ASE's Subsidiary USI Completes Capital Increase by Way of Domestic Private Placements in the PRC Capital Market

Taipei, Taiwan, R.O.C., November 20, 2014 – Advanced Semiconductor Engineering, Inc. (TAIEX: 2311, NYSE: ASX) (“ASE”, or the “Company”) announced today that its subsidiary Universal Scientific Industrial (Shanghai) Co., Ltd. (“USI”)(SSE: 601231), which is responsible for electronics design and design manufacture service (“DMS”), completed its capital increase by way of domestic private placements through a bidding process on November 20, 2014, raising a total of RMB2.06 billion (approximately NTD10.43 billion). The proceeds from this offering will be used to fund the production of wireless modules and wearable miniature modules. USI's offering received overwhelming response from investors in the PRC capital markets. The issue price per share was RMB27.06 (1.5 times the minimum issue price of RMB17.86). After the offering, ASE's holdings in USI decreased by 6.18% from 88.30% to 82.12%.

USI was listed on the main board of the Shanghai Stock Exchange on February 20, 2012. On the day of listing, USI's issue price per share was RMB7.60, closing price was RMB11.63, and had a total market capitalization of RMB11.77 billion (approximately NTD59.48 billion). Since its listing on the Shanghai Stock Exchange in 2012, USI's performance has continuously improved, which lead to an increase in its market capitalization to RMB32.57 billion (approx. NTD164.66 billion) as of November 20, 2014. Currently, USI ranks 115thplace among 2,582 A-share companies in terms of market capitalization.
