Our strong performance is not only the result of the general economic recovery but also reflects our continuing strong cost discipline and confirms our strategic direction. We are now concentrated on and gaining share in strongly growing market segments with lasting customer relationships, said Peter Bauer, CEO of Infineon Technologies AG.

Growth during the second quarter exceeded our original expectations in the Automotive, Industrial & Multimarket, and Chip Card & Security segments. At the same time, we did not see the typical weak seasonal pattern in the Wireless Solutions segment. We believe that our performance in the current environment is a clear signal of the direction we anticipate taking for the rest of this fiscal year. We are therefore again raising our guidance for the full 2010 fiscal year and are now looking for full year revenue to grow by a high 30 % percentage, with combined Segment Result margin of more than ten percent. Previously, the company expected revenue growth in excess of 20 percent with high single-digit combined Segment Result margin.

Revenues in the second quarter increased by ten percent sequentially, due to strong demand in all of the company's operating segments, with strongest growth in the company's Automotive (ATV) and Industrial & Multimarket (IMM) segments. The Wireless Solutions (WLS) business was largely stable and did not show the expected seasonal weakness, partly supported by the strength of the U.S. dollar against the Euro. In addition, the strong revenue increase was again driven by the continuing economic recovery leading to further improved demand in the supply chain, as well as at the end customers.

Second quarter combined Segment Result was Euro 110 million, a significant increase of 25 percent compared to Euro 88 million in the first quarter. The positive impact of the stronger U.S. dollar on revenues did not have positive impact on Segment Result as U.S. dollar-denominated-costs also increased, and due to hedging. Combined Segment Result margin in the second quarter reached 10.6 percent, up from 9.4 percent in the prior quarter. The increase in combined Segment Result reflected higher sales levels and fully loaded production facilities compared to the prior quarter.

For the second quarter, income from continuing operations was Euro 81 million. This compares to a loss from continuing operations of Euro 46 million in the first quarter, which included a non-recurring operating charge of Euro 81 million in connection with the deconsolidation of ALTIS, the company's joint venture with IBM in France. Infineon reported loss from discontinued operations, net of income taxes, of Euro 2 million for the second quarter.

Net income was Euro 79 million in the second quarter. This represented an increase of 20 percent compared to net income of Euro 66 million in the first quarter, which included an after-tax gain of Euro 106 million from the sale of the Wireline Communications business to Lantiq, which more than offset the non-recurring operating charge of Euro 81 million in connection with the deconsolidation of ALTIS. Basic and diluted earnings per share were Euro 0.07 for the second quarter compared to basic and diluted earnings per share of Euro 0.06 for the first quarter.

Free cash flow² from continuing operations for the second quarter was Euro 141 million. This compares to free cash flow from continuing operations of Euro 14 million for the first quarter, which included a reduction in cash of Euro 88 million resulting from the deconsolidation of ALTIS. Capital expenditures, including capitalized intangible assets, were Euro 63 million in the second quarter, up from Euro 48 million in the prior quarter, reflecting both increased investment in the company's production facilities and capitalization of intangible assets. Depreciation and amortization was Euro 97 million, compared to Euro 106 million in the prior quarter.

At the end of the second quarter, Infineon's gross cash position was Euro 1,667 million. The slight decrease compared to Euro 1,678 million at the end of the first quarter, despite strong free cash flow from continuing operations, was driven mainly by voluntary repurchases of a portion of the company's subordinated convertible notes due in June 2010, totaling Euro 139 million at book value. Overall, Infineon's net cash position increased to Euro 995 million as of March 31, 2010, compared to Euro 874 million as of December 31, 2009.

Outlook for the third quarter of the 2010 fiscal year

Sequential revenue growth and further increase in Segment Result margin

Assuming a U.S. dollar/Euro exchange rate of 1.40, Infineon expects revenues for the third quarter of the 2010 fiscal year to increase by a high single-digit percentage sequentially. Third quarter combined Segment Result margin is anticipated to increase by between two and four percentage points compared to the second quarter.

The sequential increase in revenues is anticipated to be driven by the WLS and IMM segments, while revenues in the ATV and Chip Card & Security (CCS) segments are likely to stay at the same level as in the second quarter.

² For definitions and the calculation of free cash flow and of gross and net cash position, please see page 10.

Updated outlook for the 2010 fiscal yearRevenue expected to grow by a high 30 % percentage, with Segment Result margin of more than ten percent

Given the results of the first half of the 2010 fiscal year and current visibility, Infineon is again raising its guidance for the 2010 fiscal year as a whole.

The company now expects full year revenues to grow by a high 30 % percentage compared with the 2009 fiscal year, at an assumed U.S. dollar/Euro exchange rate of 1.40 for the second half of the 2010 fiscal year. The company anticipates that the year-over-year increase will be generated by increases in revenues in all of the company's operating segments, mostly in the ATV, IMM, and WLS segments, with lower revenue growth anticipated in the CCS segment. Revenues in Other Operating Segments, mainly from product supply agreements with Lantiq, are still anticipated to total a low triple-digit million Euro amount.

Infineon expects combined Segment Result in the 2010 fiscal year to improve considerably from the 2009 fiscal year, with combined Segment Result margin now anticipated to be more than ten percent.

In light of the dynamic revenue growth, fully loaded production facilities and planned development milestones, Infineon anticipates that CapEx, including capitalized intangible assets, will now exceed Euro 300 million for the 2010 fiscal year, compared to the previous 2010 guidance of up to Euro 250 million and reported CapEx, including capitalized intangible assets, of Euro 154 million in the 2009 fiscal year. As previously announced, depreciation and amortization is expected to decrease to approximately Euro 400 million in the 2010 fiscal year compared to Euro 513 million in the 2009 fiscal year.

In the second quarter, revenues in the ATV segment increased 13 percent compared to the first quarter, driven by continued high demand in all regions and some additional inventory replenishment in the supply chain. ATV Segment Result increased significantly on a sequential basis, driven by the growth in revenues and partially offset by higher R&D spending in connection with 65-nanometer microcontrollers and integrated power-logic-products.

Revenues in the IMM segment increased 15 percent sequentially, reflecting strong end customer demand for consumer, computing, and industrial products, mostly in Asia. IMM Segment Result increased strongly compared to the previous quarter, driven by the increase in sales volumes and a slight improvement in the segment's product mix. Revenues in the CCS segment increased 19 percent compared to the prior quarter, mainly driven by payment and to lesser extent by mobile communications. CCS Segment Result also increased sequentially.

In the second quarter, revenues in the WLS segment were much better than expected, counter to the normal seasonal pattern. They remained almost flat quarter-over-quarter, mainly driven by ongoing strong demand from major mobile phone customers, related ramp-ups of new mobile phone platforms, and the strength of the U.S. dollar against the Euro. WLS Segment Result decreased compared to the prior quarter, reflecting the impact of the slight revenue decrease, a shift in product mix, and installment costs for the ramp-ups. The stronger U.S. dollar, which had a positive impact on revenues, had only a minor effect on Segment Result as dollar-denominated costs also increased, as well as due to hedging.

Consolidated Statements of Cash FlowsGross and Net Cash/(Debt) Position

Infineon defines gross cash position as cash and cash equivalents and available-for-sale financial assets, and net cash/(debt) position as gross cash position less short-term debt and current maturities of long-term debt, and long-term debt. Since Infineon holds a portion of its available monetary resources in the form of readily available-for-sale financial assets, which for IFRS purposes are not considered to be cash, it reports its gross and net cash/(debt) positions to provide investors with an understanding of the Company's overall liquidity. The gross and net cash/(debt) position is determined as follows from the condensed consolidated balance sheets, without adjustment to the IFRS amounts presented:

* Includes only amounts from continuing operations.

in Euro million	Mar 31, 09	Dec 31, 09	Mar 31, 10
Cash and cash equivalents	532	1,589	1,228
Available-for-sale financial assets	133	89	439
Gross Cash Position	665	1,678	1,667
Less: Short-term debt and current maturities of long-term debt	170	496	378
Long-term debt	816	308	294
Net Cash/(Debt) Position	(321)	874	995

Free Cash Flow*

Infineon defines free cash flow as net cash from operating and investing activities excluding purchases or sales of available-for-sale financial assets. Since Infineon holds a portion of its available monetary resources in the form of available-for-sale financial assets, and operates in a capital intensive industry, it reports free cash flow to provide investors with a measure that can be used to evaluate changes in liquidity after taking capital expenditures into account. Free cash flow is not intended to represent the residual cash flow available for discretionary expenditures, since debt service requirements or other non-discretionary expenditures are not deducted. The free cash flow is determined as follows from the consolidated cash flow statements:

* Includes only amounts from continuing operations.
