Employees of the Corporation will not receive any extra compensation for such activities. The Corporation may also pay brokers or other persons holding common shares of the Corporation in their own names, or in the names of nominees, their reasonable expenses for sending proxies and proxy material to beneficial owners of common shares of the Corporation and requesting authority to execute proxies in respect of such common shares of the Corporation. The Corporation will bear the expenses of such solicitation of proxies.

No person is authorized to give any information or to make any representation other than as contained in this Proxy Circular and, if given or made, such information or representation should not be relied upon as having been authorized by the Corporation. Human Resources Committee

The annual base salaries and bonuses paid to senior management of the Corporation and the benefits offered by the Corporation in the financial year ended December 31, 2003, were determined by the Human Resources Committee of the Board of Directors comprised of four non-employee directors formed to administer the executive remuneration program of the Corporation. The Human Resources Committee in respect of the financial year ended December 31, 2003 was comprised of William E. Stanley (Chair), Catherine McLeod-Seltzer, Jonathan Goodman and Peter Steen. The Human Resources Committee has determined that the annual compensation paid to senior management of the Corporation should be equivalent to the industry standard paid to executives of comparable corporations in the gold mining industry in Canada.

The Human Resources Committee has formulated criteria to be used in determining the remuneration of senior management of the Corporation. The Human Resources Committee annually reviews independent salary surveys to assist it to determine executive compensation.

Human Resources Committee Report

Executive Compensation Program

The Corporation's principal goal is to create value for its shareholders. The Corporation believes that directors, officers and employees should have their benefits aligned with both the short and long term interests of the shareholders. To this end, the executive compensation program formulated by the Human Resources Committee is comprised of three components: base salary, annual cash bonus and long-term incentive in the form of stock options. It is structured to be competitive with a select group of comparative North American gold mining companies. A portion of the annual cash bonus is directly related to the overall performance of the Corporation. The Human Resources Committee sets the executive compensation levels using the PricewaterhouseCoopers annual National Mining Industries Salary Survey. The survey is a competitive analysis of the compensation paid to mining executives in Canada.

Base Salaries

To ensure that the Corporation is capable of attracting, motivating and retaining individuals with exceptional executive skills, cash compensation is reviewed and adjusted annually, based primarily on individual and corporate performance as well as compensation practices of similar gold mining companies. In determining base salaries and bonuses, the Human Resources Committee took into account the financial performance of the Corporation for 2003. In particular, the Corporation completed equity financings of approximately C$62 million (net) and signed a letter of intent for an option to earn up to 60% of the George and Goose Lake projects from Kinross Gold Corporation.

The level of the base salary for each employee of the Corporation is determined by the level of responsibility and the importance of the position to the Corporation, within competitive industry ranges. The Human Resources Committee determines the base salaries and bonuses for senior management and employees of the Corporation. Named executive officers received salary increases of up to 4.2% during 2003.

Bonus

The Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation presents recommendations to the Human Resources Committee with respect to bonuses to be awarded to the other members of senior management and the other employees of the Corporation. The Human Resources Committee evaluates each member of senior management and the other employees of the Corporation in terms of their performance and the performance of the Corporation. The Human Resources Committee then makes a determination of the bonuses, if any, to be awarded to each member of senior management and to the employees of the Corporation, which are reported to the Board of Directors of the Corporation. In 2004, all members of the executive management team received performance bonuses for work done in 2003.

Stock Options

The purpose of the Corporation's stock option plan is to develop the interest and incentive of eligible employees, officers and directors in the Corporation's growth and development by giving an opportunity to purchase Common Shares on a favourable basis, thereby advancing the interests of the Corporation, enhancing the value of the Common Shares for the benefit of all shareholders and increasing the ability of the Corporation to attract and retain skilled and motivated individuals.

Edgar Filing: MIRAMAR MINING CORP - Form 6-K

Stock Options are granted in accordance with the stock option plan approved by the shareholders (outlined below) at an exercise price not less than the closing price of the Common Shares on the Toronto Stock Exchange on the business day immediately prior to the date of grant. Currently there are options to purchase an aggregate of 6,941,884 common shares granted to directors, officers and employees, representing approximately 4.56% of the issued shares of the Corporation on April 14, 2004.

Stock Option Plan

The Human Resources Committee previously set a program for annual stock option grants under the Corporation's Stock Option Plan setting the number of options to be granted for each position within the Corporation. The Stock Option Plan is administered by the Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation within the program set by the Human Resources Committee, and is intended to advance the interests of the Corporation through the motivation, attraction and retention of key employees, officers and directors of the Corporation and subsidiaries of the Corporation and to secure for the Corporation and its shareholders the benefits inherent in the ownership of common shares of the Corporation by key employees, officers and directors of the Corporation and subsidiaries of the Corporation. Each grant of options under the Stock Option Plan is approved by the Board of Directors of the Corporation.

The number of common shares of the Corporation which may be subject to option under the Stock Option Plan in favour of any one individual and in the aggregate is limited under the terms of the Stock Option Plan and cannot be increased without shareholder and regulatory approval. Options granted under the Stock Option Plan have a maximum term of ten years and are exercisable at a price per share determined by the Board of Directors of the Corporation at the time the option is granted, which price may not be less than the closing price of the common shares on The Toronto Stock Exchange on the last trading day immediately preceding the date of grant of the option. The options initially granted under the Stock Option Plan were approved by the Board of Directors of the Corporation at the time of grant. All subsequent grants of options are reviewed by the Human Resources Committee and recommended to the Board of Directors for approval.

Compensation of the Chief Executive Officer

The process for the setting of the compensation of the Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation is the same as for the other members of senior management of the Corporation. The Chief Executive Officer's performance is evaluated by the Human Resources Committee relative to various objectives set for him and the Corporation.

The Human Resources Committee and the Board of Directors continue to be of the view that Mr. Walsh provides the leadership that permitted the Corporation to advance its initiatives in 2003 and in making their compensation decision, they considered other factors including his contribution to the business performance and anticipated future performance of the Corporation.

In consideration of Mr. Walsh's contribution to the Corporation, Mr. Walsh received a salary of $290,000, was awarded a cash bonus of $100,000 and was granted fully vested incentive stock options to purchase 150,000 common shares of the Corporation for a period of five years.

In 2000, the Corporation entered into a revised employment agreement with Mr. Walsh which provides that if Mr. Walsh's employment is terminated without cause, he will be paid severance of three years of his then salary. However, if his employment is terminated within twelve months of a change of control of the Corporation, the three years severance will be based on the average salary of Chief Executive Officers of Canadian Mining Companies with fewer than 1,000 employees according to the PricewaterhouseCoopers annual salary survey. For the year 2003 this average was $344,163.

The Human Resources Committee has also approved those executive officers of the Corporation who will be eligible to receive a bonus in 2004, together with enumerated and weighted objectives for each of these executive officers for 2003. The performance evaluation of the executive officers is primarily the responsibility of the President and CEO.

Going forward, the Human Resources Committee and, as appropriate, the Board of Directors, will address other issues relating to executive compensation, including the relative emphasis on the components of executive compensation, including compensation for the Corporation's President and CEO.

The foregoing report dated April 14, 2004, for the financial year ended December 31, 2003 has been presented by the Human Resources Committee.

Committee Members: William E. Stanley (Chairman), Catherine McLeod-Seltzer, Jonathan Goodman and Peter Steen.

For each committee of which the director is a chairman, the director is compensated a further $1,000 per annum. The Corporation has five regular committees, the Executive Committee, the Audit and Risk Management Committee, the Safety and Environmental Committee, the Human Resources Committee and the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee. The Board, from time to time, forms additional committees to address specific issues. Typically directors are paid $1,000 per meeting for meetings of Committees other than regular committees. No non regular committees were formed during 2003. During 2003 the Board of Directors held 11 meetings, in excess of the six meetings on which the annual retainer is based. The Company paid an additional $1,000 per meeting to directors attending additional board meetings. The Corporation also pays fees for any additional services rendered by Directors at the regular rates for such services. The Chairman is advised of any proposed additional services and if deemed material, board approval is obtained. During the past year, no director provided any material additional services to the Corporation.

During the financial year ended December 31, 2003, 40,000 options were granted at an exercise price of $1.90 to purchase common shares of the Corporation to each of Mr. Petrina, Mr. Stanley, Ms. McLeod-Seltzer, Mr. Pollard and Mr. Bell; 82,321 options were granted at an exercise price of $1.90 to each of Mr. Goodman, Mr. Steen and Mr. Nixon and 80,000 options were granted at an exercise price of $1.90 to Mr. Fennell

For the year 2003, Mr. Bell elected to receive a total of 19,355 options in lieu of Directors fees of $12,000. The attributed value of the stock options was $0.62 per option as determined using an option valuation model based on the Black Scholes model.

Executive Contracts

The Corporation has entered into employment agreements with the Named Executive Officers which provide in each case, other than the Chief Executive Officer, that if the Officer's employment is terminated by the Corporation, other than for cause, the Officer will be paid severance of two times the Officer's then salary and benefits.

Corporate Governance

Every company listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange is required to describe its approach to corporate governance, with specific reference to the TSX guidelines on an annual basis in the company's annual report or information circular.

The Board of Directors of the Corporation has approved the corporate governance policies for the Corporation, which are described with specific reference to the TSX guidelines below and in the Corporation's Annual Report for the year ended December 31, 2003.

The Corporation also takes care to ensure it is in compliance with the Corporate Governance and Audit Committee guidelines of the American Stock Exchange, especially as those guidelines relate to the Sarbanes Oxley legislation recently enacted in the United States.

Statement of Corporate Governance Responding to TSX Guidelines (in italics)

1. The board should explicitly assume responsibility for the stewardship of the corporation and specifically for a) the adoption of a strategic planning process; b) the identification of the principal risks of the corporation's business and ensuring the implementation of appropriate systems to manage these risks; c) succession planning, including appointing, training and monitoring senior management; d) a communications policy for the corporation; e) the integrity of the corporation's internal control and management information systems.

- 1) The Board, through its mandate, is responsible for the stewardship of the Corporation and final accountability for the governance and management of the Corporation's affairs. The Board works with and monitors the performance of management on an ongoing basis.
- 1a) The Board is actively involved in discussing, establishing and approving the Corporation's strategic goals and the implementation of the required courses of action. Typically, the Board refers significant strategic matters to the appropriate committee to ensure that any proposed initiative is consistent with the Corporation's stated goals.
- 1b) The Audit and Risk Management Committee of the Board is responsible for reviewing and implementing internal control systems, thereby assisting the Board in identifying and monitoring the risks to the business of the Corporation.
- 1c) The Board takes responsibility for appointing and monitoring senior management through both the Corporate Governance and Human Resources Committees. The Board encourages management's participation in appropriate professional and personal development activities and supports management's commitment to the training and development of all employees.
- 1d) The Corporation endeavours to keep its shareholders informed with a comprehensive annual report and interim quarterly statements. The Corporation also maintains a website which provides summary information on the Corporation as well as press releases and regulatory filings. The Corporation has a dedicated investor relations person to deal with shareholder and analyst enquiries, or when appropriate, refer such enquiries to a member of senior management.
- 1e) The Board, through its Audit and Risk Management Committee, together with the management of the Corporation, is responsible for the design and implementation of the Corporation's internal control and management information systems. The Audit and Risk Management Committee, on behalf of the Board, also monitors the integrity of the internal controls and management information systems.

2. The Board should be constituted with a majority of individuals who qualify as unrelated directors, and the Board should disclose if the Corporation has a significant shareholder and how the Board reflects the interests of the shareholders other than the significant shareholder.

- 2) The Board is composed of ten directors; eight are unrelated and independent of management in accordance with the definitions of unrelated as provided by the Toronto Stock Exchange.

3. The Board should disclose whether the Board has a majority of unrelated directors with an analysis of how this conclusion was reached.

- 3) Mr. Anthony Walsh, the President and Chief Executive Officer of the Company, and Mr. David Fennell, the Executive Vice-Chairman of the Corporation, are members of the Board. All other directors of the Corporation are considered by the board to be independent of management and free of any interest or other business relationships that may interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the company.

4. The Board should appoint a committee of directors composed exclusively of outside (i.e. non-management) directors, a majority of whom are unrelated with the responsibility for proposing to the full Board new nominees to the Board and for assessing directors on an ongoing basis.

- 4) The full Board of the Corporation is responsible for determining the competencies, skills and personal qualities it should seek in a new Board member, in light of the opportunities and risks facing the Corporation. Within this framework, the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee, composed of three unrelated directors, is responsible for recommending prospective Board members to fill vacancies on the Board. The Corporate Governance Committee, according to its mandate has designed and implemented a formal process for evaluating and assessing individual director performance on a regular basis.

5. The Board should implement a process for assessing the effectiveness of the Board as a whole, the committees of the Board and the contribution of individual directors.

- 5) The Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee according to its written mandate, is responsible for assessing the performance and effectiveness of the Board as a whole and of committees of the Board. During the year ended December 31, 2003, the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee developed and implemented a formal process to evaluate the performance and effectiveness of the board on an annual basis. The Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee has also drafted a formal process for evaluating the performance and effectiveness for Committees of the Board, as well as individual Board members. These reviews will be conducted on a regular basis.

6. The Board should provide an orientation and education program for new directors.

- 6) New directors are provided with substantial background materials upon joining the Board. This material includes, among other things, information about the Corporation such as past annual and quarterly reports and regulatory filings such as the Annual Information Form and proxy circulars. In addition, new directors have full briefing sessions from senior management on a frequent basis.

7. The Board should examine its size with a view to facilitate more effective decision-making.

- 7) The Board of Directors examines its size as well as its composition regularly to ensure that it facilitates effective decision making. This is done as an integral part of the annual evaluation of the Board's performance and effectiveness. During the year ended December 2003, acting on the recommendation of the Board, the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee identified and successfully recruited a new Board member who is qualified as a financial expert as defined by the American Stock Exchange and the recently enacted Sarbanes Oxley legislation in the United States. The Board believes that the current number of Directors, the experience they bring to the Board and the current composition of the Board, are appropriate for the Board to perform its duties and responsibilities effectively.

8. The Board should review the adequacy and form of the compensation of directors to ensure the responsibilities and risks involved in being an effective director are reflected.

- 8) The Human Resources Committee reviews annually the adequacy and form of compensation for Directors. The committee examines the compensation with reference to industry standards for companies of a similar size and nature. In its current review, the Committee agreed that in most respects, Board compensation was adequate. In the case of Committee Chairs, fees were adjusted upwards to be bought in line with those paid by other companies of a similar size and nature.

9. Board Committees should generally be composed of outside (i.e. non-management) directors, a majority of whom are unrelated.

- 9) There are five standing committees of the Board: the Executive Committee, the Human Resources Committee, the Audit and Risk Management Committee, the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee and the Safety and Environmental Committee. All of the committees are made up of outside and unrelated directors with the exception of the Executive Committee which consists of two outside and unrelated directors and two management directors.

10. The Board should appoint a Committee responsible for developing the Corporation's approach to governance issues and these guidelines.

- 10) The Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee has responsibility for developing and monitoring the Corporation's approach to corporate governance issues and for responding to the TSX's best practices guidelines. The responsibilities of the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee are set out in a written mandate which is posted on the Corporation's website.

11. The Board should: a) develop position descriptions for the Board and for the CEO, involving the definition of the limits to management's responsibilities, b) develop the corporate objectives which the CEO is responsible for meeting.

- 11) The Board of Directors operates according to its own corporate mandate. The Board is assessed annually in light of this mandate. The Board, through its Human Resources Committee, defines the limit to management's responsibilities and establishes goals for members of senior management. Individual performance of senior management is conducted by the committee within the framework of these goals, and annual salary and bonus considerations are recommended based on these reviews. The Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation participates in the review process of other senior managers.

12. The Board should have in place appropriate structures and procedures to ensure that the Board can function independently of management.

- 12) The Board operates independently of management. The Corporation's policy is that a majority of members of the Board be unrelated according to the definition established by the Toronto Stock Exchange. Furthermore, the Corporation's policy is to maintain a non-executive Chairman of the Board to ensure that the Board of Directors can function independently of management. The current Chairman, Anthony J. Petrina, is an outside and unrelated director. Also, the Board is provided with an opportunity to meet in camera at every Board meeting.

- 13) The Audit and Risk Management Committee consists of four outside and unrelated directors. The Audit and Risk Management Committee along with management and the external auditors is responsible for the financial reporting of the Corporation. The Audit and Risk Management Committee implements and reviews internal systems thereby assisting the Board in identifying and monitoring the risks to the business of the Corporation. Further, the Audit and Risk Management Committee is charged with the initial responsibility of determining that the financial and budget goals of the Corporation are met by management and, where these goals have not been met by management, reporting back to the Board on the progress and the level of achievement of management versus the pre-determined budget levels.

14. The Board should implement a system which enables individual director to engage outside advisers at the expense of the corporation in appropriate circumstances.

- 14) The mandates of the Board and of its committees have incorporated a formal policy for permitting directors to retain outside advisors at the Company's expense. Any of these services must be approved by the Board.
