Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

Credit Agreement

On May 9, 2005, Thermo Electron Corporation (the "Company") entered into a credit agreement relating to a 364-day senior unsecured revolving credit facility (the "Credit Agreement") in the principal amount of $570 million, among the Company, the several banks and other financial institutions or entities from time to time parties thereto, JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("JPMCB"), as administrative agent, Barclays Bank PLC, as syndication agent, and ABN AMRO Bank, N.V., as documentation agent, to fund a portion of the purchase price for the Company's acquisition of the Kendro Laboratory Products division of SPX Corporation ("SPX") described in Item 2.01 below. Borrowings under the Credit Agreement mature on May 8, 2006. Interest on borrowings under the Credit Agreement is calculated, at the Company's option, at either LIBOR, including statutory reserves, plus 0.40% or the prime lending rate of JPMCB.

In connection with the Credit Agreement, the Company agreed to pay a facility fee, payable quarterly in arrears, at a rate of 0.10% per annum of the aggregate commitments under the revolving credit facility, whether used or unused.

Commitments under the Credit Agreement will be reduced and borrowings are required to be repaid with the net proceeds of, among other things, sales of assets by the Company and any incurrence of indebtedness by the Company, other than advances under the Company's existing $250 million five-year revolving credit agreement that expires in December 2009, subject, in each case, to other limited exceptions. The obligations of the Company under the Credit Agreement may be accelerated upon the occurrence of an event of default under the Credit Agreement, which includes customary events of default including, without limitation, payment defaults, defaults in the performance of affirmative and negative covenants, the inaccuracy of representations or warranties, bankruptcy and insolvency related defaults, defaults relating to such matters as ERISA, uninsured judgments and the failure to pay certain indebtedness, and a change of control default.

In addition, the Credit Agreement contains affirmative, negative and financial covenants customary for financings of this type. The negative covenants include restrictions on standby and performance letters of credit, indebtedness of subsidiaries, liens, fundamental changes, dispositions of property and investments. The financial covenants include interest coverage and debt-to-capital ratios.

The forgoing description of the Credit Agreement does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Credit Agreement, which is filed with this report as Exhibit 99.1 and is incorporated herein by reference.

Amendment to Purchase Agreement

In connection with the completion of the acquisition of the Kendro Laboratory Products division of SPX described in Item 2.01 below, SPX and the Company entered into an amendment, dated as of May 6, 2005 (the "Amendment"), to the Purchase Agreement among the Company, the indirect, wholly owned subsidiaries of the Company named therein, SPX, and the direct and indirect, wholly owned subsidiaries of SPX named therein, dated January 19, 2005 (the "Purchase Agreement"). The Amendment provided for the addition of Thermo subsidiaries as parties to the Purchase Agreement as purchasers, the revision of certain procedures and deliverables for the closing of the transaction, and the addition and/or revision of certain exhibits and schedules to the Purchase Agreement, including a revised purchase price allocation reflecting the amendments to the closing procedures.

The forgoing description of the Amendment does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Amendment, which is filed with this report as Exhibit 99.2 and is incorporated herein by reference.

On May 9, 2005, the Company acquired the stock of certain businesses and assets that comprise the Kendro Laboratory Products division ("Kendro") of SPX Corporation ("SPX") pursuant to the Purchase Agreement for $833.5 million in cash, subject to a post-closing adjustment. The Company funded the purchase price for the acquisition with cash on hand and $570 million in proceeds under the 364-day senior unsecured revolving credit facility described in Item 1.01 above.

Kendro designs, manufactures, markets and services a wide range of laboratory equipment for sample preparation, processing and storage, used primarily in life sciences and drug discovery laboratories as well as clinical laboratories. Kendro will become part of the Company's Life and Laboratory Services business segment.

The forgoing description of the transaction contemplated by the Purchase Agreement does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Purchase Agreement, which was filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on January 21, 2005 as Exhibit 99.1 to the Company's Current Report on Form 8-K and is incorporated herein by reference.
