CVRD announces changes in its Executive Board

Rio de Janeiro, September 13, 2004 Companhia Vale do Rio Doce (CVRD) announces that Antônio Miguel Marques is leaving today his position at CVRD as Executive Director for Non-Ferrous Minerals and Energy. The executive, who worked for CVRD for the last three years, decided to develop private projects. CVRD's CEO, Roger Agnelli, expresses gratitude for his efforts dedicated to the Company and wishes success to Antônio Miguel in his new phase of life.

As stated on CVRD's By Laws, the CEO is appointing to the Board of Directors the name of the current director of CVRD Mineral Exploration and Project Development Department, José Auto Lancaster Oliveira, to take the aforementioned position.

José Lancaster, 58, joined CVRD to conduct the expansion of the mineral exploration area efforts in Brazil and abroad. He graduated from the Federal University of Minas Gerais, Brazil, with a degree in Geology and holds a PhD in Economic Geology by Mackay School of Mines, from the University of Nevada, Reno (USA).

With 26 years of experience managing local and international mineral projects, José Lancaster was responsible for important projects for more than 10 years, including Mineração Serra do Sossego, in which he was the CEO. Sossego started as a joint venture between CVRD (50%) and Phelps Dodge (50%), incorporated to perform the feasibility studies and development of the Sossego project, control of which was acquired by CVRD in 2001. José Lancaster was also the Exploration Manager of the Brazilian subsidiary of British Petroleum.

According to Roger Agnelli: José Lancaster has all the necessary skills to take the position, as he currently dedicates a significant portion of his activities to the non ferrous projects. I'm confident that this change will maintain CVRD in the right path for the achievement of short and long term goals of its non ferrous businesses.

CVRD also informs that the Energy area will start reporting to José Carlos Matrins, Executive Director for Business Development and Participations.
