acquisition of shares of a corporation that, when added to all other shares of that corporation that the acquiring person may exercise or direct the exercise of the voting power of, would enable that person to exercise or direct the exercise of levels of voting power in any of the following ranges: at least 20% but less than 33 1/3%; at least 33 1/3% but less than 50%; or 50% or more.

Rights Plan

Northrop Grumman. Northrop Grumman entered into a Rights Agreement, dated January 31, 2001, between Northrop Grumman and EquiServe Trust Company, N.A., pursuant to which a preferred share purchase right is attached to each share of Northrop Grumman common stock that is or becomes outstanding prior to October 31, 2008, including the shares to be issued to TRW shareholders pursuant to the prospectus and the merger. The rights become exercisable 10 days after the public announcement that any person or group has (a) acquired 15% or more of the outstanding shares of Northrop Grumman common stock or (b) initiated a tender offer for shares of Northrop Grumman common stock which, if consummated, would result in any person or group acquiring 15% or more of the outstanding shares of Northrop Grumman common stock. Once exercisable, each right will entitle the holder to purchase one one-thousandth of a share of Northrop Grumman Series A junior participating preferred stock, par value $1.00 per share, at a price of $250.00 per one one-thousandth of a share, subject to adjustment. Alternatively, under certain circumstances involving an acquisition of 15% or more of the Northrop Grumman common stock outstanding, each right will entitle its holder to purchase, at a fifty percent discount, a number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock having a market value of two times the exercise price of the right. Northrop Grumman may (i) exchange the rights at an exchange ratio of one share of Northrop Grumman common stock per right and (ii) redeem the rights, at a price of $0.01 per right, at any time prior to an acquisition of 15% or more of the outstanding shares of Northrop Grumman common stock by any person or group.

These purchase rights become exercisable 10 days after the public announcement that any person or group has (a) acquired 15% or more of the outstanding shares of Northrop Grumman common stock or (b) initiated a tender offer for shares of Northrop Grumman common stock which, if consummated, would result in any person or group acquiring 15% or more of the outstanding shares of Northrop Grumman common stock. Once exercisable, each right will entitle the holder to purchase one one-thousandth of a share of Northrop Grumman Series A junior participating preferred stock, par value $1.00 per share, at a price of $250.00 per one one-thousandth of a share, subject to adjustment. Alternatively, under certain circumstances involving an acquisition of 15% or more of the outstanding Northrop Grumman common stock, each right will entitle its holder to purchase, at a 50% discount, a number of shares of Northrop Grumman common stock having a market value of two times the exercise price of the right. Northrop Grumman may (i) exchange the rights at an exchange ratio of one share of Northrop Grumman common stock per right or (ii) redeem the rights, at a price of $0.01 per right, at any time prior to an acquisition of 15% or more of the outstanding shares of Northrop Grumman common stock by any person or group.

These rights have certain anti-takeover effects and are intended to cause substantial dilution to any person or group that attempts to acquire control of Northrop Grumman on terms not approved by Northrop Grumman's board of directors.

TRW. TRW does not have a shareholders' rights plan.

Dissenter's Rights

Northrop Grumman. Under Delaware law, a dissenting stockholder may seek dissenter's rights in connection with statutory mergers or consolidations in certain specific situations. Dissenter's rights are not available to a Delaware corporation's stockholders under Delaware law, however, with respect to shares of common stock that, at the applicable record date, (a) were listed on a national securities exchange or designated as a national market system security on an inter dealer quotation system by NASD or (b) were held of record by more than 2,000 stockholders, unless the stockholders are required by the terms of the merger or consolidation to accept any consideration other than:

shares of the surviving corporation;

shares of stock of another listed corporation which are the kind described in clause (a) or (b) above;

cash in lieu of fractional shares; or any combination of the consideration described in the first three bullet points.

TRW. Under Ohio law, upon compliance with certain requirements and procedures, a dissenting shareholder has the right to receive the fair cash value for his or her shares (so-called dissenter's rights) if the shareholder objects to, among other things:

certain specified amendments to the articles of incorporation;

the sale, lease, exchange, transfer or other disposition of substantially all the assets; or specified mergers and consolidations.

In a merger, upon compliance with specified requirements and procedures, the dissenting shareholders of an Ohio corporation that is being merged into another corporation and the shareholders of an Ohio surviving corporation whose adoption of the merger agreement is required are entitled to dissenter's rights. A shareholder entitled to dissenter's rights may exercise these rights if:

the merger requires adoption of the merger agreement by the shareholders;

the dissenting shareholder holds shares of the corporation as of the record date for the shareholder meeting at which the merger agreement is submitted;

the dissenting shareholder does not vote his or her shares in favor of the merger agreement; and not more than ten days after the date of the meeting at which the stockholder vote was taken, the dissenting shareholder delivers to the corporation a written demand for payment to him or her of the fair cash value of his or her shares. The demand must state the dissenting shareholder's address, the number and class of dissenting shares and the amount claimed by the dissenting shareholder as the fair cash value of the shares.

Profit Recapture Provision

Section 1707.043 of the Ohio Revised Code applies to TRW. This section provides that:

if a shareholder disposes of an Ohio company's stock for a profit of more than $250,000 within 18 months after announcing an intention to make a proposal to acquire control of the company;

Table of Contents

then, the company may recover the profit unless the shareholder proves in court that:

its sole purpose in making the proposal was to acquire control of the company and it had reasonable grounds to believe it would succeed;

it did not make the proposal for the purpose of manipulating the market, increasing its profit or decreasing its loss; and the proposal did not have a material adverse effect on the price or trading volume of the shares of the Ohio corporation.

Delaware law does not have a comparable provision.
