The Trust's By-Laws require that a proponent of any proposal provide in its notice to the Trust all other information as of the date of such notice regarding each such proposal that would have been required to be included in a proxy statement filed pursuant to the proxy rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission had each such matter been proposed by the Trustees of the Trust. ATTACHMENT A Certain information relating to conversion to interval-fund status.

Interval-fund status is intended to provide shareholders liquidity while preserving to shareholders some of the benefits available through investment in a closed-end investment company. For example, because a closed-end fund is not required to meet daily redemption requests from shareholders, it is often able to make less liquid investments than may an open-end fund. If a fund adopts interval-fund status, it should be able to continue to make such investments to the extent consistent with anticipated shareholder tenders.

Of course, adoption of interval-fund status involves some risk to the Fund and to shareholders. For example, in order to meet tenders, the Fund might be required to sell portfolio investments it might otherwise have held for a longer period of time. Those sales might result in capital gains to the Fund. In addition, as the Fund repurchases its shares in response to tenders, the Fund's asset base will be reduced, likely resulting in a higher expense ratio. The Fund may also at some point be required to delist its shares from the New York Stock Exchange. The need for periodic liquidity may also cause the Fund to invest differently from the way it currently invests.

Harvard believes that conversion to interval-fund status has the potential to reduce the Fund's chronic discount to net asset value.

The vote required for approval of this proposal will depend on whether the Fund is at the time organized as a Maryland corporation or as a Delaware business trust. If the Fund is at the time organized as a Delaware business trust, approval of this proposal will require the affirmative vote of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Fund, as defined in the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended. If the Fund is at the time organized as a Maryland corporation, Harvard believes that approval of this proposal will require the affirmative vote of a majority of the Fund's shares present and voting on this proposal at the meeting.

Edgar Filing: TEMPLETON DRAGON FUND INC - Form SC 13D/A

Certain information relating to termination of the Fund's investment management agreement

The Fund's shares have long traded at a discount to net asset value. Harvard believes that the persistence of the discount is largely the fault of Templeton Asset Management Ltd., the Fund's investment adviser ("Templeton"). Because Templeton has not taken, or caused the Fund to take, aggressive steps to eliminate the discount, Harvard believes that the investment management agreement between the Fund and Templeton should be terminated.

Termination of the investment management agreement will require the approval of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Fund, as defined in the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended.
